Tobacco Use Among United States Racial/ethnic Minority Groups United States. Department of Health and Human Services, 1998 This Surgeon General's report on tobacco use summarizes current information on risk factors and patterns related to tobacco use among members of four major racial and ethnic minority groups in the United States African Americans American Indians and Alaska Natives Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders and Hispanics In addition this report presents information on national and regional efforts to curtail consumption of tobacco products among members of these four groups Previous Surgeon General's reports on smoking and health have briefly summarized findings related to one or more of the racial ethnic groups covered in this report but this is the first Surgeon General's report to concentrate specifically on the four major racial ethnic groups in the United States Several factors prompted the development of this report First the information in this report has never before been compiled in one source Consequently policymakers community leaders researchers and public health workers have had difficulty determining the extent of the problem identifying gaps in information regarding tobacco use among members of the four groups or being aware of existing tobacco control programs that have demonstrated effectiveness Thus incorporating such information into the design and implementation of culturally appropriate services has been difficult Second the four racial ethnic groups currently constitute about one fourth of the population of this country and the Bureau of the Census projects that by 2050 the non Hispanic white population in the United States will total only 53 percent Day 1996 Preventing health problems related to tobacco use among the individuals in racial and ethnic groups will be integral to achieving U S public health objectives such as those proposed in Healthy People 2000 National Health Promotion and Disease Prevention Objectives U S Department of Health and Human Services USDHHS 1991 1995 National Center for Health Statistics NCHS 1994 This report contributes essential knowledge that must be incorporated into efforts to accomplish the Healthy People 2000 objectives

Toward Environmental Justice Committee on Environmental Justice, Institute of Medicine, 1999-03-11 Driven by community based organizations and supported by a growing body of literature the environmental justice movement contends that poor and minority populations are burdened with more than their share of toxic waste pesticide runoff and other hazardous byproducts of our modern economic life Is environmental degradation worse in poor and minority communities Do these communities suffer more adverse health effects as a result The committee addresses these questions and explores how current fragmentation in health policy could be replaced with greater coordination among federal state and local parties The book is highlighted with case studies from five locations where the committee traveled to hear citizen and researcher testimony It offers detailed examinations in these areas Identifying environmental hazards and assessing risk for populations of varying ethnic social and economic backgrounds and the need for methodologies that uniquely suit the populations at risk Identifying basic clinical and occupational research needs and meeting challenges to research on minorities Expanding environmental education from an ecological focus to a public health focus for all levels of health professionals Legal and ethical aspects of environmental health issues The book makes recommendations to decisionmakers in the areas of public health research and education of health professionals and outlines health policy considerations American Indian

Health Everett R. Rhoades, 2003-05-22 Disease processes among American Indians and Alaska Natives often have distinct manifestations that need to be considered by clinicians and health policy makers involved with these populations Equally important all aspects of Indian life including health are governed by the special relationship between Indian tribes and the U S federal government For American Indian Health Everett R Rhoades has gathered a distinguished group of scholars and practitioners to present a comprehensive assessment of the health of American Indian peoples today and the delivery of health services to them Racial/Ethnic Patterns of Cancer in the United States, 1988-1992 Barry A. Miller, 1997-07

Hutchinson focuses initially on movement as concept and metaphor affirming its centrality in the conceptualization of all discursive activities He draws on an array of authors including Heraclitus Plato Longinus Rabelais Nietzsche Saussure Frances Yates Kristeva Meschonnic and Deleuze to demonstrate the motion of discourse and of those engaged in it He then turns to Cervantes novels to show how metaphors of movement and travel appearing on nearly every page dominate the conceptualization of the soul the self desire love and life processes Viewing travel as a composite of concurrent modes of experience with differing content and rhythms Hutchinson considers the concept of errancy the nature of place and the traveler s shifting relations with it and the values that travel may have as a motion displacement encounter and goal Of key importance are the means of improvisation developed en route His re examination of Bakhtin s chronotope in light of Cervante s novels reveals the dynamic character of time spaces in which travelers move He shows moreover that unlike typical Renaissance utopias the many worlds of Cervantes novels have the principles of becoming and dissolution inscribed in them Reflecting on the narrative of journeys both as memory and invention Hutchinson concludes with an examination of the relations between travel experience and travel narrative and a discussion of the whereabouts of writers and readers in Cervantes novels The narration of journeys he argues necessitates and encourages improvisatory writing Tobacco Use
