Re Examining The Cold War Us China Diplomacy 1954 1973:

Re-examining the Cold War Robert S. Ross, Changbin Jiang, 2001 The twelve essays in this volume underscore the similarities between Chinese and American approaches to bilateral diplomacy and between their perceptions of each other's policy making motivations Much of the literature on U S China relations posits that each side was motivated either by ideologically informed interests or by ideological assumptions about its counterpart But as these contributors emphasize newly accessible archives suggest rather that both Beijing and Washington developed a responsive and tactically adaptable foreign policy Each then adjusted this policy in response to changing international circumstances and changing assessments of its counterpart's policies Motivated less by ideology than by pragmatic national security concerns each assumed that the other faced similar considerations International Relations Since 1945 John W. Young, John Kent, 2020 This textbook provides description and analysis of the Cold War and its aftermath It covers the period from all angles with focus on regional developments as well as global interactions and also gives due consideration to economic and strategic issues

The Media and Sino-American Rapprochement, 1963-1972 Guolin Yi, 2020-11-11 Winner of the ACPSS Research Award An important new cultural study of the Cold War Guolin Yi's The Media and Sino American Rapprochement 1963 1972 analyzes how the media in both countries shaped public perceptions of the changing relations between China and the United States in the decade prior to Richard Nixon's visit to Beijing This book offers the first systematic study of Cankao Xiaoxi Reference News an internal Chinese newspaper that carried relatively objective stories the Xinhua News Agency translated from world news media for circulation among Communist cadres As the main channel for the cadres to learn about the outside world this newspaper provides a window into China's evolving foreign policy including the reception of signals from the Nixon administration Yi compares this internal communications channel with the public accounts contained in the more widely circulated newspaper People's Daily a chief propaganda outlet of the Chinese Communist Party CCP directed at its own people and China watchers all over the world A third level of communication emerges in classified CCP instructions and government documents By approaching the Chinese communication system on three levels internal public and classified Yi's analysis demonstrates how people at different positions in the political hierarchy accessed varying types of information allowing him to chart the development of Beijing's approach to the U S government In a corresponding analysis of the defining features of American reporting on China Yi considers the impact of government media relationships in the United States during the Cold War Alongside prominent magazines and newspapers particularly the New York Times and the Washington Post in their differing coverage of key events Yi discusses television networks which proved vital for promoting the success of Ping Pong Diplomacy and the impact of Nixon's visit in 1972 With its comparative study of news outlets in the two countries The Media and Sino American Rapprochement 1963 1972 presents a thorough and comprehensive perspective on the role of the media in influencing domestic Chinese and American public opinion during a critical decade

Constructing the U.S. Rapprochement with China, 1961-1974 Evelyn Goh, 2004-11-22 With Nixon's historic reconciliation with China in 1972 Sino American relations were restored and China moved from being regarded as America's most implacable enemy to a friend and tacit ally Existing accounts of the rapprochement focus on the shifting balance of power between the USA China and the Soviet Union but in this book Goh argues that they cannot adequately explain the timing and policy choices related to Washington's decisions for reconciliation with Beijing Instead she applies a more historically sensitive approach that privileges contending official American constructions of China's identity and character This book demonstrates that ideas of reconciliation with China were already being propagated and debated within official circles in the USA during the 1960s It traces the related policy discourse and imagery and examines their continuities and evolution into the early 1970s that facilitated Nixon's new policy

Accommodating Rising Powers T. V. Paul, 2016-03-07 As the world enters the third decade of the twenty first century far reaching changes are likely to occur China Russia India and Brazil and perhaps others are likely to emerge as contenders for global leadership roles War as a system changing mechanism is unimaginable given that it would escalate into nuclear conflict and the destruction of the planet It is therefore essential that policymakers in established as well as rising states devise strategies to allow transitions without resorting to war but dominant theories of International Relations contend that major changes in the system are generally possible only through violent conflict This volume asks whether peaceful accommodation of rising powers is possible in the changed international context especially against the backdrop of intensified globalization With the aid of historic cases it argues that peaceful change is possible through effective long term strategies on the part of both status quo and rising powers

The Golden Age of the U.S.-China-Japan Triangle, 1972-1989 Ezra F. Vogel, Ming Yuan, Akihiko Tanaka, 2020-03-23 A collaborative effort by scholars from the United States China and Japan this volume focuses on the period 1972-1989 during which all three countries brought together by a shared geopolitical strategy established mutual relations with one another despite differences in their histories values and perceptions of their own national interest Although each initially conceived of its political and security relations with the others in bilateral terms the three in fact came to form an economic and political triangle during the 1970s and 1980s But this triangle is a strange one whose dynamics are constantly changing Its corners the three countries and its sides the three bilateral relationships are unequal while its overall nature the capacity of the three to work together has varied considerably as the economic and strategic positions of the three have changed and post Cold War tensions and uncertainties have emerged

The Everyday Cold War Chi-kwan Mark, 2017-10-05 In 1950 the British government accorded diplomatic recognition to the newly founded People's Republic of China But it took 22 years for Britain to establish full diplomatic relations with China How far was Britain's China policy a failure until 1972 This book argues that Britain and China were involved in the everyday Cold War or a continuous process of contestation and cooperation that allowed them to normalize their confrontation in the absence of full diplomatic relations From Vietnam and Taiwan to the mainland and Hong Kong China's everyday Cold War against Britain was marked by diplomatic ritual propaganda rhetoric and symbolic gestures Rather than pursuing a failed policy of appeasement British decision makers and diplomats regarded engagement or negotiation with China as the best way of fighting the everyday Cold War Based on extensive British and Chinese archival sources this book examines not only the high politics of Anglo Chinese relations but also how the British diplomats experienced the Cold War at the local level
