Medical Care In Developing Countries:

The Demand for Medical Care in Developing Countries Avi Dor, J. van der Gaag, 1988 Health and Health Care in Developing Countries Peter Conrad, Eugene B. Gallagher, 2011 The volume covers a range of areas central Africa Nigeria Singapore Taiwan Indonesia Nepal China United Arab Emirates Oman and Mexico and a broad scope of topics from emergency care the AIDS epidemic and women's health care to public health programs and national health care policies Contributors address the central question of whether health systems in developing areas should emphasize the role of clinical medicine and individual physicians or community and preventive medical resources The major health problems faced by these societies inadequate sanitation infectious disease high infant child mortality and a lack of family planning indicate the greater need for health educators and public health workers despite many poor nations desire for Western doctors Other topics that are examined include the process of seeking medical aid the relationship between traditional and modern medicines medical education hospital care and communication between doctors and patients in developing countries and the relevance and application of sociology in Third World settings This volume seeks to draw attention to the significance of medical sociology for understanding Third World health problems and to show how examining developing societies may necessitate reframing or modifying some Western sociological notions Medical Care in developing countries, 1977

Health Care Systems in Developing Countries in Asia Christian Aspalter, Kenny Teguh Pribadi, Robin Gauld, 2017-07-14 For the last two decades major Asian economies have successfully kept their economic growth momentum going Now as these economies are entering a new phase of economic growth more attention is being paid to their respective states of social development especially the provision and the expansion of social security and in particular health care Academic study of the development of health care in developing countries has been for the most part neglected by the literature and in depth country case studies that are directly comparable on a one to one basis have not yet been conducted in a systematic manner This book volume also proposes a new stance on health policy and the health care policy paradigm one that focuses on saving lives from premature death as well as illness accidents misery and poverty based on the normative theory of developmental social policy DSP This groundbreaking book will therefore serve as a valuable reference volume for health policy social policy and public policy experts social development experts health and development economists health sociologists social workers government administrators as well as other medical and health professionals and academics Managing the Quality of Health Care in Developing Countries Willy De Geyndt, 1995 World Bank Technical Paper No 258 Quality of health care is a complex concept interwoven with value judgments about what constitutes good quality This lack of linearity partly explains the large number of definitions of the concept of quality an Costing of Health Care Services in Developing Countries Steffen Fleßa, 2009 The process of health care reforms must be based on demographic epidemiological and economic evidence if it is to achieve the fundamental target of affordable sustainable and efficient health care services for the entire population Consequently costing of health care services has become a frequently used element of health care reforms This book presents the essentials of costing in a health economic framework and gives examples from successful costing studies done by the author in Tanzania Vietnam and Burkina Faso Based on these examples it demonstrates the importance of costing information for the planning and decision making process in the field of budgeting resource allocation setting an insurance premium and strategic planning The main message of this book is that costing of health care services is a valuable instrument in the fight for better health for all Medical Care in Developing Countries Maurice Henry King,1968

Financing Health Services in Developing Countries John S. Akin,Nancy Birdsall,David M. De Ferranti,1987-01-01 This report discusses several different approaches that support reforming health care services in developing countries For some time now health care services have been supported by government funds As demands for improving health care services continue to increase additional demands will be placed on governments to respond This however will not be easy Slow economic growth and record budget deficits in the 1980 s have forced reductions in public spending Alternative approaches to finance health care services are needed Such possible changes could involve decentralization of federal government involvement the promotion of nongovernment involvement the imposition of user fees and establishing health insurance Finally the role of the Bank in pursuing new financing strategies is discussed Basic Health Care in Developing Countries International Epidemiological Association,1978 Medical Care in Developing Countries Maurice King,1966

Establishing Private Health Care Facilities in Developing Countries Seung-Hee Nah,Egbe Osifo-Dawodu,2007 This book is a practical guide for medical professionals with little or no business experience who are interested in establishing health care facilities in developing countries It is an introduction to the kinds of basic research and planning required to identify viable solutions and reduce the risk of failure Long-term Care in Developing Countries World Health Organization,WHO Collaborating Centre for Health and Long-Term Care Policy and Research,2003 About long term care for chronically ill and disabled persons and the elderly The underlying dynamics of health care systems in developing countries: Health policy, planning and the Impact of Social Economic Status (SES) on Health Disparities Mukasa Aziz Hawards,2014-05-01 The impact of health policy and planning are tremendous remedies through which the health care systems derive their primary potentials in the health promotion ventures and interventions The programs designed in the health arena are tentatively equivocal and submissive to the implications influenced by the policy development criteria and much more open to the planning process Every day healthcare organizations are faced with crucial decisions about improving their systems of care and a lack of critical information to guide them The research they need should be designed to help them provide better care to the patients in their organization effectively and efficiently Where does the Medicaid and the medical care strategies as pursued in the United States of America have their remedies through policy structure and together with the political culture associated to the system or perhaps how possible is it that japan has the highest life expectancy co efficient The book is more of a fact file as results were generated by the health care research from suitable sectors and comparisons derived from the well off health care states mainly from the OECD fraternity as these bare differences due to policy even when their economic bases differ by small percentages This work should be helpful in directing and providing us with traceable landmarks to follow while seeking to avert the challenges that weaponize the communicable disease prevalence in the society for both the developed and the low developed states Medical Care in Developing
