Experience and Religion Wilhelm Dupré, 2005 The enactment of humanity begins with experiences and culminates in the effects of coping with experiences Experience confirms the human potential but indicates also its limitations both in the sense that the absence of experiences undermines established modes of behavior and that disregard and misunderstanding of experiences lead to distorted forms of personal and cultural relations This book is an attempt to localize religion as well as the study of religions within the context of experiences and as a topic of philosophical inquiry Focusing on the question of specifically religious experiences and investigating various models of the relationship between religion and experience the study suggests that no specific experiences are needed to understand the emergence and development of religious traditions and attitudes Assessing the implications of basic questions and attitudes in religious studies it presents a theory of religion which is rooted in the internal dynamics of being human and cultural and marked by a culture oriented understanding of philosophy The book concludes with a discussion of various phenomena which can be addressed as modes and forms of implicit religion since they do not comply with expectations of traditional or explicit religion

Renewing the Senses Mark Wynn, 2013 One and the same sensory scene can be differently experienced by different people or by the same person at different times depending upon their bodily and emotional condition and the concepts which they apply Mark R Wynn applies this familiar truth to the realm of religious experience religious commitments and convictions can make a difference to a person's bodily and emotional condition and their repertoire of concepts and accordingly the capacity to experience the everyday world differently may be one mark of spiritual maturity On this view becoming more mature in spiritual terms is not so much a question of directing your gaze away from this world and towards a non material realm it is instead a matter of discovering how the ordinary everyday world can be newly experienced

Psychology, Religion, and Spirituality James M. Nelson, 2009-02-17 Over a century ago psychologists who were fascinated with religion began to study and write about it Theologians and religious practitioners have responded to this literature producing a fascinating dialogue that deals with our fundamental understandings about the human person and our place in the world This book provides an introduction to the important conversations that have developed out of these interchanges The dialogue between psychology and religion is difficult to study for a number of reasons First it requires knowledge of both psychology and religion People with a background in psychology often lack a solid understanding of the religious traditions they wish to study and theologians may not be up to date on the latest developments in psychology Second it requires conceptual tools to organize the material and understand the basic problems involved in any attempt to connect the science of psychology with religion These concepts can be found in many places for instance in the writings of philosophers of science but they are complex and often hard to follow for those without a proper theological and philosophical background Finally authors who write on the topic come to the study of psychology and religion from a variety of academic and personal backgrounds This makes for wonderful diversity in conversations but it makes understanding and mastery of the material quite difficult Cognitive Models and Spiritual Maps Jensine Andresen, Robert K. C. Forman, 2000 This book throws down a challenge to religious studies offering a multidisciplinary approach including developmental psychology neuropsychology philosophy of mind and anthropology The Oxford Handbook of Acceptance and Commitment Therapy Michael P. Twohig, Michael E. Levin, Julie M. Petersen, 2023 In The Oxford Handbook of Acceptance and Commitment Therapy Michael P.

Twohig Michael E Levin and Julie M Petersen bring together contributions from the world's leading scholars to create a comprehensive volume on established areas of ACT. The Handbook presents the first scholarly review of the treatment as it has developed over the past two to three decades. Featuring 33 chapters on key aspects of the treatment, the contributors offer analysis on ACT's conceptual and theoretical underpinnings, applications to specific populations and problems, methods of implementation, and other special topics. They will further cover theory, empirical support, and scholarly descriptions of treatment application.

C.S. Peirce and the Nested Continua Model of Religious Interpretation Gary Slater, 2015-11-26. This study develops resources in the work of Charles S. Peirce (1839-1914) for the purposes of contemporary philosophy. It contextualizes Peirce's prevailing influences and provides greater context in relation to the currents of nineteenth-century thought. Dr. Gary Slater articulates a nested continua model for theological interpretation, which is indebted to Peirce's creation of Existential Graphs, a system of diagrams designed to provide visual representation of the process of human reasoning. He investigates how the model can be applied by looking at recent debates in historiography. He deals respectively with Peter Ochs and Robert C. Neville as contemporary manifestations of Peircean philosophical theology. This work concludes with an assessment of the model's theological implications.

Encyclopædia of Religion and Ethics: Suffering-Zwingli James Hastings, John Alexander Selbie, Louis Herbert Gray, 1922. Scope: theology, philosophy, ethics of various religions and ethical systems and relevant portions of anthropology, mythology, folklore, biology, psychology, economics, and sociology.

The Concept of God, the Origin of the World, and the Image of the Human in the World Religions P. Koslowski, 2001-11-30. The five-volume series was designed for the World Exposition Expo 2000 in Hanover, Germany, to contribute to the dialogue of the world religions. After an introduction to the conflict of religion and the mission of a philosophy of the world religions, scholars of philosophy and religion from the east and west ring the three themes through the perspectives of Hinduism, Buddhism, Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. The 12 talks were presented to the first discourse in Emden, Germany, in September 1999. There is no subject index. Annotation copyrighted by Book News, Inc., Portland, OR.
