Look to the Mountain Legrand Cannon,1968 Look to the Mountain Le Grand Cannon,1944 Looking to the Future Derek Hodson,2011-10-25 In advocating an action oriented and issues based curriculum this book takes the position that a major but shamefully neglected goal of science and technology education is to equip students with the knowledge skills attitudes and values to confront the complex and often ill defined socioscientific issues they encounter in daily life as citizens in an increasingly technology dominated world carefully critically confidently and responsibly In outlining proposals for addressing socioscientific issues through a curriculum organized in terms of four increasingly sophisticated levels of consideration the author adopts a highly critical and politicized stance towards the norms and values that underpin both scientific and technological development and contemporary scientific engineering and medical practice criticizes mainstream STS and STSE education for adopting a superficial politically na ve and hence educationally ineffective approach to consideration of socioscientific issues takes the view that environmental problems are social problems occasioned by the values that underpin the ways in which we choose to live and urges teachers to encourage students to reach their own views through debate and argument about where they stand on major socioscientific issues including the moral ethical issues they often raise More controversially the author argues that if students are to become responsible and politically active citizens the curriculum needs to provide opportunities for them to experience and learn from sociopolitical action The relative merits of direct and indirect action are addressed notions of learning about action learning through action and learning from action are developed and a case is made for compiling a user friendly database reflecting on both successful and less successful action oriented curriculum initiatives Finally the book considers some of the important teacher education issues raised by this radically new approach to teaching and learning science and technology The book is intended primarily for teachers and student teachers of science technology and environmental education graduate students and researchers in education teacher educators curriculum developers and those responsible for educational policy The author is Emeritus Professor of Science

Education at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education University of Toronto Adjunct Professor of Science Education at the University of Auckland and Visiting Professor of Science Education at the University of Hong Kong His research interests include considerations in the history philosophy and sociology of science and their implications for science and technology education STSE education and the politicization of both students and teachers science curriculum history multicultural and antiracist education and teacher education via action research

After a Long Winter's Sleep Dr. Michael Bunch, 2025-03-26 Over the course of our walk with the Lord we inevitably experience many ups and downs Eventually there will come a time when we feel remote from the Lord and even at times as if we have been abandoned by Him This is far from the truth As we struggle walk run stumble and fall He is right there at our side Even when the darkness surrounds us so completely that we can see nothing except the impending doom within the darkness He is there In those times He carries us when we feel that we cannot endure anymore He wraps us in His loving arms showers us with His Shekinah glory and bathes us in His compassion This gives us renewed strength to continue to struggle on to the ultimate victory These dark moments are not pleasant but they are essential to our growth into what the Lord has planned for us to become I as the author of this book hope that at least one or more of these short stories will touch you during one of the inevitable dark moments and remind you that you are a precious child of the Lord and He has you firmly by the hand as He guides you forward to the fulfillment of your walk in Christ
