Re Creations Visualizing Our Past:

Re-creations Mark Redknap, 2002 This beautiful book looks at the ways we illustrate our past through the eyes of artists craftspeople historians and scientists

Computers, Visualization, and History David J Staley, 2015-04-16 This visionary and thoroughly accessible book examines how digital environments and virtual reality have altered the ways historians think and communicate ideas and how the new language of visualization transforms our understanding of the past Drawing on familiar graphic models maps flow charts museum displays films the author shows how images can often convey ideas and information more efficiently and accurately than words With emerging digital technology these images will become more sophisticated manipulable and multidimensional and provide historians with new tools and environments to construct historical narratives Moving beyond the traditional book based on linear narrative digital scholarship based on visualization and hypertext will offer multiple perspectives dimensions and experiences that transform the ways historians work and people imagine and learn about history This second edition of Computers Visualization and History features expanded coverage of such topics as sequential narratives 3 D modeling simulation and video games as well as our theoretical understanding of space and immersive experience The author has also added Guidelines for Visual Composition in History for history and social studies teachers who wish to use technology for student assignments Also new to the second edition is a web link feature that users of the digital edition can use to enhance visualization within the text

The Palgrave Handbook of the History of Human Sciences David McCallum, 2022-08-27 The Palgrave Handbook of the History of Human Sciences offers a uniquely comprehensive and global overview of the evolution of ideas concepts and policies within the human sciences Drawn from histories of the social and psychological sciences anthropology the history and philosophy of science and the history of ideas this collection analyses the health and welfare of populations evidence of the changing nature of our local communities cities societies or global movements and studies the way our humanness or human nature undergoes shifts because of broader technological shifts or patterns of living This Handbook serves as an authoritative reference to a vast source of representative scholarly work in interdisciplinary fields a means of understanding patterns of social change and the conduct of institutions as well as the histories of these ways of knowing probe the contexts circumstances and conditions which underpin continuity and change in the way we count analyse and understand ourselves in our different social worlds It reflects a critical scholarly interest in both traditional and emerging concerns on the relations between the biological and social sciences and between these and changes and continuities in societies and conducts as 21st century research moves into new intellectual and geographic territories more diverse fields and global problematics

The First Stones William Britnell, Alasdair Whittle, 2022-12-01 The First Stones brings together the results of recent research on the Neolithic long cairns lying in the shadow of the Black Mountains in south east Wales focusing upon Penywyrldod and Gwernvale the two best known tombs within the group previously excavated in the 1970s Important results lie in both new site detail and reassessment of the wider context Small scale excavation geophysical survey and geological assessment at Penywyrlod the largest of the Welsh long cairns gave further information about the distinctive external and internal architecture of the monument In turn this opened the opportunity to reassess the pre monument sequence at Gwernvale with re examination of both Mesolithic and Neolithic occupations including a timber structure and midden lithic and pottery assemblages and cereal remains The frame for wider reassessment is given by fresh chronological modeling both of the monuments themselves suggesting a sequence from Penywyrlod and Pipton to Ty Isaf and Gwernvale probably spanning the 38th to the 36th or 35th centuries cal BC and of early Neolithic activity in south Wales and the Marches probably beginning in the 39th century cal BC A detailed study of the major assemblages of human remains from the Black Mountains tombs includes evidence for diet trauma and lifestyles of the populations represented Recent isotope analysis of human remains from the tombs is also reviewed implying social mobility and migration within local populations during the early Neolithic The First Stones makes a significant contribution to the study of tomb building treatment of the dead place making the relationship of monuments to landscape local and regional identities connections and affiliations across southern Britain and the adjacent continent and Neolithization in western Britain Viewed within the context of tombs within the Cotswold Severn tradition as a whole it leads to an appreciation of the local and regional distinctiveness of architecture and mortuary practice exhibited by the tombs in this area of south east Wales emerging as part of the intake of a significant inland area in the early centuries of the Neolithic

Last House on the Hill Mirjana Stevanovic,Ruth Tringham,2012-12-31 Recipient of the Jo Anne Stolaroff Cotsen Prize Occupied from around 7500 BC to 5700 BC the large Neolithic and Chalcolithic settlement of Catalhoyuk in Anatolia is composed entirely of domestic buildings no public buildings have been identified First excavated in the early 1960s the site was left untouched until 1993 During the summers of 1997 2003 a team from the University of California at Berkeley the BACH team excavated an area at the northern end of the East Mound of Catalhoyuk The houses there date predominantly to the late Aceramic and early Ceramic Neolithic around 7000 BC Last House on the Hill is the final report of the BACH excavations This volume comprises both interpretive chapters and empirical data from the excavations and their materials The research of the BACH team focuses on the lives and life histories of houses and people the use of digital technologies in documenting and sharing the archaeological process the senses of place and the nature of cultural heritage and our public responsibilities

Bones and Ochre Marianne Sommer,2007 When ochre stained bones were unearthed by William Buckland in a Welsh cave in 1823 they raised many unsettling questions regarding their origin and inspired the casting and recasting of the character who became known as the Red Lady Her biography reflects the personal professional and national ambitions of those who studied her

Anglo-Saxon Studies in Archaeology and History 14 Sarah Semple,Howard Williams,2007-10-10 Volume 14 of the Anglo Saxon Studies in Archaeology and History series is dedicated to the archaeology of early medieval death burial and commemoration Incorporating studies focusing upon Anglo Saxon England as well as high school teachers who are teaching digital history for the first time or for experienced teachers who want to reinvigorate their pedagogy It can also serve those who are training future teachers to prepare their own syllabi as well as teachers who want to incorporate digital history into their history courses Offering design principles for approaching digital history that represent the possibilities that digital research and scholarship can take Jennifer Guiliano outlines potential strategies and methods for building syllabi and curricula Taking readers through the process of selecting data identifying learning outcomes and determining which tools students will use in the classroom Guiliano outlines popular research methods including digital source criticism text analysis and visualization She also discusses digital archives exhibits and collections as well as audiovisual and mixed media narratives such as short documentaries podcasts and multimodal storytelling Throughout Guiliano illuminates how digital history can enhance understandings of not just what histories are told but how they are told and who has access to them

Digital Intentions Explorations and Accidents ,2008-01-15 Digital design as seen on the following pages is no longer a discipline with a single visual signature redefining what is visually real but rather branches into a myriad of visual languages intellectual pursuits and experiential tones The frames that used to define digital creativities even a decade ago are constantly being re framed Accordingly essays in this compilation were divided into four subject categories directing the reader s attention to various thematic readings This division reflects the ever growing richness and diversity of digitally created content However any categorization is a simplified convention that provides artificial boundaries The included projects cover broad conceptual visual and educational themes While each paper is internally consistent and coherent they often cross established boundaries and venture into the unknown

The Art of Self-Improvement Anna Katharina Schaffner,2021-01-01 A brilliant distillation of the key ideas behind successful self improvement practices throughout history showing us how they remain relevant today Schaffner finds more in contemporary self improvement literature to admire than criticize A revelatory book Kathryn Hughes Times Literary Supplement Self help today is a multi billion dollar global industry one often seen as a by product of neoliberalism and capitalism Far from being a recent phenomenon however the practice of self improvement has a long and rich history extending all the way back to ancient China For millennia philosophers sages and theologians have reflected on the good life and devised strategies on how to achieve it Focusing on ten core ideas of self improvement that run through the world s advice literature Anna Katharina Schaffner reveals the ways they have evolved across cultures and historical eras and why they continue to resonate with us today Reminding us that there is much to learn from looking at time honed models Schaffner also examines the ways that self improvement practices provide powerful barometers of the values anxieties and aspirations that preoccupy us at particular moments in time and expose basic assumptions about our purpose and nature
