Proust, the Body and Literary Form Michael R. Finn, 1999-03-25 This 1999 study examines the connections between Proust's fin de siècle nervousness and his apprehensions regarding literary form Michael Finn shows that Proust's anxieties both about bodily weakness and about novel writing were fed by a set of intriguing psychological and medical texts and were mirrored in the nerve-based afflictions of earlier writers including Flaubert Baudelaire Nerval and the Goncourt brothers Finn argues that once Proust cast off his concerns about being a nervous weakling he was freed to poke fun both at the supposed purity of the novel form Hysteria as a figure and as a theme becomes a key to the Proustian narrative and a certain kind of wordless bodily copying of gesture and event is revealed to be at the heart of a writing technique which undermines many of the conventions of fiction
