Reading And Writing Nonfiction:

5 Kinds of Nonfiction Melissa Stewart, Marlene Correia, 2023-10-10 Once upon a time children's nonfiction books were stodgy, concise and not very kid friendly. Most were text heavy with just a few scattered images decorating the content and meaning rather than enhancing it. Over the last 20 years, children's nonfiction has evolved into a new breed of visually dynamic and engaging texts. In 5 Kinds of Nonfiction: Enriching Reading and Writing Instruction with Children's Books, Melissa Stewart and Dr. Marlene Correia present a new way to sort nonfiction into five major categories and show how doing so can help teachers and librarians build stronger readers and writers. Along the way, they introduce the 5 kinds of nonfiction: Active, Browseable, Traditional, Expository, Literature, and Narrative, and explore each category through discussions, classroom examples, and insights from leading children's book authors. Offer tips for building strong, diverse classroom texts and library collections. Provide more than 20 activities to enhance literacy instruction. Include innovative strategies for sharing and celebrating nonfiction with students. With more than 150 exemplary nonfiction book recommendations, Stewart and Correia's extensive knowledge of literacy instruction. 5 Kinds of Nonfiction will elevate your understanding of nonfiction in ways that speak specifically to the info kids in your classrooms but will inspire all readers and writers. A Place for Wonder Georgia Heard, Jennifer McDonough, 2009 In A Place for Wonder, Georgia Heard and Jennifer McDonough discuss how to create a landscape of wonder, a primary classroom where curiosity, creativity, and exploration are encouraged. For it is these characteristics, the authors write, that develop intelligent, inquiring, life-long learners. The authors' research shows that many primary-grade state standards encourage teaching for understanding, critical thinking, creativity, and question asking, and promote the development of children who have the attributes of inventiveness, curiosity, engagement, imagination, and creativity. With these goals in mind, Georgia and Jennifer provide teachers with numerous practical ways of setting up wonder centers, gathering data through senses, teaching nonfiction craft, and how they can create a classroom environment where students' questions and observations are part of daily work. They also present a step-by-step guide to planning a nonfiction reading and writing unit of study, creating a nonfiction book which includes creating a table of contents, writing focused chapters using "wow" words, and developing point of view. A Place for Wonder will help teachers reclaim their classrooms as a place where true learning is the norm. Making Nonfiction and Other Informational Texts Come Alive Kathy Pike, Jean Mumper, 2004 Offering a fresh approach, this much-needed text mirrors the features that are traditionally found in nonfiction texts: illustrations, diagrams, insets, boxed materials to help clarify and explain the concepts being presented. This is a perfect complement to reading methods courses which includes a wealth of nonfiction titles that teachers can readily use effectively in a balanced literacy program. Packed with ideas and suggestions for the classroom, Pike and Mumper offer everything one needs to know in order to use nonfiction texts in the classroom, from using them in literature circles and as models for writing or for research purposes.
