Race Daze Australia In Identity Crisis:

Race Daze Jon Stratton, 1998 Stratton argues that the policy of multiculturalism operates to entrench a so called Anglo Celtic mainstream culture and relegates ethnic cultures to second class status Young People and Everyday

Multiculturalism Anita Harris, 2013 Unlike as with previous generations diversity and multiculturalism are engrained in the lives of today's urban youth Within their culturally diverse urban environments young people from different backgrounds now routinely encounter one another in their everyday lives and negotiate and contest ways of living together and sharing civic space What are their strategies for producing disrupting and living well with difference how do they create inclusive forms of belonging and what are the conditions that militate against social cohesion amongst youth This unique ethnography from education and cultural studies expert Anita Harris explores the ways young people manage conditions of cultural diversity in multicultural cities and suburbs focusing particularly on how young people in the multicultural cities of Australia experience define and produce mix conflict community and citizenship This book illuminates rich local approaches to living with difference from the perspective of a generation uniquely positioned to address this global challenge The European

Diaspora in Australia Bruno Mascitelli, Sonia Mycak, Gerardo Papalia, 2016-05-11 This volume provides a contemporary reflection on the journey of many former European communities that migrated to Australia in the post war period and their stories of settlement assimilation and integration The chapters provide perspectives from a range of disciplines and approaches across different communities There are common themes that emerge as well as unique issues which define these communities Mediating Multiculturalism Daniella Trimboli, 2020-08-04 Using digital storytelling a new media genre that began in California in the late 1990s and that proliferated across the West in the 2000s as a site of analysis this book asks What is done in the name of the everyday Like everyday multiculturalism digital storytelling is promoted as an accessible enabling and ordinary phenomenon that represents cultural experience more accurately than official sites As such the genre frequently houses stories of migration community and ethnic and racial differences In turn digital story collections often act as digital monuments or repositories of multiculturalism giving a digital life to narratives of migration cultural difference and national belonging This is evidenced in one of the world's largest public collections of digital stories found in the Australian Centre for the Moving Image ACMI and referenced throughout this book Using examples from this collection and pointing to comparable ones in the UK and North America this book investigates how notions of the everyday become a channel through which certain long standing discourses of race get redeployed in multicultural nations What can digital storytelling teach us about the status and future of multiculturalism in these societies Can digital storytelling re mediate multiculturalism in new progressive ways Zainichi Korean Identity and Ethnicity David Chapman, 2007-09-20

Shedding light on contemporary Japanese society in an international context Japanese Korean relations and modern day notions of a multicultural Japan this book addresses the broad notions and questions of citizenship identity ethnicity and belonging through investigation of Japan's Korean population zainichi. Despite zainichi Korean existence being integral to and interwoven with recent Japanese social history, the debates and discussions of the Korean community in Japan have been largely ignored. Moreover, as a post colonial context, the zainichi Korean situation has drawn scant attention and little investigation outside of Japan. In Zainichi Korean Ethnicity and Identity, David Chapman seeks to redress this balance, engaging with recent discourse from within Japan's Korean population. By taking a close look at how exclusion, marginalisation and privilege work, the book brings insight into the mechanisms of discrimination and how discourse not only marginalizes individuals and groups but also how it can create social change and enhance the sense of self. This book will be of interest to students and scholars of Asian studies and of Japanese and Korean politics, culture and society, but also to those with a broader interest in migration studies and the study of identity and ethnicity.

On Not Speaking Chinese Ien Ang, 2005-07-08. In this major new book, leading cultural thinker Ien Ang engages with urgent questions of identity in an age of globalisation and diaspora. The starting point for Ang's discussion is the experience of visiting Taiwan. Ang, a person of Chinese descent born in Indonesia and raised in the Netherlands, found herself faced with an almost insurmountable difficulty: surrounded by people who expected her to speak to them in Chinese. She writes, 'It was the beginning of an almost decade long engagement with the predicaments of Chineseness in diaspora. In Taiwan I was different because I couldn't speak Chinese; in the West I was different because I looked Chinese.' From this autobiographical beginning, Ang goes on to reflect upon tensions between Asia and the West at a national and global level and to consider the disparate meanings of Chineseness in the contemporary world. She offers a critique of the increasingly aggressive construction of a global Chineseness and challenges Western tendencies to equate Chinese with Asian identity. Ang then turns to the West, exploring the paradox of Australia's identity as a Western country in the Asian region and tracing Australia's uneasy relationship with its Asian neighbours from the White Australia policy to contemporary multicultural society. Finally, Ang draws together her discussion of Asia and the West to consider the social and intellectual space of the in-between, arguing for a theorising not of difference but of togetherness in contemporary societies.

Anxious Histories Jordana Silverstein, 2015-04-01. Over the last seventy years, memories and narratives of the Holocaust have played a significant role in constructing Jewish communities. The author explores one field where these narratives are disseminated: Holocaust pedagogy in Jewish schools in Melbourne and New York. Bringing together a diverse range of critical approaches, including memory studies, gender studies, diaspora theory and settler colonial studies, Anxious Histories complicates the stories being told about the Holocaust in these Jewish schools and their broader communities. It demonstrates that an anxious thread runs throughout these historical narratives as the pedagogy negotiates feelings of simultaneous belonging and not belonging in the West and in Zionism. In locating that anxiety, the possibilities and the limitations of narrating histories of the Holocaust are opened up once again for analysis, critique, discussion and development.

Approaching Transnationalisms Brenda Yeoh, Michael W. Charney, Tong Chee

Kiong,2011-06-28 The term transnationalism has gained considerable academic and popular currency despite a lack of clear definitions in part because its overall form changes as its influence incorporates additional spheres of daily life on a variety of scales and contexts The purpose of this volume is to bring together different perspectives on this phenomenon using case studies that represent some of the most current thinking on transnationalism in a wide range of disciplines Central themes which this book explores include legal and economic reactions to transnational migration the re negotiation of identities in the context of changing national social and cultural identities and the emergence of new imaginings of home and social space in transnational communities Approaching Transnationalisms Studies on Transnational Societies Multicultural Contacts and Imaginings of Home foregrounds powerful transnational forces crossing the boundaries of nation states and at the same time gives attention to the continued significance of the nation state and the diversity of localized reactions to transnational challenges Global Fragments ,2007-01-01 While the world seems to be getting ever smaller and globalization has become the ubiquitous buzz word regionalism and fragmentation also abound This might be due to the fact that far from being the alleged production of cultural homogeneity the global is constantly re defined and altered through the local This tension pervading much of contemporary culture has an obvious special relevance for the new varieties of English and the literature published in English world wide Postcolonial literatures exist at the interface of English as a hegemonic medium and its many national regional and local competitors that transform it in the new English literatures Thus any exploration of a globalization of cultures has to take into account the fact that culture is a complex field characterized by hybridization plurality and difference But while global or transnational cultures may allow for a new cosmopolitanism that produces ever changing fluid identities they do not give rise to an egalitarian global village an asymmetry between centre and periphery remains largely intact albeit along new parameters The essays collected in this volume offer readings of literary theoretical and filmic texts from the postcolonial world These texts are read as attempts to articulate the global with the local from a perspective of immersion in the actual diversity of life worlds focusing on such issues as consumption identity politics and modes of affiliation In this sense they are global fragments locally refracted figurations of an experience of world wide interconnectedness Floating Lives Stuart Cunningham,John Sinclair,2001 This is an examination of media and communication within diasporic ethnic communities in Australia the Chinese Indian Vietnamese and Thai communities The study explores the ethnic community as a force in negotiating new hybrid identities and experiences common to diasporic groups worldwide Asylum Seekers in Australian News Media Ashleigh Haw,2023-01-01 This book sheds light on how the public engage with make sense of and discursively evaluate news media constructions of people from asylum seeking backgrounds As a case study the author discusses her recent research combining Critical Discourse Analysis with a cultural studies Audience Reception framework to examine the perspectives of 24 Western Australians who took part in semi structured interviews During their interviews participants were asked open ended questions about their general views on people seeking asylum including Australia's policy responses their media engagement habits and preferences and their views concerning how the Australian media represents people seeking asylum The author compares and contrasts this research with broader interdisciplinary discussion and the book will therefore appeal to students and scholars of migration political communication sociology audience reception critical media studies and sociolinguistics Readings of the Particular

Lo,2007-04-12 This ground breaking study of cross cultural theatre in the Australasian region focuses on theatrical events and practices in avant garde and mainstream contexts It explores the cultural and political dimensions of Australia's engagement with Asia and sheds light on international arts marketing and trends in cross cultural performance training

Honneth and Everyday Intercultural (Mis)Recognition Bona Anna,2018-02-21 This book conducts a critical investigation into everyday intercultural recognition and misrecognition in the domain of paid work utilising social philosopher Axel Honneth's recognition theory as its theoretical foundation In so doing it also reveals the sophistication and productivity of

Honneth's recognition model for multiculturalism scholarship Honneth and Everyday Intercultural Mis Recognition is concerned with the redress of intercultural related injustice and more widely the effective integration of ethically and culturally diverse societies Bona Anna analyses the everyday experiences of cross cultural misrecognition in a distinctive ethno cultural group including social norms that have been marginalised in the contexts of employment In this endeavour she deploys key constructs from Honneth's theory to argue for individual and social integration to be conceptualised as a process of inclusion through stables forms of recognition rather than as a process of inclusion through forms of group representation and participation This book will appeal to students and academics of multiculturalism interested in learning more about the usefulness of Honneth's recognition theory in intercultural inquiry including the ways in which it can circumvent some of the impasses of classical multiculturalism

The Routledge Companion to Adaptation Dennis Cutchins, Katja Krebs, Eckart Voigts, 2018-04-17 The Routledge Companion to Adaptation offers a broad range of scholarship from this growing interdisciplinary field With a basis in source oriented studies such as novel to stage and stage to film adaptations this volume also seeks to highlight the new and innovative aspects of adaptation studies ranging from theatre and dance to radio television and new media It is divided into five sections Mapping which presents a variety of perspectives on the scope and development of adaptation studies Historiography which investigates the ways in which adaptation engages with and disrupts history Identity which considers texts and practices in adaptation as sites of multiple and fluid identity formations Reception which examines the role played by an audience considering the unpredictable relationships between adaptations and those who experience them Technology which focuses on the effects of ongoing technological advances and shifts on specific adaptations and on the wider field of adaptation An emphasis on adaptation as practice establishes methods of investigation that move beyond a purely comparative case study model The Routledge Companion to Adaptation celebrates the complexity and diversity of adaptation studies mapping the field across genres and disciplines

Teaching English as an International Language Phan Le Ha, 2008-03-28 Building on both Western and Asian theoretical resources the book examines how EIL teachers see themselves as professional and individual in relation to their work practices It reveals the tensions compromises negotiations and resistance in their enactment of different roles and selves especially when they are exposed to values often associated with the English speaking West The ways they perceive their identity formation problematise and challenge the seemingly dominant views of identity as always changing hybrid and fragmented Their experiences highlight the importance of the sense of belonging and being connectedness continuity and a coherent growth in identity formation Their attachment to a particular locality and their commitment to perform the moral guide role as EIL teachers serve as the most powerful platform for all their other identities to be constructed negotiated and reconstituted
