Studies in Temporal Urbanism Fabian Neuhaus, 2011-08-04 This book is very much about what the name urbanTick literally says about the ticking of the urban the urban as we experience it everyday on the bus in the park or between buildings It is about the big orchestrated mass migration of commuters the seasonal blossoms of the trees along the walkway and the frequency of the stamping rubbish eater trucks It is also not to forget about climate infrastructure opening hours term times parking meters time tables growing shadows and moon light But most of all it is about how all this is experienced by citizens on a daily basis and how they navigate within this complex structure of patterns The content of this book is based on the content of the urbanTick blog between 2008 2010 One year blogging about this topic brought together a large collection of different aspects and thoughts It is not at all a conclusive view the opposite might be the case it is an exploratory work in progress while trying to capture as many facets of the topic as possible

Sustainable Intercultural Urbanism at the Service of the African City of Tomorrow Esoh Elamé, 2022-06-03 Most African cities are human settlements that lack the systems needed for effective land use planning In fact the disorganization that prevails has become so complex that the concept of urbanism itself has been called into question This book highlights the need to restore urban planning in African cities through sustainable development and interculturality Furthermore it addresses the balance of power between urban planning and sustainable development and explores the historical and postcolonial aspects of urban planning in African cities A case study focusing on the development of sustainable cities and neighborhoods in the M Zab Valley is also included as well as topics such as urban greening climatic threats and the problem of state agro industrial land transactions which compete with sustainable urban planning Sustainable Intercultural Urbanism at the Service of the African City of Tomorrow is a valuable reference for researchers and practitioners interested in urban issues in African cities These cities in particular sub Saharan cities have long been excluded from any discourse on sustainable cities and urban planning this book places the focus on these cities and acknowledges their varied urban realities The intention is to spark a new debate on sustainable urban planning in African cities based on intercultural sustainable urbanism which is key to thinking about and building ecological intercultural compact intelligent and postcolonial cities

In the Bubble John Thackara, 2006-02-17 How to design a world in which we rely less on stuff and more on people We re filling up the world with technology and devices but we ve lost sight of an important question What is this stuff for What value does it add to our lives So asks author John Thackara in his new book In the Bubble Designing for a Complex World These are tough questions for the pushers of technology to answer Our economic system is centered on technology so it would be no small matter if tech ceased to be an end in itself in our daily lives Technology is not going to go away but the time to discuss the end it will serve is before we deploy it not after We need to ask what purpose will be served by the broadband communications smart materials wearable computing and connected appliances that we re unleashing upon the world We need to ask what impact all this stuff will have on our daily lives Who will look after it and how In the Bubble is about a world based less on stuff and more on people Thackara describes a transformation that is taking place now not in a remote science fiction future it's not about as he puts it the schlock of the new but about radical innovation already emerging in daily life We are regaining respect for what people can do that technology can't In the Bubble describes services designed to help people carry out daily activities in new ways Many of these services involve technology ranging from body implants to wide bodied jets But objects and systems play a supporting role in a people centered world The design focus is on services not things And new principles above all lightness inform the way these services are designed and used At the heart of In the Bubble is a belief informed by a wealth of real world examples that ethics and responsibility can inform design decisions without impeding social and technical innovation

Comparative Urbanism Jennifer Robinson, 2022-07-01 COMPARATIVE URBANISM Comparative Urbanism fully transforms the scope and purpose of urban studies today distilling innovative conceptual and methodological tools The theoretical and empirical scope is astounding enlightening emboldening Robinson peels away conceptual labels that have anointed some cities as paradigmatic and left others as mere copies She recalibrates overly used theoretical perspectives resurrects forgotten ones long in need of a dusting off and brings to the fore those often marginalised Robinson's approach radically re-distributes who speaks for the urban and which urban conditions shape our theoretical understandings With Comparative Urbanism in our hands we can start the practice of urban studies anywhere and be relevant to any number of elsewheres Jane M Jacobs Professor of Urban Studies Yale NUS College Singapore How to think the multiplicity of urban realities at the same time across different times and rhythmic arrangements how to move with the emergences and stand stills with conceptualisations that do justice to all things gathered under the name of the urban How to imagine comparatively amongst differences that remain different individualised outcomes but yet exist in common No book has so carefully conducted a specifically urban philosophy on these matters capable of beginning and ending anywhere AbdouMalik Simone Senior Research Fellow Urban Institute University of Sheffield The rapid pace and changing nature of twenty first century urbanisation as well as the diversity of global urban experiences calls for new theories and new methodologies in urban studies In Comparative Urbanism Tactics for Global Urban Studies Jennifer Robinson proposes grounds for reformatting comparative urban practice and offers a wide range of tactics for researching global urban experiences The focus is on inventing new concepts as well as revising existing approaches Inspired by postcolonial and decolonial critiques of urban studies she advocates for an experimental comparative urbanism open to learning from different urban experiences and to expanding conversations amongst urban scholars across the globe The book features a wealth of examples of comparative urban research concerned with many dimensions of urban life A range of theoretical and philosophical approaches ground an understanding of the radical revisability and emergent nature of concepts of the urban Advanced students urbanists and scholars will be prompted to compose comparisons which trace the interconnected and relational character of the urban and to think with the variety of urban experiences and urbanisation processes across the globe to produce the new insights the twenty first century urban world demands Concrete City Armelle

Choplin, 2023-04-03 CONCRETE CITY Armelle Choplin's Concrete City weaves a novel and engaging analysis of urbanization by tracing the journeys of cement and people making urban life in West Africa From post independence high modernist ambitions to building the opportunities to make a living the emerging transnational corridor along the West African coast provides a starting point for insights which will expand and inform understanding of both established and newly emerging urbanization processes in many different contexts Jennifer Robinson Professor of Geography University College of London UK In this very innovative and superbly illustrated book Armelle Choplin makes cement vibrant with affect politics economic interests and cultural meanings She takes us to a fascinating journey along the West African urban corridor following the social life of concrete and showing how this material shapes contemporary urbanization and everyday life Ola S derstr m Professor of Geography University of Neuch tel Switzerland Concrete City Material Flows and Urbanization in West Africa delivers a theoretically informed ethnographic exploration of the African urban world through the life of concrete Emblematic of frenetic urban and capitalistic development this material is pervasive shaping contemporary urban landscapes and societies and their links to the global world It stands and circulates at the heart of major financial investments political forces and environmental debates At the same time it epitomises values of modernity and success redefining social practices forms of dwelling and living and popular imaginaries The book invites the reader to follow bags of cement from production plant to construction site along the 1000 kilometre urban corridor that links Abidjan to Accra Lom Cotonou and Lagos combining the perspectives of cement tycoons entrepreneurs and political stakeholders but also of ordinary men and women who plan build and dream of the Concrete City With this innovative exploration of urban life through concrete Armelle Choplin delivers a fascinating journey into and reflection on the sustainability of our urban futures Spacing Ireland

Caroline Crowley, Denis Linehan, 2016-05-16 In light of the innumerable interventions that characterise the transformation of Ireland over the last two decades Spacing Ireland Place society and culture in a post boom era explores questions of space and place to understand the nature of major social cultural and economic change in contemporary Ireland The authors explore the intersections between everyday life and global exchanges through the contexts of the stuff of contemporary everyday encounters food housing leisure migration music shopping travel and work These are the multiple layers of space we now inhabit Ireland is a turbulent place It is fruitful to consider the contemporary geographies of the island through the various forms where change is expressed The wide range of topics addressed in the collection and the plurality of spaces they represent make the book appealing not only to students and academics but to anyone who follows social cultural and economic developments in Ireland Smart Cities Anna Visvizi, Hanna Godlewska-Majkowska, 2024-08-26 This book seeks to identify and to examine factors and mechanisms underlying the growth and development of smart cities It is commonplace to discuss smart cities through the lens of advances in ICT The resulting overemphasis on what is technologically possible downplays what is politically socially and economically feasible This book by analysing the smart city through a variety of perspectives offers a more comprehensive insight into and understanding of the complex and the open ended nature of the growth and development of a smart city A solid conceptual framework is developed and employed throughout the chapters and a selection of case studies from Europe Asia and the Arab Peninsula grants the readers a hands on perspective of the matters discussed The chapters included in this book address a set of questions including How do the twin processes of digitalization and smartification unfold in the context of the smart city agenda How do these processes relate to the concepts of smart city 1 0 2 0 3 0 and 4 0 In which ways have the spatial aspects of city functioning been influenced by the intrusion of ICT In which ways do the same processes contribute to the attainment of the UN Sustainable Development Goals SDGs What are the implications of smartification and the emergence of smart organizations public private and voluntary for the spatial development of smart cities Do ICT and its application in the city space boost the processes of revitalization and how does ICT influence the process of gentrification To what extent and how does the intrusion of ICT enhanced tools and applications in the city space impact on a city s relationship with its broader territorially defined context Are the administrative borders and divisions inherent in the fabric of a city becoming less more porous How should urban sprawl be conceived in the context of the smart city debate This book will have a broad appeal to academics students and policy makers with interests in urban planning sustainable development cities economics technology sociology urban studies digitalization SDGs wellbeing and resilience

Restorative Cities Jenny Roe,Layla McCay,2021-07-15 Overcrowding noise and air pollution long commutes and lack of daylight can take a huge toll on the mental well being of city dwellers With mental healthcare services under increasing pressure could a better approach to urban design and planning provide a solution The restrictions faced by city residents around the world during the COVID 19 pandemic has brought home just how much urban design can affect our mental health and created an imperative to seize this opportunity Restorative Cities explores a new way of designing cities one which places mental health and wellness at the forefront Establishing a blueprint for urban design for mental health it examines a range of strategies from sensory architecture to place making for creativity and community and brings a genuinely evidence based approach that will appeal to designers and planners health practitioners and researchers alike and provide compelling insights for anyone who cares about how our surroundings affect us Written by a psychiatrist and public health specialist and an environmental psychologist with extensive experience of architectural practice this much needed work will prompt debate and inspire built environment students and professionals to think more about the positive potential of their designs for mental well being

The Creative City Nada Švob-Đokić,2007 Smart Urbanism Simon Marvin,Andrés Luque-Ayala,Colin McFarlane,2015-12-14 Smart Urbanism SU the rebuilding of cities through the integration of digital technologies with buildings neighbourhoods networked infrastructures and people is being represented as a unique emerging solution to the majority of problems faced by cities today SU discourses enacted by technology companies national governments and supranational agencies alike claim a supremacy of urban digital technologies for managing and controlling infrastructures achieving greater effectiveness in managing service demand and reducing carbon emissions developing greater social interaction and community networks providing new services around health and social care etc Smart urbanism is being represented as the response to almost every facet of the contemporary urban question This book explores this common conception of the problematic of smart urbanism and critically address what new capabilities are being created by whom and with what exclusions how these are being developed and contested where is this happening both within and between cities and with what sorts of social and material consequences The aim of the book is to identify and convene a currently fragmented and disconnected group of researchers commentators developers and users from both within and outside the mainstream SU discourse including several of those that adopt a more critical perspective to assess what problems of the city smartness can address The volume provides the first internationally comparative assessment of SU in cities of the global north and south critically evaluates whether current visions of SU are able to achieve their potential and then identifies alternative trajectories for SU that hold radical promise for reshaping cities Wiring the Streets, Surfing the Square Timothy Jachna, 2021-03-18 This book investigates the production of public space in contemporary urban contexts as conditioned by the suffusion of urban life with digital technologies A social production of technology approach is taken to frame the digitally mediated city as a communal social and cultural project Acknowledging the multivalent and shifting nature of public space and the heterogeneity of the urban actors who form it the agency of these different actors in appropriating digital technologies takes center stage The dynamics of negotiations between regimes of control and impulses towards freedom and experimentation the entanglement of the spatial commons and the digital commons changes in the notions of what constitutes membership in a public or counterpublic and evolving relationships between the various individuals and groups who share and constitute public space are all revealed in different actors appropriation of digital technologies in the formation of public spaces and the conducting of public life in cities The book is divided into two sections Drawing on classic and contemporary scholars on public space and on digital culture Section I explores the implications of the convergence of these bodies of knowledge and lenses of critique and examination on the present urban condition establishing a conceptual foundation upon which public space discourse is brought to bear on an interrogation of the wired or mediated city Structured by the core concepts that underlie Hannah Arendt's notion of agency in the constitution of the public sphere Section II is devoted to discussing and demonstrating through myriad concrete examples how different affordances of digital technologies are implicated in the production of public space and in the interplay between urban governance and control urban life and citizenship and urban commodification The topics in this book are of broad and current international relevance and will appeal to scholars and students in architecture urbanism design sociology and digital culture      Cities for People, Not for Profit Neil Brenner, Peter Marcuse, Margit Mayer, 2012-06-25 The financial crisis has given new impetus to the struggles of oppositional urban social movements that have long emphasized the injustice destructiveness and unsustainability of capitalist forms of urbanization Through contributions by urban theorists sociologists geographers political scientists planners and activists the volume explores the possibilities for and constraints upon critical urban theory and practice today Ideas are linked by a common theme the difficulties that are created for people by cities organized for profit and the existing trends struggles and movements that might change their course to construct alternative forms of urbanism The slogan cities for people not for profit thus sets into stark relief what the authors view as a central political objective for ongoing efforts at once theoretical and practical to address the global urban crises of our time

Emergent Urbanism Tigran Haas, Krister Olsson, 2016-04-29 In the last few decades many European and American cities and towns experienced economic social and spatial structural change Strategies for urban regeneration include investments in infrastructures for production consumption and communication as well as marketing and branding measures and urban design schemes Bringing together leading academics from across a range of disciplines including Douglas Kelbaugh Ali Madanipour Saskia Sassen Gregory Ashworth Nan Elin Emily Talen and many others Emergent Urbanism identifies the specific issues dominating today's urban planning and urban design discourse arguing that urban planning and design not only results from deliberate planning and design measures but how these combine with infrastructure planning and derive from economic social and spatial processes of structural change Combining explorations from urban planning urban theory human geography sociology urban design and architecture the volume provides a comprehensive and state of the art overview highlighting the complexities of these interactions in space and place process and design      Digital Twins for Smart Cities and Urban Planning Mohammad Saif Wajid, Hugo Terashima-Marín, Aasim Zafar, Mohd Anas Wajid, Bharat Bhushan, 2025-05-26 This book discusses the concept of the digital twin which has the potential to change how systems are managed and created It also discusses the metaverse as a new technology with literary roots cross platform avatars and artificial intelligence related cybersecurity risks Digital Twin for Smart Cities and Urban Planning From Virtual to Reality provides practitioners with concrete problem solving methodologies while covering the most recent and cutting edge digital twin application technologies in diverse fields It highlights the benefits of digital twins in terms of data visualization real time data analytics and learning which leads to increased confidence in decision making The book discusses the metaverse as a new technology with literary roots cross platform avatars and artificial intelligence related cybersecurity risks It also evaluates the opportunities that DT can provide for smart cities and discusses the prerequisites for secure safe and sustainable smart cities It also explores the mix between the industrial Internet of Things artificial intelligence machine learning and software analytics with spatial network graphs to construct living digital simulation models that update and alter in response to changes in their physical counterparts The chapters also focus on digital twin driven smart design which establishes a foundation for the adoption of digital twin technology in product design by drawing on the most recent industry practice and research The book is an excellent resource for practitioners and scholars in manufacturing operations research and communications who are thinking about digitizing their assets and related services It is also a helpful resource for graduate students and academics looking to better understand pioneering digital twins technologies New Plaza as Urban Interface Hyun-Young Jin,2009 Housing Booms in Gateway Cities David Ley,2023-06-29 HOUSING BOOMS IN GATEWAY CITIES David Ley examines the development of housing booms and policies intended to stimulate or limit them Utilising a comparative approach in five gateway cities he provides a superb understanding of the politics of booms lifting the debate beyond narrow housing and real estate studies This book is required reading for anyone interested in global cities housing markets or comparative urbanism Manuel B Aalbers Professor of Human Geography KU Leuven Belgium A stellar contribution to housing and its financialisation as central to the capitalist project globally Housing Booms offers a wonderful window into the ascendancy of the secondary circuit of real estate in Singapore Hong Kong Sydney Vancouver and London Critically through careful empirically rigorous comparison an eminent urban social scientist urges us to understand the importance of placing urban housing theoretically Loretta Lees Director of the Initiative on Cities Boston University Mastering a wealth of information and insights from five gateway cities David Ley provides fresh and inspiring explanation of both common global logics and diverse local trajectories of housing booms in the era of financialisation and asset based accumulation A timely and ground breaking contribution re positioning housing to the centrality pervasively felt in everyday life but largely unacknowledged in mainstream social science George Lin Chair Professor of Geography University of Hong Kong In Housing Booms in Gateway Cities renowned geographer Dr David Ley delivers a detailed exploration of housing markets in Hong Kong Singapore Sydney Vancouver and London and explains why these gateway cities have seen dramatic increases in residential real estate prices since the 1980s The author describes how the globalization of real estate has rapidly inflated demand and uncoupled local housing prices from local wages causing acute problems of affordability availability and inequality The book implicates government policy in massive real estate price inflation describing a shift from welfare based to asset based societies It also highlights the relatively unique experience in Singapore where asset based housing policy has encouraged the dispersion of ownership and accumulation through an increased supply of subsidized leasehold apartments and the regulation of disruptive investment flows Housing Booms in Gateway Cities is an ideal resource for academics students and policymakers with an interest in urban geography sociology and planning housing studies and any of the cities discussed in the book It is an innovative treatment of housing as a central category in wealth accumulation in urban economies and societies Imaging the City Lawrence J. Vale,Sam Bass Warner Jr.,2021-12-16 Planners face a controversial task because their professional role requires them to be spokespersons for the public interest In a welter of conflicting pictures and voices how might the public interest be discovered Once identified how might it be expressed so that competing publics attend to it There are no easy answers but the experience of planners today suggests ways of working and innovations of promise The focus on planning practice prompted the editors to analyze images that are now at work in our cities For Vale and Warner all city design and constructions offer material that people should include in images of their environment The built and building city are part of the experience of all city dwellers it is theirs to incorporate interpret or ignore Essays included in this text trace the interplay between physical objects of planners and architects and the social experience and outlooks of image makers and their audiences Imaging the City explores urban image making from civic boosterism of medieval cities to iconic imagery of Times Square Vale and Warner bring together urban historians geographers city planners architects and cultural commentators to analyze the creation of urban imagery from the signature skyscrapers of Kuala Lumpur to the re creation of the South Bronx and the use of city images in film literature television and on the Internet Urban dwellers urban planners architects municipal officials sociologists urban historians all will perceive their worlds with a heightened sense of awareness after reading this book
