The Radiance of the King Camara Laye, 2011-08-16 At the beginning of this masterpiece of African literature Clarence a white man has been shipwrecked on the coast of Africa Flush with self importance he demands to see the king but the king has just left for the south of his realm Traveling through an increasingly phantasmagoric landscape in the company of a beggar and two roguish boys Clarence is gradually stripped of his pretensions until he is sold to the royal harem as a slave But in the end Clarence s bewildering journey is the occasion of a revelation as he discovers the image both shameful and beautiful of his own humanity in the alien splendor of the king Africa in the Bengali Imagination Mahruba T. Mowtushi, 2024-10-02 This book examines textual representations of Africa in the Indian imagination from 1928 to 1973 It critically analyses Bengali literature during this period their imitation of colonial racial prejudices and how it allowed Bengalis to fashion their identity It analyses the development of Africa as an idea and historical reality through the writings of five Bengali writers including the Bengali novelist Bibhutibhushan Bandyopadhyay the children s author Hemendra Kumar Roy the poet and philosopher Rabindranath Tagore the playwright Ganesh Bagchi and the surrealist poet and founding editor of Transition magazine Rajat Neogy The book shows how these writers engage with the idea of Africa and their influence in the construction of the Bengali cultural identity during the freedom struggle the Partition of Bengal in 1947 and the creation of Bangladesh in 1971 The book offers readers a glimpse of the exotic imaginary locales of Africa while offering an in depth look into the interconnected histories cartographic routes and cultural exchange between India and Africa A first of its kind this book will be an excellent read for students and scholars of literature comparative literature history cultural studies postcolonial studies South Asian studies African studies and diaspora studies

Staging Blackness and Performing Whiteness in Eighteenth-Century German Drama Wendy Sutherland, 2017-05-15 Focusing on eighteenth century cultural productions Wendy Sutherland examines how representations of race in philosophy anthropology aesthetics drama and court painting influenced the construction of a white bourgeois German self Sutherland positions her work within the framework of the transatlantic slave trade showing that slavery colonialism and the triangular trade between Europe West Africa and the Caribbean function as the global stage on which German bourgeois dramas by Friedrich Wilhelm Ziegler Ernst Lorenz Rathlef and Theodor K rner and a novella by Heinrich von Kleist on which K rner s play was based were performed against a backdrop of philosophical and anthropological influences Plays had an important role in educating the rising bourgeois class in morality Sutherland argues with fathers and daughters offered as exemplary moral figures in contrast to the depraved aristocracy At the same time black female protagonists in nontraditional dramas represent the boundaries of physical beauty and marriage eligibility while also complicating ideas of moral beauty embodied in the concept of the beautiful soul Her book offers convincing evidence that the eighteenth century German stage grappled with the representation of blackness during the Age of Goethe even though the German states were neither colonial powers nor direct participants in the slave trade Africa Writing Europe Maria Olausson, Christina Angelfors, 2009 Africa Writing Europe offers critical readings of the meaning and presence of Europe in a variety of African literary texts Authors discussed include Leila Aboulela Tatamkhulu Afrika Alice Solomon Bowen Ken Bugul and Tayeb Salih Political Values and the Educated Class in Africa Ali Al'Amin Mazrui, 1978-01-01 Hemingway and Africa Miriam B. Mandel, 2011 New scholarly essays providing a multifaceted approach to the role of Africa in Hemingway's life and work Sound of Africa! Louise Meintjes, 2003-02-05 An ethnography of the recording of Mbaqanga music that examines its relation to issues of identity South African politics and global political economy Theory in Africa, Africa in Theory Stephanie Wynne-Jones, Jeffrey Fleisher, 2015-06-19 Theory in Africa Africa in Theory explores the place of Africa in archaeological theory and the place of theory in African archaeology The centrality of Africa to global archaeological thinking is highlighted with a particular focus on materiality and agency in contemporary interpretation As a means to explore the nature of theory itself the volume also addresses differences between how African models are used in western theoretical discourse and the use of that theory within Africa Providing a key contribution to theoretical discourse through a focus on the context of theory building this volume explores how African modes of thought have shaped our approaches to a meaningful past outside of Africa A timely intervention into archaeological thought Theory in Africa Africa in Theory deconstructs the conventional ways we approach the past positioning the continent within a global theoretical discourse and blending Western and African scholarship This volume will be a valuable resource for those interested in the archaeology of Africa as well as providing fresh perspectives to those interested in archaeological theory more generally An African Voice Robert W. July, 1987-04-10 Through the work of leading African writers artists musicians and educators from Nobel prizewinner Wole Soyinka to names hardly known outside their native lands An African Voice describes the contributions of the humanities to the achievement of independence for the peoples of black Africa following the Second World War While concentrating on cultural independence these leading humanists also demonstrate the intimate connection between cultural freedom and genuine political economic liberty Institutionalised Dreams Elżbieta Dążkiewicz, 2020-01-01 Using examples from Poland Elżbieta Dążkiewicz explores the question of why states become donors and individuals decide to share their wealth with others through foreign aid She comes to the conclusion that the concept of foreign aid requires the establishment of a specific moral economy which links national ideologies and local cultures of charitable giving with broader ideas about the global political economy It is through these processes that faith in foreign aid interventions as a solution to global issues is generated The book also explores the relationship linking a state institution with its NGO partners as well as international players such as the EU or OECD Martin: Queer Africa , 2023-01-10 Queer Africa is a collection of unapologetic tangled tender funny bruising and brilliant stories about the many ways in which we love each other on the continent In these unafraid stories of intimacy sweat betrayal and restless confidences we accompany characters into cafés tattoo salons the barest of bedrooms coldly gleaming spaces into which the rich withdraw unlit streets and their own deepest interiors

Hegel and the Third World Teshale Tibebu, 2011-02-02 Hegel more than any other modern Western philosopher produced the most systematic case for the superiority of Western white Protestant bourgeois modernity He established a racially structured ladder of gradation of the peoples of the world putting Germanic people at the top of the racial pyramid people of Asia in the middle and Africans and Indigenous people of the Americas and Pacific Islands at the bottom In Hegel and the Third World Tibebu guides the reader through Hegel's presentation on universalism to argue that such a classification flows in part from Hegel's philosophy of the development of human consciousness Hegel classified Africans as people arrested at the lowest and most immediate stage of consciousness that of the senses Asians as people with divided consciousness that of the understanding and Europeans as people of reason Tibebu demonstrates that Hegel's views were not his alone but reflected the fundamental beliefs of other major figures of Western thought at the time With detailed analysis and thorough research Hegel and the Third World challenges the central idea of Hegel's philosophy of history progress In addition Tibebu succeeds in providing a fascinating critique of the Western philosopher's rationalization of the gradual decline suffered by the people of the Third World in the context of modern world history

Space Alison Blunt, Gillian Rose, 1994-08-19 Drawing lessons from the complex and often contradictory position of white women writing in the colonial period This unique book explores how feminism and poststructuralism can bring new types of understanding to the production of geographical knowledge Through a series of colonial and postcolonial case studies essays address the ways in which white women have written and mapped different geographies in both the late nineteenth century and today illustrating the diverse objects landscapes spaces views the variety of media letters travel writing paintings sculpture cartographic maps political discourse and the different understandings and representations of people and place

Reading and Seeing Ethnic Differences in the Enlightenment B. Tautz, 2007-04-02 This book investigates the contested ways in which eighteenth century German philosophers scientists poets and dramatists perceived and represented China and Africa from 1680 to 1830 Tautz demonstrates in compelling ways that reading China allowed for the integration of cultural difference into Enlightenment universalism whereas seeing Africa exposed irreducible differences that undermined any claims of universality By working through the case of eighteenth century Germany and Europe the book adds an important cross cultural and historical dimension to questions relevant to our world today Postcolonial Criticism and

Representations of African Dictatorship Cecile Bishop, 2017-07-05 The figure of the dictator looms large in representations of postcolonial Africa Since the late 1970s writers film makers and theorists have sought to represent the realities of dictatorship without endorsing the colonialist clichés portraying Africans as incapable of self government Against the heavily politicized responses provoked by this dilemma Bishop argues for a form of criticism that places the complexity of the reader's or spectator's experiences at the heart of its investigations Ranging across literature film and political theory this study calls for a reengagement with notions often seen as unwelcome diversions from political questions such as referentiality genre and aesthetics But rather than pit political approaches against formal and aesthetic procedures the author presents new insights into the interplay of the political and the aesthetic Cecile Bishop is a Junior Research Fellow in French at Somerville College Oxford
