Shades of Gray John Egerton, 1991-09-01 Berea College Shannon Wilson, 2006-03-03 The motto of Berea College is God has made of one blood all peoples of the earth a phrase underlying Berea's 150 year commitment to egalitarian education The first interracial and coeducational undergraduate institution in the South Berea College is well known for its mission to provide students the opportunity to work in exchange for a tuition free quality education The founders believed that participation in manual labor blurred distinctions of class combined with study and leisure it helped develop independent industrious and innovative graduates committed to serving their communities These values still hold today as Berea continues its legendary commitment to equality diversity and cultural preservation and at the same time expands its mission to include twenty first century concerns such as ecological sustainability In Berea College An Illustrated History Shannon H Wilson unfolds the saga of one of Kentucky's most distinguished institutions of higher education centering his narrative on the eight presidents who have served Berea The college's founder John G Fee was a staunch abolitionist and believer in Christian egalitarianism who sought to build a college that would be to Kentucky what Oberlin was to Ohio antislavery anti caste anti rum anti sin Indeed the connection to Oberlin is evident in the college's abolitionist roots and commitment to training African American teachers preachers and industrial leaders Black and white students lived worked and studied together in interracial dorms and classrooms the extent of Berea's reformist commitment is most evident in an 1872 policy allowing interracial dating and intermarriage among its student body Although the ratio of black to white students was nearly equal in the college's first twenty years this early commitment to the education of African Americans was shattered in 1904 when the Day Law prohibited the races from attending school together Berea fought the law until it lost in the U S Supreme Court in 1908 but later returned to its commitment to interracial education in 1950 when it became the first undergraduate college in Kentucky to admit African Americans Berea's third president William Goodell Frost shifted attention toward Appalachian America during the interim and this mission to reach out to Appalachians continues today Wilson also chronicles the creation of Berea's many unique programs designed to serve men and women in Kentucky and beyond A university extension program carried Berea's educational opportunities into mountain communities Later the New Opportunity School for Women was set up to help adult women return to the job market by offering them career workshops job experience on campus and educational and cultural enrichment opportunities More recently the college developed the Black Mountain Youth Leadership Program designed to reduce the isolation of African Americans in Appalachia and encourage cultural literacy academic achievement and community service Berea College explores the culture and history of one of America's most unique institutions of higher learning Complemented by more than 180 historic photographs Wilson's narrative documents Berea's majestic and inspiring story A History of the University of South Carolina, 1940-2000 Henry H. Lesesne, 2001 Describes the transformation of one of the nation's oldest public institutions of higher learning into a modern research university The history of the modern University of South Carolina originally chartered as South Carolina College in 1801 describes the significant changes in the state and in the character of higher education in South Carolina World War II the civil rights struggle and the revolution in research and South Carolina s economy transformed USC from a small state university in 1939 with a student body of less than 2 000 and an annual budget of 725 000 to a 1990 population of more than 25 000 and an annual budget of 454 million Then the University was little more than a small liberal arts college today the university is at the head of a statewide system of higher education with eight branch campuses Henry H Lesesne recounts the historic transformation of USC into a modern research university grounding that change in the context of the modernization of South Carolina and the South in general The half century from 1940 to 1990 wrought great changes in South Carolina and its most prominent university State and national politics the challenges of funding modern higher educations and the explosive growth of intercollegiate sports are among other elements of the University that were transformed Lesesne describes with candor and impressive research how the University of South Carolina and indeed all of the state s higher education system emerged from a past limited by racism and poverty and began to measure its aspirations by national educational standards The White House Looks South William Edward Leuchtenburg,2005 At a time when race class and gender dominate historical writing Leuchtenburg argues that place is no less significant In a period when America is said to be homogenized he shows that sectional distinctions persist And in an era when political history is devalued he demonstrates that government can profoundly affect people s lives and that presidents can be change makers
