Re-Drawing Boundaries Barbara Entwisle, Gail Henderson, 2000-11-07 The essays in this volume explore various aspects of work in China including the nature of work gender inequalities in work gender and work in the context of migration and the reciprocal influences of households and work organization Transforming the Gendered

Organisation of Labour and Leisure Yuqin Huang, 2020-08-28 This book explores how the labour and leisure lives of people in contemporary rural China have been structured and transformed discussing the changing dynamics of power relations both between and within genders and in local village and family household and remote the state and market contexts It combines perspectives from sociology gender studies social history and demography to investigate the changes and continuities in the lives of women and men in Lianhe a rural village in central China examining the period from 1926 to 2013 through the lens of labour and leisure Employing methods from the field of ethnography the research focuses on the life stories of three generations including 57 women in Lianhe The book develops a double comparison analytical framework to compare the organisation of labour and leisure in the three respective generations proceeding on the one hand diachronically along the historical time that is the pre collective era collective era and reform era and synchronically along the women s life stages on the other In so doing the book links women s shifting role in changing family household forms with broader socio economic political demographic and cultural changes Moreover it employs a holistic perspective to reflect changing patterns in women s labour and leisure by disrupting the remunerated unremunerated home labour within outside household and labour leisure dichotomies and exploring the interrelations between them Based on this the book then identifies the determinants of rural women s labour and leisure and reveals the women s experiences of their changing identities particularly concerning their relationships with their parents in law sisters in law husbands and children Particularly highlighting the interdependence and inequality among women it also reveals their own perception of their identities and relationships and their understanding of husband wife fairness and gender equality Lastly it demonstrates that the prevalent androcentrism in the remote world does not match the increasing husband wife fairness in the local world and argues that this mismatch has caused the complex and paradoxical experiences and subjectivities of these women Given its scope the book is of interest to scholars students and researchers in the fields of sociology anthropology gender and development as well as a general audience looking to explore contemporary rural China , Gender and Agrarian Reforms Susie Jacobs, 2013-05-13 The redistribution of land has profound implications for women and for gender relations however gender issues have been marginalised from both theoretical and policy discussions of agrarian reform This book presents an overview of gender and agrarian reform experiences globally Jacobs highlights case studies from Latin America Asia Africa and eastern Europe and also compares agrarian and land reforms organised along collective lines as well as along individual household lines This volume will be of interest to scholars in Geography Women s Studies and Economics Gender,

Modernity and Male Migrant Workers in China Xiaodong Lin, 2013-07-18 Rural urban migration within China has transformed and reshaped rural people's lives during the past few decades and has been one of the most visible phenomena of the economic reforms enacted since the late 1970s. Whilst Feminist scholars have addressed rural women's experience of struggle and empowerment in urban China in contrast research on rural men's experience of migration is a neglected area of study. In response this book seeks to address the absence of male migrant workers as a gendered category within the current literature on rural urban migration. Examining Chinese male migrant workers' identity formation this book explores their experience of rural urban migration and their status as an emerging sector of a dislocated urban working class. It seeks to understand issues of gender and class through the rural migrant men's narratives within the context of China's modernization and provides an in-depth analysis of how these men make sense of their new lives in the rapidly modernizing post Mao China with its emphasis on progress and development. Further this book uses the men's own narratives to challenge the elite assumption that rural men's low status is a result of their failure to adopt a modern urban identity and lifestyle. Drawing on interviews with 28 male rural migrants Xiaodong Lin unpacks the gender politics of Chinese men and masculinities and in turn contributes to a greater understanding of global masculinities in an international context. This book will be of great interest to students and scholars working in the fields of Chinese culture and society, gender studies, migration studies, sociology and social anthropology. Shortlisted for this year's BSA Philip Abrams Memorial Prize.

Chinese Women - Living and Working Anne McLaren, 2005-08-05 Experts in gender politics, media studies and anthropology discuss the impact of economic reform and globalization on Chinese women in family businesses, management, the professions, the prostitution industry and domestic service.

Women and Gender in Twentieth-Century China Paul J. Bailey, 2012-08-29 Paul J Bailey provides the first analytical study in English of Chinese women's experiences during China's turbulent twentieth century. Incorporating the very latest specialized research and drawing upon Chinese cinema and autobiographical memoirs this fascinating narrative account explores the impact of political, social and cultural change on women's lives and how Chinese women responded to such developments. Charts the evolution of gender discourses during this period. Illuminates both change and continuity in gender discourse and practice. Approachable and authoritative this is an essential overview for students, teachers and scholars of gender history and anyone with an interest in modern Chinese history.

Gender and Employment in Rural China Jing Song, 2017-04-21 With China's rapid advancements in urbanization and industrialization there has been significant labor movement away from agriculture in the rural regions. Using four village case studies Song examines how this restructuring process affects the rural population. Much of her research is centered on their various perceptions and reactions towards the market reforms. How are their lives reshaped through the employment transition? Along with the changes of family life and the diversification of development models, how do an individual's gender and background play a role in determining employment? These are the broad questions that Song addresses through detailed analysis of four different villages in light of China's move towards decentralization of its rural economy Gender and Chinese History Beverly Jo Bossler, 2015-06-01 Until the 1980s a common narrative about women in China had been one of victimization women had dutifully endured a patriarchal civilization for thousands of years living cloistered uneducated lives separate from the larger social and cultural world until they were liberated by political upheavals in the twentieth century Rich scholarship on gender in China has since complicated the picture of women in Chinese society revealing the roles women have played as active agents in their families businesses and artistic communities The essays in this collection go further by assessing the ways in which the study of gender has changed our understanding of Chinese history and showing how the study of gender in China challenges our assumptions about China the past and gender itself

Corporate Women in Contemporary China Xinyan Peng, 2022-05-02 Based on extensive multi sited ethnographic research this book focuses on the culture of work in today's urban China and on how it has permeated beyond the workplace to shape bodily training family life and kinship and social relationships among white collar women in their twenties and thirties Facing challenges to cope with the increasingly intensified dual burden of work and family whitecollar women are not turning their backs on their jobs but are turning their bodies and homes into work In an era when the state and society heighten pressure on individual young women's productivity and reproductivity at the same time the book examines how white collar women seek to protect their right to work embody a work ethic and make their reproductive life a productive domain Integrating studies of labor the body gender and kinship this book shows how the ethics and strictly defined discipline of hard work and overtime work are transposed from the office cubicle to the gym and home It thereby demonstrates how the emergence embodiment and extension of a work culture perpetuate the hegemony of the work ethic and how they have exerted a profound impact on women's bodies selves and lives
