Walsh,R.H. Egdahl,2012-12-06 With this first monograph Springer Verlag launches an unusual publishing venture The purpose of the Springer Series on Industry and Health Care is to explore in depth the current and potential future role of industry both management and labor in all private sector enterprises as a financer of health care benefits as a provider of health care services and as an extremely influential consumer of health care

The assumption behind the series is that private industry has the capability as an alternative to increased government intervention to effect major change in the health care delivery system and is beginning to show evidence of exercising that influence. The subject matter covered by the series crosses boundaries between disciplines and specialties: occupational medicine, medical care, public health, economics, business administration, law, public policy, medical sociology, and arises in disparate arenas: labor management relations, corporate negotiations with insurance carriers, physician-patient interactions, public policy and politics. The Springer Series will draw much of its material from interdisciplinary working conferences; will analyze and synthesize the discussions; add timely background material; and be published within no more than six months of the conferences on which they build. The series will consist of four monographs a year and two volumes of background papers.

A History of Science in the Netherlands Klaas van Berkel, Albert van Helden, L.C. Palm, 2023-07-03 In the 400 years of its modern history the Netherlands has produced a distinguished array of eminent mathematicians, scientists, and medical researchers including many Nobel prize winners and other internationally recognised figures from Stevin, Snell, and Huygens in the 17th century to Lorentz, Kammerlingh Onnes, Buys Ballot, De Vries, de Sitter, and Oort in the 19th and 20th centuries. Yet it has often been noted that the history of science in the Netherlands is underrepresented in the international literature. The handbook A History of Science in The Netherlands aims to correct this situation by providing a chronological and thematic survey of the field from the 16th century to the present, essays on selected aspects of science in the Netherlands, and reference biographies of about 65 important Dutch scientists. Written by more than 10 experts from Europe and North America, the handbook is the standard English language reference work for the field.

Greening Health Care Kathy Gerwig, 2015 Greening Health Care examines the intersections of health care and environmental health, both in terms of traditional failures and the revolution underway to fix them. Authored by one of the pioneers in health care's green movement, it presents practical solutions for health care organizations and clinicians to improve their environments and the health of their communities. Topics include making food services sustainable, managing hospital waste, and relevant impacts, mitigating measures related to climate change.

Community/Public Health Nursing - E-Book Mary A. Nies, Melanie McEwen, 2013-12-27 Covering the nurse's role in promoting community health, Community Public Health Nursing, 5th Edition, is known for its upstream, preventive focus and social justice approach.
