Shadow World Life Between The News Media And Reality:

The Shadow World Jim Willis, 1991 Jim Willis examines the factors that contribute to the journalist's often faulty perception of reality factors that are beyond the immediate control of the reporter These include errant sources competitive influences the embedding process of storytelling marketing's influence on the news and the structure of news stories The Mind of a Journalist Jim Willis, 2010 What propels an individual into becoming a professional observer and chronicler of society joining a group that is often targeted for criticism by the general public Can a journalist really have an objective view of the world and the way it operates or do journalists each operate from a specific worldview parts of which are held in common by all journalists Do journalists feel they can become involved in normal social and civic activities or is the world a detached storehouse of ideas for stories Is the journalist most effective on the sidelines of society or in getting involved in the action or taking to the field as a referee or field judge If journalists are so devoted to the ideals of objectivity detachment truth and providing an accurate view of the world why do so many of them leave journalism and move into public relations media consulting and advertising These are just some of the issues explored in The Mind of a Journalist How Reporters See Themselves Their Stories and the World For students and would-be journalists this book analyzes the rational processes journalists use in defining themselves their world and their relation to that world Written by veteran journalist and noted professor Jim Willis with many observations from working and recently retired journalists from both print and broadcast the goal of the book is to put this discussion of journalist thinking into the classroom alongside discussion of reporting and writing techniques Ultimately the book provides added insights to how journalists think and why they do what they do Features Benefits Included throughout the book are many observations interviews from working journalists at such media outlets as The Los Angeles Times The Boston Globe CNN The Memphis Commercial Appeal WRTV Television in Indianapolis and The Daily Oklahoman A running single story example President's Bush's decision to invade Iraq in 2003 shows how the same story was treated by several different journalist mindsets and thereby examining how these different mindsets defined the issues of truth ethics and legality for this story Media at War Howard Tumber, Jerry Palmer, 2004-03-27 Tumber and Palmer have provided an invaluable review of how journalists covered and reported the Iraq war and its aftermath Their exhaustive research has resulted in an impressive analysis that makes this book essential reading John Owen Executive Producer of News Xchange and Visiting Professor of Journalism City University This is a meticulously researched book that lays bare the way the war was reported Decide for yourself whether the media embeds of whom I was one were the world's eyes and ears inside the military or merely the puppets of the Pentagon and the Ministry of Defence in London Ben Brown BBC Media at War offers insights into the ways in which media at war inevitably become participants in both the military and the political wars Professor Michael Gurevitch University of Maryland International media coverage of the war in Iraq provoked public scrutiny as well debate amongst journalists themselves Media at War offers a critical overview of the coverage in the context of other preceding wars including the first Gulf War and opens up the debate on the key questions that emerged during the crisis For example What did we actually gain from live on the spot reporting Were journalists adequately trained and protected How compromised were the so called embedded journalists Tumber and Palmer s analysis covers both the pre war and post war phase as well as public reaction to these events and as such provides an invaluable framework for understanding how the media and news organisations operated during the Iraq Crisis

The Media Effect Jim Willis,2007-06-30 In a postmodern age where the media s depictions of reality serve as stand ins for the real thing for so many Americans how much government policy is being made on the basis of those mediated realities and on the public reaction to them When those mediated depictions deviate from the truth of the actual situation how serious a situation is that Time and again both anecdotal evidence and scientific research seem to confirm that the news media often influence government action At the least they speed up policy making that would otherwise take a slower more reasoned course Sometimes the media serve as the communication link among world leaders who may be ideological enemies Because of the enduring popularity of television news government leaders monitor the networks story selections and track public opinion trends generated by interviews done in these stories These then become the substance of proposed legislation and or executive action as politicians strive to prove themselves able listeners to the heartland of America and also prove themselves worthy of re election This book examines many specific events that show how major news operations either painted a truthful or distorted picture of national and international events and how governmental leaders responded following those representations

Understanding Global News Jaap van Ginneken,1998-01-23 A lively and critical introduction to the news media this book has been written specifically for media students and trainee journalists Understanding Global News invites the reader to explore contemporary journalistic practice and questions the assumption that the media provide a mere window on the world Challenging the often unquestioned notions of media objectivity the author turns the classic questions Who What When and Why onto the news media By employing a range of theoretical perspectives and a large variety of examples the author demonstrates the way in which our perceptions of the world are constructed by the news media

A Journalism Reader Michael Bromley,Tom O'Malley,1997 A variety of contributors including journalists cultural theorists philosophers historians and newspaper proprietors offer insights and perspectives on the history status and craft of journalism

The Human Journalist Jim Willis,2003-10-30 Willis examines the many orientations and perspectives of reporters that gather and present the news of the day Debunking the notion that there are limited perspectives journalists may use Willis examines up to 15 different orientations that reporters bring to their work These perspectives run the gamut from the traditional approach of distancing oneself completely from events and people involved to becoming part of the story s fabric to ascertain the story s true essence Willis also suggests that for many stories it is wholly appropriate for journalists to feel what a non professional would experience at such an event and to allow those emotions to fuel the reporting and writing of the story Several examples are discussed in detail including the coverage of the bombing of the Alfred P Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City on April 19 1995 and the terrorist attacks of September 11 2001

Mass Media James B. Martin,2002 Mass media has become an integral part of the human experience News travels around the world in a split second affecting people in other countries in untold ways Although being on top of the news may be good at least for news junkies mass media also transmits values or the lack thereof condenses complex events and thoughts to simplified sound bites and often ignores the essence of an event or story The selective bibliography gathers the books and magazine literature over the previous ten years while providing access through author title and subject indexes
