Environment Fit for People, by Raymond F. Dasmann Raymond Fredric Dasmann,1969 Planning for the Planet Simone Schleper,2019-07-12 During the 1960s and 1970s rapidly growing environmental awareness and concern created unprecedented demand for ecological expertise and novel challenges for ecological advocacy groups such as the International Union for Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources IUCN This book reveals how despite their vast scientific knowledge and their attempts to incorporate socially relevant themes IUCN experts inevitably struggled to make global schemes for nature conservation a central concern for UNESCO UNEP and other intergovernmental organizations

Transplanting Modernity? Thomas B. Robertson,Jenny Leigh Smith,2023-10-24 In general development denotes movement or growth toward something better in the future International development widespread in the decades following World War II was an effort at purposeful change in landscapes around the world Contributors to this volume argue that these projects constituted an effort to transplant modernity such as knowledge or technology from places seen as more developed to places perceived as un or underdeveloped During its heyday international development included not just dams roads health programs and agricultural projects but also animal husbandry schemes urban development and wildlife protection plans Projects often succeeded or failed because of existing environmental conditions and in turn these programs remade or tried to remake the land water wildlife and people around them From American directed failures in water engineering in Afghanistan to the impact of livestock epidemics on economic growth in East Africa the chapters in Transplanting Modernity question how science technology and faith in Western notions of progress have influenced the pace scope and scale of development Called by the Wild Raymond F. Dasmann,2002-04-16 Encompassing his travels to ecological hotspots around the world and his development of concepts such as bioregionalism and ecotourism Dasmann s autobiography is a gripping chronicle of an exceptional life and of international conservation action and intrigue The Wild and the Toxic

Jennifer Thomson,2019-03-27 Health figures centrally in late twentieth century environmental activism There are many competing claims about the health of ecosystems the health of the planet and the health of humans yet there is little agreement among the likes of D C lobbyists grassroots organizers eco anarchist collectives and science based advocacy organizations about whose health matters most or what health even means In this book Jennifer Thomson untangles the complex web of political social and intellectual developments that gave rise to the multiplicity of claims and concerns about environmental health Thomson traces four strands of activism from the 1970s to the present the environmental lobby environmental justice groups radical environmentalism and bioregionalism and climate justice activism By focusing on health environmentalists were empowered to intervene in the rise of neoliberalism the erosion of the regulatory state and the decimation of mass based progressive politics Yet as this book reveals an individualist definition of health ultimately won out over more communal understandings Considering this turn from collective solidarity toward individual health helps explain the near paralysis of collective action in the face of planetary disaster Farewell, Promised Land Robert Dawson, Gray A. Brechin, 1999-01-01 Don't mistake the message of this sad and powerful book After 150 years of pillage and pollution it is time to fight like hell for California Mike Davis author of City of Quartz A heart rendingly splendid book for all who love California It combines stunning photographic documentation of the trashing of the state with an eloquent melancholy text that still offers guarded hopes for a green future Ernest Callenbach author of Ecotopia Thirteenth Technical Meeting, Kinshasa, Zaire, 8-17 September 1975 : papers, 1975 Overcoming Obstacles in Environmental Policymaking John K. Gamman, 1994-12-05 This book examines why policies and laws intended to protect the environment often do not work In particular Gamman addresses the fundamental reasons why efforts to protect natural resources in the developing world generally fail He describes why environmental initiatives originating in national governments international foreign assistance agencies and environmental groups suffer from a dysfunctional decision making process And he suggests how to improve environmental policymaking by creating partnerships for sustainable development showing how to do this with a step by step negotiation process
