Man's conquest of Nature turns out,
in the moment of its consummation,
to be Nature's conquest of Man.

Minkov, Bernhardt L. Trout, 2018-02-02 In the early modern period thinkers began to suggest that philosophy abjure the ideal of dispassionate contemplation of the natural world in favor of a more practically minded project that aimed to make human beings masters and possessors of nature Humanity would seize control of its own fate and overthrow the rule by hostile natural or imaginary forces The gradual spread of liberal democratic government the Enlightenment and the rise of technological modernity are to a considerable extent the fruits of this early modern shift in intellectual concern and focus But these long term trends have also brought unintended consequences in their wake as the dynamic forces of social reason historical progress and the continued recalcitrance of the natural world have combined to disillusion humans of the possibility even the desirability of their mastery over nature The essays in Mastery of Nature constitute an extensive analysis of the fundamental aspects of the human grasp of nature What is the foundation and motive of the modern project in the first place What kind of a world did its early advocates hope to bring about Contributors not only examine the foundational theories espoused by early modern thinkers such as Machiavelli Bacon Descartes and Hobbes but also explore the criticisms and corrections that appeared in the works of Rousseau Kant Nietzsche and Heidegger Ranging from ancient Greek thought to contemporary quantum mechanics Mastery of Nature investigates to what extent nature can be conquered to further human ends and to what extent such mastery is compatible with human flourishing Contributors Robert C Bartlett Mark Blitz Daniel A Doneson Michael A Gillespie Ralph Lerner Paul Ludwig Harvey C Mansfield Arthur Melzer Svetozar Y Minkov Christopher Nadon Diana J Schaub Adam Schulman Devin Stauffer Bernhardt L Trout Lise van Boxel Richard Velkley Stuart D Warner Jerry Weinberger Living Nonviolently Gabriel Moran, 2011-03-31 Are human beings naturally violent Is war the fate of the human race Despite the depressing record of the past the world's future depends upon avoiding war and drastically reducing violence Living Nonviolently: Language for Resisting Violence examines carefully the language of violence and war. One of the first casualties of violence is language which in turn makes resistance to violence difficult to articulate. In the first four chapters Gabriel Moran proposes distinctions for the interconnected ideas of force, power, aggressiveness, violence, and war, not to invent a new and logical language but to ground the meaning of these terms in our human experience. That revitalization of ordinary language depends upon an inclusive language of men and women, adults and children, human and nonhuman animals. The fifth chapter locates the potential for both encouraging violence and resisting violence in the peculiar logic of religion. Jesus' Sermon on the Mount is commonly invoked by people who say that nonviolence may be an admirable ideal for a few people but it is irrelevant for most people and for all nations. In this chapter Moran examines the widely misunderstood sermon in detail to illustrate its potential for resisting violence. For a conclusion he discusses practical means of education that are helpful to reaching some understanding of violence and resistance to violence. Living Nonviolently is written for scholars in peace studies, political philosophy, or religious studies and for anyone who wishes to understand the roots of violence and war.

The Nature and Destiny of Man Reinhold Niebuhr, 2021-11-02 The Nature and Destiny of Man issues a vigorous challenge to Western civilization to understand its roots in the faith of the Bible, particularly in the Hebraic tradition. Niebuhr here lays out his influential understanding of the two poles of human existence: finitude and freedom. Individual human thriving requires that we fully understand and honor both of these aspects of our nature, yet human history demonstrates our penchant for placing one over the other. This book is arguably Reinhold Niebuhr's most important work. It offers a sustained articulation of Niebuhr's theological ethics and is considered a landmark in twentieth-century thought. Tao, Nature and Man Yuelin Jin, 2020-01-02 This book presents the research achievements of Jin Yuelin, the first logician and a prominent philosopher in China, who founded a new philosophical system combining elements from Western and Chinese philosophical traditions, especially the concept of Tao. It consists of three sections: the first section interprets Jin's studies on Chinese philosophy, Russell's ideology, and other general discussions in the field; section 2 includes Jin's studies on logic, which made him the founding father of modern logic in China; and section 3 presents Jin's ideas on politics, including his studies on Thomas Hill Green.
