Mother & Myth in Spanish Novels Sandra J. Schumm, 2011-08-16 What if the goddess Athena who sprang fully grown from Zeus's head and denied she had a mother became aware of the compelling existence of her other parent What if she discovered that her mother Metis first wife of Zeus and wiser than all gods and mortal men according to Hesiod was swallowed by her father and continued to impart her wisdom to him from inside his belly Recent Spanish novels by women parallel this hypothetical situation based on Greek myth by featuring female protagonists who obsessively re-examine the lives of their mothers seeking to know and understand them In Mother and Myth in Spanish Novels Sandra J. Schumm examines six narratives by Spanish authors published since 2000 that focus on a daughter's search to know more about her matriarchal heritage Carme Riera's La mitad del alma Lucía Etxebarria's Un milagro en equilibrio Rosa Montero's El corazón del toro Cristina Cerezales's De oca a oca María de la Pau Janer's Las mujeres que hay en mí and Soledad Purlolas's Historia de un abrigo In each of these novels the protagonist realizes that failure to integrate the loss of her mother into her life results in the inability to define her self Without valorization of the maternal subject the legacy of the daughter is at risk she is also objectified and swallowed and the whole society suffers The daughters' attention to their mothers in these novels is as if Athena had finally recognized that her mother Metis had been ingested by Zeus The myth of Metis and Athena becomes a metaphor of the daughter's quest toward wholeness and individuation in these works she begins to understand that her maternal legacy is a source of wisdom that has been obscured These novels by Spanish women strengthen the mother's voice rescue her from anonymity and rewrite the matriarchal archetype

The Animal Mind Margaret Floy Washburn, 1913 Excerpt from book CHAPTER II The Evidence Of Mind 6 Inferring Mind from Behavior In the last chapter we saw that some recent writers upon animal behavior and its interpretation while refusing to admit the presence of consciousness in all forms of animal life yet hold that it can be proved to exist in certain forms The latter it is maintained display certain peculiarities of behavior that may be regarded as proofs of a psychic accompaniment Into the nature of these proofs we may now inquire To begin with can it be said that when an animal makes a movement in response to a certain stimulus there is an accompanying consciousness of the stimulus and that when it fails to move there is no consciousness Is response to stimulation evidence of consciousness In the case of man we know that absence of visible response does not prove that the stimulus has not been sensed while it is probable that some effect upon motor channels always occurs when consciousness accompanies stimulation the effect may not be apparent to an outside observer On the other hand if movement in response to the impact of a physical force is evidence of consciousness then the ball which falls under the influence of gravity and rebounds on striking the floor is conscious Nor is the case improved if we point out that the movements which animals make in response to stimulation are not the equivalent in energy of the stimulus applied but involve the setting free of energy stored in the animal as well True when a microscopic animal meets an obstacle in its swimming and darts backward the movement is not a mere rebound it implies energy contributed by the animal s own body But just so an explosion of gunpowder is not the equivalent in energy of the heat of the match the stimulus Similarly it is Annotation Published April 2014 Shadow of the Moon M.
