Away from Her Alice Munro, 2008-11-26 From Nobel Prize winning author Alice Munro a true master of the form Salman Rushdie comes the brilliant short story that inspired the major motion picture starring Julie Christie and Gordon Pinsent featuring a Preface from Sarah Polley I've always loved Alice Munro's writing but this story punctured something I read it stunned and let it sit there It seemed to enter like a bullet So concise and unsentimental nothing to cushion the blow of its impact When I was finished I couldn't stop weeping Sarah Polley from the Preface Alice Munro has long been heralded for her penetrating lyrical prose and in The Bear Came Over the Mountain the basis for Sarah Polley's film Away from Her her prodigious talents are once again on display As she follows Grant a retired professor whose wife Fiona begins gradually to drift away from him we slowly see how a lifetime of intimate details can create a marriage and how mysterious the bonds of love really are

Children's Palliative Care in Africa Justin Amery, 2009 Children's palliative care has developed rapidly as a discipline as health care professionals recognise that the principles of adult palliative care may not always be applicable to children at the end of life The unique needs of dying children are particularly evident across Africa where the scale of the problem is overwhelming and the figures so enormous that they are barely comprehensible over 400 000 children in Africa died from AIDS in 2003 and out of the 166 000 children a year diagnosed with cancer 84% of these are in the developing world Despite the enormous need provision of children's palliative care in Africa is almost non-existent with very few health workers trained and confident to provide care for dying children The challenges of providing palliative care in this setting are different to those in more developed countries contending with the shortage of physical and human resources in addition to the vast scope of the care needed Written by a group with wide experience of caring for dying children in Africa this book provides practical realistic guidance on improving access to and delivery of palliative care in this demanding setting It looks at the themes common to palliative care including communication assessment symptom management psychosocial issues ethical dilemmas end of life care and tips for the professional on compassion and conservation of energy but always retains the focus on the particular needs of the health care professional in Africa Whilst containing some theory the emphasis is on practical action throughout It will provide health care professionals working in Africa and other resource poor settings with the confidence knowledge and capacity to improve care for the terminally ill child in constrained and demanding environments
