Michael Barber, Duncan Graham, The Practice and Theory of School Improvement David Hopkins, 2008-05-13 ANDY HARGREAVES Department of Teacher Education Curriculum and Instruction Lynch School of Education Boston College MA U S A ANN LIEBERMAN Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching Stanford CA U S A MICHAEL FULLAN Ontario Institute for Studies in Education University of Toronto Canada DAVID HOPKINS Department for Education and Skills London U K This set of four volumes on Educational Change brings together evidence and insights on educational change issues from leading writers and researchers in the field from across the world Many of these writers whose chapters have been specially written for these books have been investigating helping initiate and implementing educational change for most or all of their lengthy careers Others are working on the cutting edge of theory and practice in educational change taking the field in new or even more challenging directions And some are more skeptical about the literature of educational change and the assumptions on which it rests They help us to approach projects of understanding or initiating educational change more deeply reflectively and realistically Educational change and reform have rarely had so much prominence within public policy in so many different places Educational change is ubiquitous It figures large in Presidential and Prime Ministerial speeches It is at or near the top of many National policy agendas Everywhere educational change is not only a policy priority but also major public news Yet action to bring about educational change usually exceeds people s understanding of how to do so effectively Cross Curricular Contexts, Themes And Dimensions In Primary Schools Gajendra K. Verma,2005-06-21 The final volume of four the authors consider how the concerns of ethnic groups may be addressed within the framework of the National Curriculum Despite the indecision surrounding primary school curriculum it remains that the multicultural nature of the population and of schools will develop A Century of Change in Music Education Stephanie Pitts,2019-01-04 Published in 2000 Education in our schools is a constant feature of media headlines often blamed for many of society s ills Perceived throughout the ages as civilizing force music has a fundamental role to play in education yet the last twenty years have seen a consistent erosion of the time and money made available to music teachers in our schools This book is a timely reminder of how we have arrived at the current debates and challenges of music education Stephanie Pitts charts the history of music teaching in British secondary schools over the course of the twentieth century Each chapter looks at a significant period of music education history in which the ideas and practices of a generation were established and refined The main educational publications of each decade are examined from the early by MacPherson Somervell and Yorke Trotter to the more recent thinking of Paynter and Swanwick The shifting perceptions of music in the school curriculum are nowhere better highlighted than in the changing focus on children s engagement with music from the musical appreciation lessons of the 1920 s and 1930 s to the post war concentration on performance and the 1970 s emphasis on improvisation and composition There and many other trends are discussed in the book allowing today s music educators to see their own practice in its historical context National and Transnational Elite Influences on Education Romuald Normand,Leif Moos,Luís Miguel Carvalho,2025-06-28 This collection focuses on transformations in the governance of education paying attention to the transnationalisation of educational policies and the emergence of new actors in education It focuses on the knowledge and instruments of government that shape education systems at different scales of governance The book is a contribution to this field of research focusing on the new roles and responsibilities of elites inside and outside the education state It offers in depth case studies based on an international comparison examining the dynamics at work in the production and circulation of knowledge the interplay of interests and power and the ability of elites to define and lead public action programmes The research and reflections presented in this book will help students researchers practitioners and policy makers to better understand the transformations in decision making at a time of globalisation and nationalism in education Science Education James F Donnelly,Edgar W Jenkins,2001-01-26 Who wants to change school science education and why What mechanisms exist to effect change What implications do they have for teachers professionalism These are the principal questions explored in this book The authors focus on strategies for effecting change including decentralized and statutory mechanisms and the use of systems of assessment The authors question the effectiveness of centralized programmes in improving the quality of students science education They suggest that this arises from a failure to acknowledge the contribution that the science teaching profession must make to reform They argue that sustained and effective change embodying improvements in standards depends upon promoting the initiative

Change is a state of the art collection of the most important ideas and evidence of educational change The book brings together some of the most influential thinkers and writers on educational change It deals with issues like educational innovation reform restructuring culture building inspection school review and change management It asks why some people resist change and what their resistance means It looks at how men and women older teachers and younger teachers experience change differently It looks at the positive aspects of change but does not hesitate to raise uncomfortable questions about many aspects of educational change either It looks critically and controversially at the social economic cultural and political forces that are driving educational change School leaders system administration teacher leaders consultants facilitators educational researchers staff developers and change agents of all kinds will find this book an indispensable resource for guiding them to both classic and cutting edge understandings of educational change no other work provides as comprehensive coverage of the field of educational change     Education, Reform and the State John Furlong, Robert Phillips, 2002-11 This book supplies the definitive contemporary history of education policy in the late twentieth century Some of the leading educationalists reflect on the major legislative and structural changes in the field over the last 25 years     The National Curriculum Michael Barber, Chris Woodhead, Sheila Dainton, 1996     Equality in the Primary School Dave Hill, Leena Helavaara Robertson, 2011-11-24 Drawing on a wealth of knowledge from a diverse group of contributors this volume addresses the importance of going beyond equal opportunities The contributors provide a compelling argument for promoting equality in primary schools Issues covered include social class race gender sexual orientation disability and special educational needs with reference to all subjects taught at primary school level     War Words: Language, History and the Disciplining of English Urszula Clark, 2021-10-01 Debates about the nature of literacy and literacy practices have been conducted extensively in the last fifteen years or so The fact that both previous and current British governments have effectively suppressed any real debate makes the publication of this book both timely and important Here Urszula Clark stresses the underlying ideological character of such debates and shows that they have deep historical roots She also makes the point that issues regarding the relationship between language and identity especially national identity become sharply focused at times of crisis in that identity By undertaking a comparison with other major English speaking countries most notably Australia New Zealand and the USA Clark shows how these times of crisis reverberate around the globe
