Race And Intelligence Separating Science From Myth:

Race and Intelligence Jefferson M. Fish, 2013-05-13 In recent years reported racial disparities in IQ scores have been the subject of raging debates in the behavioral and social sciences and education What can be made of these test results in the context of current scientific knowledge about human evolution and cognition Unfortunately discussion of these issues has tended to generate more heat than light Now the distinguished authors of this book offer powerful new illumination Representing a range of disciplines psychology anthropology biology economics history philosophy sociology and statistics the authors review the concept of race and then the concept of intelligence Presenting a wide range of findings they put the experience of the United States so frequently the only focus of attention in global perspective They also show that the human species has no races in the biological sense though cultures have a variety of folk concepts of race that there is no single form of intelligence and that formal education helps individuals to develop a variety of cognitive abilities Race and Intelligence offers the most comprehensive and definitive response thus far to claims of innate differences in intelligence among races Principles of Multicultural Counseling and Therapy Uwe P. Gielen, Juris G. Draguns, Jefferson M.

Fish, 2008-06-19 In an era of globalization characterized by widespread migration and cultural contacts psychologists counselors and other mental health professionals face a unique challenge how does one practice successfully when working with clients from so many different backgrounds Gielen Draguns and Fish argue that an understanding of the general principles of multicultural counseling is of great importance to all practitioners The lack of this knowledge can have several negative consequences during therapy including differences in expectations between counselor and client misdiagnosis of the client's concerns missed non verbal cues and the client feeling that she has been misunderstood This volume focuses on the general nature of cultural influences in counseling rather than on counseling specific ethnic groups Counseling practices from all over the world not just those of Western society are explored Bringing together the work of a diverse group of international experts the editors have compiled a volume that is not only concise and teachable but also an essential guidebook for all mental health professionals The Cognitive Science of Belief Julien Musolino, Joseph Sommer, Pernille Hemmer, 2022-11-17

Beliefs play a central role in our lives They lie at the heart of what makes us human they shape the organization and functioning of our minds they define the boundaries of our culture and they guide our motivation and behavior Given their central importance researchers across a number of disciplines have studied beliefs leading to results and literatures that do not always interact The Cognitive Science of Belief aims to integrate these disconnected lines of research to start a broader dialogue on the nature role and consequences of beliefs It tackles timeless questions as well as applications of beliefs that speak to current social issues This multidisciplinary approach to beliefs will benefit graduate students and researchers in cognitive science psychology philosophy political science economics and religious studies

The Concept of Race and Psychotherapy Jefferson M. Fish, 2010-11-05 Is our society color blind Trans racial Post

racial And what if anything should this mean to professionals in clinical practice with diverse clients The ambitious volume The Concept of Race and Psychotherapy probes these questions compelling readers to look differently at their clients and themselves and offering a practical framework for more effective therapy By tracing the racial folk taxonomies of eight cultures in the Americas and the Caribbean the author elegantly defines race as a fluid construct dependent on local social political and historical context for meaning but meaningless in the face of science This innovative perspective informs the rest of the book which addresses commonly held assumptions about problem behavior and the desire to change and presents a social science based therapy model applicable to a wide range of current approaches that emphasizes both cultural patterns and client uniqueness Among the highlights of the coverage Common elements in therapy and healing across cultures The psychological appeal of racial concepts despite scientific evidence to the contrary Lessons psychology can learn from anthropology Three types of therapeutic relationships with strategies for working effectively in each The phenomenon of discontinuous change in brief therapy Solution focused therapy from a cross cultural perspective Thought provoking reading for psychologists psychiatrists clinical social workers and other mental health professionals as well as graduate students in these fields The Concept of Race and Psychotherapy affirms the individuality and the interconnectedness of every client

Marks, 2018 In The Alternative Introduction to Biological Anthropology Second Edition author Jonathan Marks presents an innovative framework for thinking about the major issues in the field with fourteen original essays designed to correlate to the core chapters in standard textbooks Each chapter draws on and complements but does not reconstitute except for the sake of clarity the major data and ideas presented in standard texts Marks explores such topics as how we make sense of data about our origins where our modern ideas come from our inability to separate natural facts from cultural facts and values as we try to understand ourselves and the social and political aspects of science as a culturally situated mental activity

Roberts, Lazar Stankov, 2008 This volume presents research from a variety of perspectives on the enhancement of human intelligence It is organized around five themes enhancement via instruction enhancement via development over the life cycle enhancement over time enhancement via new constructs and new directions in enhancement Three key issues are addressed First although most of the scientific research on intelligence has concerned what it is this volume attends to the consequential societal and economic issue concerns of whether it can be increased and how Second intellectual enhancement is particularly important when targeted to minorities and the poor groups that have typically performed relatively less well on intelligence and achievement measures This volume reflects the education community's ongoing interest in understanding and attempting to close achievement or test score gaps Third most of the attention to examining intellectual enhancement and in accounting for and closing the test score gap has focused on general cognitive ability In line with the current emphasis on considering intelligence from a wider perspective this volume includes constructs such as emotional and practical intelligence in definitions of intellectual functioning

Brown, 2020-11-17 The idea that science is or should be value free and that values are or should be formed independently of science has been under fire by philosophers of science for decades Science and Moral Imagination directly challenges the idea that science and values cannot and should not influence each other Matthew J Brown argues that science and values mutually influence and implicate one another that the influence of values on science is pervasive and must be responsibly managed and that science can and should have an influence on our values This interplay he explains must be guided by accounts of scientific inquiry and value judgment that are sensitive to the complexities of their interactions Brown presents scientific inquiry and value judgment as types of problem solving practices and provides a new framework for thinking about how we might ethically evaluate episodes and decisions in science while offering guidance for scientific practitioners and institutions about how they can incorporate value judgments into their work His framework dubbed the ideal of moral imagination emphasizes the role of imagination in value judgment and the positive role that value judgment plays in science

Why America's Top Pundits Are Wrong Catherine Besteman, Hugh Gusterson, 2005-01-17 This absorbing collection of essays subjects such popular commentators as Thomas Friedman Samuel Huntington Robert Kaplan and Dinesh D Souza to cold hard scrutiny and finds that their writing is often misleadingly simplistic culturally ill informed and politically dangerous Mixing critical reflection with insights from their own fieldwork twelve distinguished anthropologists respond by offering fresh perspectives on globalization ethnic violence social justice and the biological roots of behavior They take on such topics as the collapse of Yugoslavia the consumer practices of the American poor American foreign policy in the Balkans and contemporary debates over race welfare and violence against women In the clear vigorous prose of the pundits themselves these contributors reveal the hollowness of what often passes as prevailing wisdom and passionately demonstrate the need for a humanistically complex and democratic understanding of the contemporary world

Valencia, 2010-09-13 Deficit thinking is a pseudoscience founded on racial and class bias It blames the victim for school failure instead of examining how schools are structured to prevent poor students and students of color from learning Dismantling Contemporary Deficit Thinking provides comprehensive critiques and anti deficit thinking alternatives to this oppressive theory by framing the linkages between prevailing theoretical perspectives and contemporary practices within the complex historical development of deficit thinking Dismantling Contemporary Deficit Thinking examines the ongoing social construction of deficit thinking in three aspects of current discourse the genetic pathology model the culture of poverty model and the at risk model in which poor students students of color and their families are pathologized and marginalized Richard R Valencia challenges these three contemporary components of the deficit thinking theory by providing incisive critiques and discussing competing explanations for the pervasive school failure of many students in the nation s public schools Valencia also discusses a number of proactive anti deficit thinking suggestions from the fields of teacher education educational leadership and educational ethnography that are intended to provide a more equitable and democratic schooling for all students What It Means to Be 98% Chimpanzee Jonathan Marks, 2003-11 Focusing on the remarkable similarity between chimp and human DNA the author explores the role of molecular genetics anthropology biology and psychology in the human ape relationship Why I Am Not a Scientist Jonathan Marks, 2009-06-23 Highly readable and informative this critical series of vignettes illustrates a long history of the corruption of science by folk beliefs careerism and sociopolitical agendas Marks repeatedly brings home the message that we should challenge scientists especially molecular geneticists before we accept their results and give millions of dollars in public and private funds toward their enterprises Russell Tuttle The University of Chicago Jonathan Marks has produced a personal and compelling story of how science works His involvement in scientific endeavor in human biology and evolution over the past three decades and his keen sense of the workings of science make this book a must read for both scientists and lay readers In this sense the lay reader will learn how scientists should and shouldn t think and some scientists who read this book will come away thinking they are truly not scientists nor would they want to be Rob DeSalle American Museum of Natural History Jonathan Marks s Why I Am Not a Scientist provides food for thought and as expected it s digestible In unusually broad perspective this anthropology of knowledge considers science and race and racism gender fraud misconduct and creationism in a way that makes one proud to be called a scientist George J Armelagos Emory University The Blackwell Companion to Social Inequalities Mary Romero, Eric Margolis, 2008-04-15 The Blackwell
