Congress. Senate. Special Committee on Aging,1998 The Housing for Older Persons Act of 1995 United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on the Judiciary. Subcommittee on the Constitution, Federalism, and Property Rights,1997 DisElderly Conduct Judy Karofsky,2025-05-13 The book is a personal account of unmet needs in assisted living and hospice aiming to spark discussions about new approaches for America s aging population and family decision makers There are 30 thousand assisted living facilities in the US but most are unaffordable for middleclass Americans and fraught with staffing deficiencies and mismanagement Chapters on the author s experience helping her mother move from an age restricted community in Florida to independent living in Wisconsin to assisted living will interest seniors and their family members who know the struggle of finding long term affordable care The chapter on hospice care distinguishes it from assisted living through the author s experiences and misconceptions then moves to a broader discussion of Medicare spending and finally a meditation on dying of old age The author strikes an effective balance between the personal political and cultural aspects of aging Karofsky dedicates the last chapter of the book to a discussion of recent failures to protect long term care patients during the COVID19 pandemic Aging Independently Klaus Warner Schaie,2003 This volume is based on the conference Aging in the Community Living Arrangements and Mobility organised by the German Centre for Research on Aging at the University of Heidelberg in cooperation with Pennsylvania State University It explores the similarities and differences of living arrangements and outdoor mobility in both cultures and the impact on older persons roles in community life and sustainable community development Considers the future of aging theoretically from an environmental gerontology perspective and practically in terms of available technology the central tenet of this volume is that future indoor and outdoor environments will become much more intertwined than is the case today Merging the concerns of living arrangements and mobility this volume leads us to a new understanding of distance and nearness even in the presence for example of severe chronic illness
