Making Institutions Work:

Making Global Institutions Work Kate Brennan, 2014-09-19 This book seeks to think differently about what we recognize as global institutions and how they could work better for the people who need them most By so doing the contributions show that there is a group of institutions that influence enough people's lives in significant enough ways through what they protect provide or enable that they should be considered together as global institutions The United Nations the World Bank the internet as well as private military and security companies leave a heavy footprint on the social political and economic landscape of the planet We are all aware in different ways of the existence of these global institutions but their importance in achieving change in the twenty first century is often underestimated In this book contributors seek to explain what associations exist between change in global institutions and the reduction of poverty and inequality as well as the achievement of security and justice The work makes sense of processes of change and identifies the most significant obstacles that exist offering suggestions for future action that will be of interest to students and scholars of global institutions

Making International Institutions Work Ranjit Lall, 2023-02-23 International institutions are essential for tackling many of the most urgent challenges facing the world from pandemics to humanitarian crises yet we know little about when they succeed when they fail and why This book proposes a new theory of institutional performance and tests it using a diverse array of sources including the most comprehensive dataset on the topic Challenging popular characterizations of international institutions as runaway bureaucracies Ranjit Lall argues that the most serious threat to performance comes from the pursuit of narrow political interests by states paradoxically the same actors who create and give purpose to institutions The discreet operational processes through which international bureaucrats cultivate and sustain autonomy vis vis governments he contends are critical to making institutions work The findings enhance our understanding of international cooperation public goods and organizational behavior while offering practical lessons to policymakers NGOs businesses and citizens interested in improving institutional effectiveness

Law-Making in the People's Republic of China Jianfu Chen, Yuwen Li, Jan Michiel Otto, Maurice V. Polak, 2021-10-25 Who are the legislators and what are the products of the legislative process in China How does a law come into being What meaning should we ascribe to these legislative products from the perspective of legal certainty Can we recognise a Chinese approach to or style of law making What technical legislative problems have Chinese jurists identified and what sorts of solutions to them are being considered These are the questions which Law making in the PRC attempts to solve The volume opens with papers on the historical perspective of law making on ideology and law making and on a comparison between the PRC's legal framework and the frameworks of other legal systems Part II deals with various Institutions and Actors involved and offers analyses of the National People's Congress the State Council departmental rule making local law making law making in autonomous regions public participation and the proposed law on law making by academics Part III offers three case studies in which important areas of legal development are analysed from a law making point of view The selected areas are administrative law contract law and criminal law The Crucial Challenge for International Aid: Making the Donor-Recipient Relationship Work to Prevent Catastrophe Mirek Karasek, Jennifer P. Tanabe, 2014-11-25 This book uses simple algebra and statistical analysis to map and define possible solutions to a grave problem the world is facing today the relationship between developed Have countries that act as donors in giving international aid to developing Have not recipient countries These societies have differences stemming from diverse cultural and religious histories that have led to moral ethical and cognitive behavior in many recipient countries that is incomparably irreversibly and increasingly heterogeneous from donor societies The analysis proves that any donor recipient co operation that stresses human rights government transparency accountability and law enforcement capabilities in the recipient together with virtually free immigration to any donor society is counterproductive to the point of causing complete socioeconomic and political melt down in both recipient and donor nations A promising alternative solution to this Doomsday Scenario is developed The Making of the Constitution of Kenya Charles O. Oyaya, Nana Poku, 2018-05-11 Kenya like the rest of Africa has gone through three sets of constitutional crises The first related to the trauma of colonialism and struggle for independence The second a period of constitutional dictatorship and the clamor for reform The third most recent crisis being one of identity legitimacy and the inability of the state to discharge its functions which has resulted in civil unrest violent ethnic conflicts poverty social exclusion and inequality The Making of the Constitution of Kenya examines the processes issues and challenges of constitution making governance and legitimacy in that country and the lessons that can be learned for others on the continent Equipping the reader with a sound historical perspective on constitutional developments and the crisis of constitutional legitimacy in Kenya it gives an invaluable insight into the normative and political complexities involved in evolving a truly democratic and widely acceptable constitutional order in Africa
