Race And Education The Roles Of History And Society In Educating African American Students:

Race and Education William Henry Watkins, James H. Lewis, Victoria Chou, 2001 This book is comprised of fifteen in depth research based essays in which noted educators discuss the history politics challenges and progress of the education of African Americans

The Broken Cisterns of African American Education M. Christopher Brown, RoSusan D. Barteo, 2008-12-01 The failure of American education to achieve racial diversity has resulted from the inability of educational researchers policy makers and judicial officials to disentangle the complex definitions that have emerged in a post segregated society More specifically the capricious aim of post segregated educational settings leads to the confusing and often conflicting interchangeable usage of terms desegregated integrated and diversity This ambiguity is further confounded by the imprecise definitions of equity equality and opportunity The proposed book will examine the role of language post Brown v Board of Education and the effects of that language on educational policy and practice He also examines how the fundamental implications of language within post Brown court cases in pre through post secondary education demonstrate the unspecified outcomes for desegregation and integration while concomitantly demand an educational continuum of equitable distribution The arguments will further interrogate how education policy and practices implicitly contain a scholarly roadmap to forge equal opportunity and access fifty years after Brown

Race and Racism in Education Liz Jackson, Michael A. Peters, 2022-12-09 Racism has been endemic in the history of western societies while the nature of race as a social category of difference is controversial and rigorously contested from scholarly and everyday perspectives today This edited collection traces the history of considerations of the meaning and importance of race and racism in society and education through a deep dive into the contents of the archives of the journal Educational Philosophy and Theory Journal articles from the 1970s to today have been carefully selected throughout the text to showcase the trends and transformations in the field of educational philosophy over time While historically western analytic philosophy of education did not focus particularly on race and racism this changed in the 1990s with the emergence of critical conversations about social justice that moved beyond liberal models More recently historical and theoretical accounts have sought to understand the processes of racialization in depth as well as the intersectional nature of race privilege and discrimination across contemporary diverse societies worldwide Taken together the pieces in this book illustrates both the history of theorizing about race and racism in educational philosophy and theory as well as the breadth of present day concerns This collection provides a foundation for developing a historical understanding of the position of race and racism in philosophy of education while it also inspires new works in Critical Race Theory Black and African Studies critical pedagogy and related areas Additionally it will inspire educators and scholars across diverse fields to further consider the significance of race and racism in education and in research in the present age
