Reading Auschwitz with Barth Mark R. Lindsay, 2014-01-28 It has been widely accepted that few individuals had as great an influence on the church and its theology during the twentieth century as Karl Barth 1886 1968 His legacy continues to be explored and explained with theologians around the world and from across the ecumenical spectrum vigorously debating the doctrinal ramifications of Barth's insights What has been less readily accepted is that the Holocaust of the Jews had an equally profound effect and that it too entails far reaching consequences for the church's understanding of itself and its God In this groundbreaking book Barth and the Holocaust are brought into deliberate dialogue with one another to show why the church should heed both their voices and how that may be done

Reading at the Limits of Poetic Form Jacob McGuinn, 2024-05-15 Pushing the boundaries of critical reading and the role of objects in literature How does literary objecthood contend with the challenge of writing objects that emerge at an extreme limit of material presence Jacob McGuinn delves into the ways literature writes this indeterminate presence in the context of pre and post 68 Paris a vital moment in the history of criticism The works of poet Paul Celan philosopher Theodor Adorno and writer Maurice Blanchot highlight how the complexities of reading such a dematerialized object are part of the indeterminacy of material itself Indeterminate objects glass snow walls screens are subjects Celan describes as existing in meridian space while for Adorno and Blanchot criticism not only responds to this indeterminacy but also takes it as its condition Reading at the Limits of Poetic Form Dematerialization in Adorno Blanchot and Celan shows how these readings simultaneously limit the object of criticism and outline alternative ways of thinking that lie between the models of critical formalism and historicism ultimately revealing the possible materiality of literature in unrealized history incomplete politics and nondetermining thinking

Re-reading Derrida Tony Thwaites, Judith Seaboyer, 2013-03-08 Re-reading Derrida Perspectives on Mourning and its Hospitalities edited by Tony Thwaites and Judith Seaboyer is a unique collaborative exploration of the legacies of the late philosopher Jacques Derrida across a wide variety of fields Anchoring the book are two major essays on mourning by two of the best known Derridean thinkers today who were close friends of Derrida J Hillis Miller and Derek Attridge Each of the other essays has been written to respond to these and in a novel move to at least two of the other contributions As a result the very form of the book is a way of exploring the thematics of hospitality and the ways in which disciplines open themselves to one another extending lines of flight across the archipelagos of knowledge the politics of the memorial poetry trauma film neoliberalism the novel and psychoanalysis

Throughout the book themes and concerns recur each time refracted developed and questioned under the pressures of new conjunctures As the editors Introduction argues what the book seeks to show is not that a certain general body of theoretical work can be applied in all sorts of areas but something more interesting that from the outset theoretical work itself takes on its meaning only in its grappling with the specific the singular even the unique Miller s and Attridge s essays have at their heart after all the loss of a friend

Holocaust History and the Readings of Ka-Tzetnik Annette F. Timm,2018-01-25 Holocaust History and the Readings of Ka Tzetnik provides the first extensive exploration of the reception of Ka Tzetnik s work and the role that his books have played in the larger discussion of the Holocaust and its memorialization around the world Including contributions from an international and interdisciplinary group of experienced scholars the book examines the literary merits historical context and public resonance of Ka Tzetnik s stories It also places his novels in the context of post WWII debates about how the memories and testimonies of the victims of the Holocaust can be represented and made publicly accessible through literature There is also detailed coverage of key topics like Holocaust memory and sexual violence in the concentration camps and thorough historical analysis of key works like House of Dolls included throughout This is an important study for all scholars and students with an interest in the Holocaust and Holocaust literature

The Holocaust and the Postmodern Robert Eaglestone,2004-12-09 Robert Eaglestone argues that postmodernism especially understood in the light of the work of Emmanuel Levinas and Jacques Derrida is a response to the Holocaust This way of thinking offers new perspectives on Holocaust testimony literature historiography and post Holocaust philosophy While postmodernism is often derided for being either playful and superficial or obscure and elitist Eaglestone argues and demonstrates its commitment both to the past and to ethics Dealing with Holocaust testimony including the work of Primo Levi and Eli Wiesel with the memoirs of second generation survivors and with recent Holocaust literature including Anne Michael s Fugitive Pieces Jonathan Safran Foer s Everything is Illuminated and the false memoir of Benjamin Wilkomirski The Holocaust and the Postmodern proposes a new way of reading both Holocaust testimony and Holocaust fiction Through an exploration of Holocaust historiography the book offers a new approach to debates over truth and memory Eaglestone argues for the central importance of the Holocaust in understanding the work of Emmanuel Levinas and Jacques Derrida and goes on to explore what the Holocaust means for rationality ethics and for the idea of what it is to be human Weaving together theory and practice testimony literature history philosophy and Holocaust studies this interdisciplinary book is the first to explore in detail the significance of the Holocaust for postmodernism and the significance of postmodernism for understanding the Holocaust

Remembering for the Future J. Roth,E. Maxwell,2017-02-13 Focused on The Holocaust in an Age of Genocide Remembering for the Future brings together the work of nearly 200 scholars from more than 30 countries and features cutting edge scholarship across a range of disciplines amounting to the most extensive and powerful reassessment of the Holocaust ever undertaken In addition to its international scope the project emphasizes that varied disciplinary perspectives are needed to analyze and to check the genocidal forces that have made the Twentieth century so deadly. Historians and ethicists, psychologists and literary scholars, political scientists and theologians, sociologists and philosophers, all of these and more bring their expertise to bear on the Holocaust and genocide. Their contributions show the new discoveries that are being made and the distinctive approaches that are being developed in the study of genocide, focusing both on archival and oral evidence and on the religious and cultural representation of the Holocaust.

Translating the Poetry of the Holocaust Jean Boase-Beier, 2015-05-24 Taking a cognitive approach, this book asks what poetry and in particular Holocaust poetry does to the reader and to what extent the translation of this poetry can have the same effects. It is informed by current theoretical discussion and features many practical examples. Holocaust poetry differs from other genres of writing about the Holocaust in that it is not so much concerned to document facts as to document feelings and the sense of an experience. It shares the potential of all poetry to have profound effects on the thoughts and feelings of the reader. This book examines how the openness to engagement that Holocaust poetry can engender, achieved through stylistic means, needs to be preserved in translation if the translated poem is to function as a Holocaust poem in any meaningful sense. This is especially true when historical and cultural distance intervenes. The first book of its kind and by a world renowned scholar and translator, this is required reading.

Reading Auschwitz Mary Lagerwey, 1998-10-27 My mind refuses to play its part in the scholarly exercise. I walk around in a daze remembering, occasionally to take a picture. I've heard that many people cry here but I am too numb to feel. The wind whips through my wool coat. I am very cold and I imagine what the wind would have felt like for someone here fifty years ago without coat, boots or gloves. Hours later as I write I tell myself a story about the day, hoping it is true and hoping it will make sense of what I did and did not feel.

_From the Foreword

Most of us learn of Auschwitz and the Holocaust through the writings of Anne Frank and Elie Wiesel. Remarkable as their stories are, they leave many voices of Auschwitz unheard. Mary Lagerwey seeks to complicate our memory of Auschwitz by reading less canonical survivors: Jean Amery, Charlotte Delbo, Fania Fenelon, Szymon Laks, Primo Levi and Sara Nomberg Przytyk. She reads for how gender, social class and ethnicity color their tellings. She asks whether we can, whether we should, make sense of Auschwitz. And throughout Lagerwey reveals her own role in her research, tells of her own fears and anxieties, presenting what she, a non-Jew born after the fall of Nazism, can only know second hand. For any student of the Holocaust, for anyone trying to make sense of the final solution, Reading Auschwitz represents a powerful struggle with what it means to read and tell stories after Auschwitz.

Approaches to Auschwitz Richard L. Rubenstein, John K. Roth, 2003-01-01 Distinctively coauthored by a Christian scholar and a Jewish scholar, this monumental interdisciplinary study explores the various ways in which the Holocaust has been studied and assesses its continuing significance. The authors develop an analysis of the Holocaust's historical roots, its shattering impact on human civilization, and its decisive importance in determining the fate of the world. This revised edition takes into account developments in Holocaust studies since the first edition was published.
