The INTRAfaiTh Conversation: How Do Christians Talk Among Ourselves About INTERfaith Matters? Susan Strouse,2016-03-18 This crisp and cogent book by the Rev Dr Strouse is published at a time when both interfaith and intrafaith dialogue are critical to the vitality of spiritual life in our nation As a parish pastor in a small struggling congregation I have become increasingly aware of the insularity and isolation of many of our parishioners This seems less the result of inadequate parish education as it is the byproduct of too many people getting their information from biased TV networks so called social media or word of mouth We parish pastors need to examine our internal intra congregational conversations about diverse faith traditions and how they bear on congregational mission I was particularly impressed by the author s use of footnotes and her extensive bibliography The book is a walking talking workshop in print with its detailed reflection discussion questions and suggestions for further reading Thank you Pastor Strouse for such a comprehensive presentation of how to approach constructively this

Leave It in the Ground John C. Berg, 2019-09-03

Employing scientific explanations and hard data this book shows why coal is such a problem how the pro coal forces got to be so powerful and how those forces might be defeated through political activism Coal provided the energy to build modern civilization This energy source raised standards of living multiplied the earth's population and enabled people in developed countries to enjoy leisure time Today we know that if we burn all the coal available climate change will continue to increase But the use of coal isn't purely an environmental issue political and economic forces are also at play This book examines the politics and environmental impact of coal production and distribution presenting a clear point of view that we must shift away from coal use backed by hard data and supplying specific prescriptions for opposing and regulating the coal industry John C Berg explains how ending the burning of coal and of oil and natural gas is a political problem rather than a technical one explodes the clean coal myth providing scientific documentation of how burning coal emits more greenhouse gases per unit of energy than any other fuel and describes how controlling coal use in the United States will also restore the possibility of a meaningful international climate agreement Additionally readers will understand the critical importance of activism from local to international in spurring government regulation to control the coal industry which can only be defeated politically

God is Green Bob Shore-Goss, 2016-10-28

At this time of climate crisis here is a practical Christian ecospirituality It emerges from the pastoral and theological experience of Reverend Robert Shore Goss who worked with his congregation by making the earth a member of the church by greening worship and by helping the church building and operations attain a carbon neutral footprint Shore Goss explores an ecospirituality grounded in incarnational compassion Practicing incarnational compassion means following the lived praxis of Jesus and the commission of the risen Christ as Gardener Jesus becomes the green face of God Restrictive Christian spiritualities that exclude the earth as an original blessing of God must expand This expansion leads to the realization that the incarnation of Christ has deep roots in the earth and the fleshly or biological tissue of life This book aims to foster ecological conversation in churches and outlines the following practices for congregations meditating on nature inviting sermons on green topics covenanting with the earth and retrieving the natural elements of the sacraments These practices help us recover ourselves as fleshly members of the earth and the network of life If we fall in love with God's creation says Shore Goss we will fight against climate change Landscape of the Soul W. Vance Grace, 2020-05-20 The North American church is struggling Our society seems to be coming apart at the seams and Christianity appears on the verge of losing its voice its leadership and its youth The church's calling is to cooperate with her Creator in the repair of the world Instead we struggle in the loss of the simplicity of the natural images of Jesus which compel us to engage tension dependency and the lesson of being on the margins Until we learn to take our cues from a world we did not build our actions will continue to prop up a society struggling from the weight of its own ethos Part history part cultural dialogue part travelogue always in conversation with the ancient and compelling biblical vision of shalom Landscape of the Soul will encourage you to see beyond the shells of your constructed world to those places where dynamic spiritual rhythms can still be found If Mayors Ruled the World Benjamin R. Barber, 2013-11-05 In the face of the most perilous challenges of our time climate change terrorism poverty and trafficking of drugs guns and people the nations of the world seem paralyzed The problems are too big for governments to deal with Benjamin Barber contends that cities and the mayors who run them can do and are doing a better job than nations He cites the unique qualities cities worldwide share pragmatism civic trust participation indifference to borders and sovereignty and a democratic penchant for networking creativity innovation and cooperation He demonstrates how city mayors singly and jointly are responding to transnational problems more effectively than nation states mired in ideological infighting and sovereign rivalries The book features profiles of a dozen mayors around the world making a persuasive case that the city is democracy's best hope in a globalizing world and that great mayors are already proving that this is so The Geography of God's Incarnation Ann Pederson, 2013-07-25 What does geography have to do with the incarnation of God and with our spiritual lives as Christians We will embark on a theological road trip that explores how geographies are at the heart of understanding of God's incarnation in the world It is no surprise to Christians that the center of the incarnation is the person of Jesus Christ God in flesh made manifest However it might be a stretch for some Christians to imagine that the promise that God has become flesh is not only in a person but also in a place in the creation Christians need to expand what incarnation means and what it means to be created in the image of God so that the scope of God's creative and redemptive action and work indeed reaches to the scope of all things
