Reading Difficulties In Schools:

What Teachers Need to Know about Reading and Writing Difficulties Peter S. Westwood, Peter Westwood, 2008

Literacy skills are fundamental to all areas of learning in the school curriculum but also have a profound impact on an individual's chances of finding satisfying work in the years beyond school. This book draws on the latest research from around the world to explain some of the causes of literacy problems and gives practical advice on methods to support students with their own difficulties. Details of additional resources and online links are provided to assist teachers who wish to pursue some of the issues in greater depth.

Why Kids Can't Read Patrick R. Riccards, Phyllis Blaunstein, Reid Lyon, 2014-12-18. Nearly forty percent of all fourth graders in this country cannot read at grade level and this number rises to sixty percent for children coming from poor families. This gap in learning increases as students go through grade school and is a primary reason for school failure. Ironically, this problem comes even after comprehensive research demonstrates that nearly all children can learn to read if taught using proven effective instruction. Here the authors describe the principles of this research in language that non-educators can understand and educators can use. It discusses how to recognize whether the research on reading is being used appropriately and if not, how to make that happen. Through the eyes of parents and educators who have succeeded in their own struggles to change the educational system, the book provides the reader with the tools and knowledge for transforming the way reading is taught in their children's classrooms. This book takes the reader step by step through an understanding of the research on reading and ways in which a single determined person can make a difference in the learning ability of every student in our nation's schools. Part One is a series of chapters written by individuals who discuss what they experienced during these battles and what made them successful. Part Two is written by a series of experts who describe how they have overcome the challenges involved in creating widespread change in school systems. This second edition also includes information on Common Core State Standards, increased testing and accountability efforts, and related policy issues that directly impact how children learn to read. The appendix is filled with resources, sample tools, a glossary, and bibliography to help the reader. Some key features of this book include: Easy to understand descriptions of research; First person stories of how they have helped teach their kids to read; Clear understanding of scientifically based reading and how it can be applied to the classroom; Summary of reading related Common Core State Standards; Sample tools for parent advocates; Resource lists of government officials, organizations that can help with reading efforts.

Reading Development and Difficulties David A. Kilpatrick, R. Malatesha Joshi, Richard K. Wagner, 2019-09-25

Edward J. Daly,Sabina Neugebauer,Sandra M. Chafouleas,2015-01-20 This user friendly guide has been thoroughly revised to reflect significant changes in the way schools deliver reading instruction and intervention especially for students at risk for reading failure Step by step strategies target key areas of literacy development phonological awareness fluency and comprehension Particular emphasis is placed on scientifically based practices that do not require major curricular change and can be applied with students of varying ages and ability levels In a large size format with lay flat binding for ease of photocopying the book includes 17 reproducible assessment and instructional tools Purchasers also get access to a Web page where they can download and print the reproducible materials This book is in The Guilford Practical Intervention in the Schools Series edited by T Chris Riley Tillman New to This Edition Chapter on multi tiered intervention delivery plus additional discussion in other relevant chapters Chapter on interventions for English learners ELs Chapter on vocabulary instruction intervention and assessment Additional graphing and data analysis tools Coverage of new resources available through federal supports Off Track Louise Spear-swerling,2018-03-05 The identification of poor readers as learning disabled can be the first of many steps toward consigning students to a lifetime of reading failure The very label that is meant to help children often becomes a burden that works against effective learning throughout their schooling In this book the authors identify the dangers of labeling children as reading or learning disabled contending that a reading disability is not a unitary phenomenon In order to diagnose and help children educators and parents need to understand the multiple sources of reading difficulty before they can choose appropriate means to correct it Drawing on recent research in cognitive psychology the authors present a new theoretical model of reading disability that integrates a wide variety of findings across age and grade spans Laid out in terms that are readily comprehensible to parents and practitioners the model outlines the phases that are characteristic of the path to proficient reading then describes four ways in which disabled readers may stray from this path The key to the authors work lies in the fact that youngsters who stray from the path of typical reading acquisition often are not distinguishable from other children who are classified as poor readers rather than as learning disabled This model is an especially useful one for practitioners because it both provides a broader view of reading disability than have many previous models and shows how reading disability relates to typical reading acquisition Using illustrative case studies the authors describe the four patterns of reading disability explain how to properly assess them and suggest ways to conquer them Treating Reading Difficulties; the Role of the Principal, Teacher, Specialist [and] Administrator Carl Bernard Smith,Gloria Dapper,1970
