Embodying American Slavery in Contemporary Culture Lisa Woolfork,2010-10-01 This study explores contemporary novels films performances and reenactments that depict American slavery and its traumatic effects by invoking a time travel paradigm to produce a representational strategy of bodily epistemology Disrupting the prevailing view of traumatic knowledge that claims that traumatic events are irretrievable and accessible only through oblique reference these novels and films circumvent the notion of indirect reference by depicting a replaying of the past forcing present day protagonists to witness and participate in traumatic histories that for them are neither dead nor past Lisa Woolfork cogently analyzes how these works deploy a representational strategy that challenges the divide between past and present imparting to their recreations of American slavery a physical and emotional energy to counter America s apathetic or amnesiac attitude about the trauma of the slave past

Lives, Letters, and Quilts Vanessa Kraemer Sohan, 2019-12-10 How writers activists and artists without power resist dominant social cultural and political structures through the deployment of unconventional means and materials In Lives Letters and Quilts Women and Everyday Rhetorics of Resistance Vanessa Kraemer Sohan applies a translingual and transmodal framework informed by feminist rhetorical practice to three distinct case studies that demonstrate women using unique and effective rhetorical strategies in political religious and artistic contexts These case studies highlight a diverse set of actors uniquely situated by their race gender class or religion but who are nevertheless connected by their capacity to envision and recontextualize the seemingly ordinary means and materials available to them in order to effectively persuade others The Great Depression provides the backdrop for the first case study a movement whereby thousands of elderly citizens proselytized and fundraised for a monthly pension plan dreamt up by a California doctor in the hopes of lifting themselves out of poverty Sohan investigates how the Townsend Plan s elderly supporters the Townsendites worked within and across language genre mode and media to enable them for the first time to be recognized by others and themselves as a viable political constituency Next Sohan recounts the story of Quaker minister Eliza P Kirkbride Gurney who met President Abraham Lincoln in 1862 Their subsequent epistolary exchanges concerning conscientious objectors made such an impression on him that one of her letters was rumored to be in his pocket the night of his assassination Their exchanges and Gurney s own accounts of her transnational ministry in her memoir provide useful examples of how throughout history women rhetors have adopted and transformed typically underappreciated forms of rhetoric such as the epideictic for their particular purposes The final example focuses on the Gee s Bend quiltmakers a group of African American women living in rural Alabama who repurpose discarded work clothes and other cast off fabrics into the extraordinary quilts for which they are known By drawing on the means and materials at hand to create celebrated works of art in conditions of extreme poverty these women show how marginalized artisans can operate both within and outside the bounds of established aesthetic traditions and communicate the particulars of their experience across cultural and economic divides

Texts and Textiles Diana Mary Eva Thomas,2017-03-07 This study shows how fiction that makes use of textiles as an essential element utilizes synaesthetic writing and synaesthetic metaphor to create an affective link to and response in the reader These links and responses are examined using affect theory from Silvan Tomkins and Brian Massumi and work on synaesthesia by Richard Cytowic Lawrence Marks and V S Ramachandran among others Synaesthetic writing including synaesthetic metaphors has been explored in poetry since the 1920s and more recently in fiction but these studies have been general in nature By narrowing the field of investigation to those novels that specifically employ three types of hand crafted textiles quilt making knitting and embroidery the book isolates how these textiles are used in fiction The combination of synaesthesia memory metaphor and particularly synaesthetic metaphor in fiction with textiles in the text of the case studies selected shows how these are used to create affect in readers enhancing their engagement in the story The work is framed within the context of the history of textile production and the use of textiles in fiction internationally but concentrates on Australian authors who have used textiles in their writing The decision to focus on Australian authors was taken in light of the quality and depth of the writing of textile

The history of men s needlework has long been considered a taboo subject This is the first book ever published to document and critically interrogate a range of needlework made by men It reveals that since medieval times men have threaded their own needles stitched and knitted woven lace handmade clothes as well as other kinds of textiles and generally delighted in the pleasures and possibilities offered by all sorts of needlework Only since the dawn of the modern age in the eighteenth and the nineteenth centuries did needlework become closely aligned with new ideologies of the feminine Since then men s needlework has been read not just as feminising but as queer In this groundbreaking study Joseph McBrinn argues that needlework by male artists as well as anonymous tailors sailors soldiers convalescents paupers prisoners hobbyists and a multitude of other men and boys deserves to be looked at again Drawing on a wealth of examples of men s needlework as well as visual representations of the male needleworker in museum collections from artist s papers and archives in forgotten magazines and specialist publications popular novels and children s literature and even in the history of photography film and television he surveys and analyses many of the instances in which needlemen have contested resisted and subverted the constrictive ideals of modern masculinity This audacious original carefully researched and often amusing study demonstrates the significance of needlework by men in understanding their feelings agency identity and history Women and
