

An aerial photograph of a busy street in Cairo, Egypt. The street is filled with a dense flow of vehicles, including cars, buses, and taxis, moving in both directions. Pedestrians are visible on the sidewalks and crossing the street. The surrounding urban environment is visible in the background, with buildings and more traffic. The overall scene conveys a sense of intense urban activity and congestion.

Markets Of Dispossession:

Markets of Dispossession Julia Elyachar, 2005-10-26 A case study of economic development in Cairo that sheds light on issues of agency and empowerment in the age of neoliberal globalization Building Dignified Worlds Gerda Roelvink, 2016-03-22 Building Dignified Worlds examines how contemporary collectives are designing alternative economies Contemporary collectives differ markedly from previous groups associated with revolutionary politics Instead of assembling large groups of workers around labor issues these new collectives creatively arrange diverse peoples animals natural environments and technologies around economic concerns Like older forms of leftist organizing these collectives seek to bring about change However rather than working to overthrow and replace an underlying capitalist system with an equally totalizing alternative like socialism they experiment with new forms of economic life This book explores how socially and politically concerned groups actually establish alternative economies Building Dignified Worlds investigates social movements that do not simply protest but actively forge functional alternatives The market model described by many scholars and activists as the enemy of these recent social movements rarely exists in today s world As Gerda Roelvink notes current markets are better conceptualized as dynamic social networks open to intervention by innovative social movements Radical scholars have theorized social transformation as a performative act They have provided extensive analysis of how discourse shapes the world through language and is materialized in bodies and practices Until now though little has been written about the geographical nature of collective associations performing new worlds Roelvink takes actor network and performativity theories of action as starting points for thinking about how contemporary collectives bring the new into being This approach enables an understanding of how collectives initiate change and begins to map the forces through which they operate Roelvink s work reveals in particular how the relational and geographical nature of performative action is central to the ways in which hybrid collectives strive to create alternative economies Handbook of Critical Agrarian Studies Akram-Lodhi, A. H., Dietz, Kristina, Engels, Bettina, McKay, Ben M., 2021-12-14 Exploring the emerging and vibrant field of critical agrarian studies this comprehensive Handbook offers interdisciplinary insights from both leading scholars and activists to understand agrarian life livelihoods formations and processes of change It highlights the development of the field which is characterized by theoretical and methodological pluralism and innovation Politics in the Crevices Sarah El-Kazaz, 2023-09-29 In Politics in the Crevices Sarah El Kazaz takes readers into the world of urban planning and design practices in Istanbul and Cairo In this transnational ethnography of neighborhoods undergoing contested rapid transformations she reveals how the battle for housing has shifted away from traditional political arenas onto private crevices of the city She outlines how multiple actors from highly capitalized international NGOs and corporations to city dwellers bureaucrats and planning experts use careful urban design to empower conflicting agendas whether manipulating property markets to protect affordable housing or corner luxury real estate El Kazaz shows that such contemporary politicizations of urban design stem from unresolved struggles at the heart of messy transitions from the welfare state to neoliberalism which have shifted the politics of redistribution from contested political arenas to design practices operating within market logics ultimately relocating political struggles onto the city's most intimate crevices. In so doing, she raises critical questions about the role of market reforms in redistributing resources and challenges readers to rethink neoliberalism and the fundamental ways it shapes cities and polities.

Speculative Markets Kristin Peterson, 2014-08-25 In this unprecedented account of the dynamics of Nigeria's pharmaceutical markets, Kristin Peterson connects multinational drug company policies, oil concerns, Nigerian political and economic transitions, the circulation of pharmaceuticals in the Global South, Wall Street machinations, and the needs and aspirations of individual Nigerians. Studying the pharmaceutical market in Lagos, Nigeria, she places local market social norms and credit and pricing practices in the broader context of regional transnational and global financial capital. Peterson explains how a significant and formerly profitable African pharmaceutical market collapsed in the face of U.S. monetary policies and neoliberal economic reforms, and she illuminates the relation between that collapse and the American turn to speculative capital during the 1980s. In the process, she reveals the mutual constitution of financial speculation in the drug industry and the structural adjustment plans that the IMF imposed on African nations. Her book is a sobering ethnographic analysis of the effects of speculation and development as they reverberate across markets and continents and play out in everyday interpersonal transactions of the Lagos pharmaceutical market.

Whole Person Promotion, Women, and the Post-Pandemic Era: Impact and Future Outlooks Crosby, Michelle, Faludi, Julianna, 2022-05-20 The COVID-19 pandemic both accelerated social and household inequalities and made them more visible as the spatial and social divide between work and home life was broken down. Historically, during times of crisis or huge systematic change, women have served as shock absorbers. Shock absorption of systemic change by women, as well as that of our planet's natural resources, is not a new phenomenon, and this dynamic persisted even during state socialism. However, in the current institutional setups, there seems to be no logical solution because of the orientation around marketization and externalization by central actors. Currently, during a time of great precarity in our digital revolution, old institutions are still counting on women, the planet, and other vulnerable groups to support this transformation with no clear protection of whole personhood.

Whole Person Promotion: Women and the Post-Pandemic Era: Impact and Future Outlooks provides the latest empirical research findings in the post-pandemic era with the household as the central unit of analysis. It improves understanding of how old institutions persist and are even reinforced during times of crisis, as well as generates a discussion about to what extent there is variation in experiences, how satisfied we are with these dynamics, and what internal and external interactions we can attribute to the world that we envision. Covering topics such as individual wellbeing, platform capitalism, and gender inequality, this premier reference source is a dynamic resource for lawyers, policymakers, government officials, politicians, business leaders, managers, economists, non-profit organizations, libraries, students, and faculty of higher education, sociologists, anthropologists researchers and academicians Privatization Becky Mansfield, 2009-03-25 Contemporary privatization remakes nature society as property and transforms people's relationships to themselves each other and the natural world This groundbreaking collection provides the first systematic analysis of neo liberal privatization Rich case studies of privatization in the making reveal both the pivotal role that privatization plays in neoliberalism and new opportunities for challenging neo liberal hegemony Rich case studies linked to broader questions on neoliberalism Illustrates the importance of property relation and the complexities existing in the meaning and practice of property Extends current geographical scholarship on neoliberalism including neoliberalism and nature Each essay touches on the disciplinary regulatory dimensions of privatization Highlights the importance of privatization both broadly and specifically The Reconstruction of Post-War

Labour Markets in The Southern African Development Community Saint José Inaka, Christopher Changwe Nshimbi, Leon Mwamba Tshipaka, 2023-08-12 This book provides a comprehensive overview of post war labour market reconstructions in the context of a regional bloc whose member states have experienced conflict Focusing on the Southern African Development Community SADC region the book explores how major conflicts often expose shortcomings in affected countries particularly on their post war labour market reconstruction processes The authors discuss how countries in the SADC region in particular are equipped to navigate such processes This key question drives the overview of relationships between labour market issues and wars of liberation from colonial rule and apartheid rights to self determination and racial equality and the need to succinctly explain how labour market issues shaped civil wars in some post independent SADC member states The book examines the role of the state in reconstruction processes of post war labour markets and the contribution of labour market institutions to these reconstructions It further analyses private sector participation in remaking labour markets and workers experiences in finding employment in labour markets under reconstruction The book provides specific insights from experiences in the Democratic Republic of the Congo DRC Market Justice Brent Z.

Kaup, 2012-12-24 Market Justice explores the challenges for the new global left as it seeks to construct alternative means of societal organization Focusing on Bolivia Brent Z Kaup examines a testing ground of neoliberal and counter neoliberal policies and an exemplar of bottom up globalization Kaup argues that radical shifts towards and away from free market economic trajectories are not merely shaped by battles between transnational actors and local populations but also by conflicts between competing domestic elites and the ability of the oppressed to overcome traditional class divides Further the author asserts that struggles against free markets are not evidence of opposition to globalization or transnational corporations They should instead be understood as struggles over the forms of global integration and who benefits from them

Palestine Is Throwing a Party and the Whole World Is Invited Kareem Rabie, 2021-03-29 In 2008 Palestinian Prime Minister Salam Fayyad invited international investors to the first ever Palestine Investment Conference which was designed to jump start the process of integrating Palestine into the global economy As Fayyad described the conference Palestine is throwing a party and the whole world is invited In this book Kareem Rabie examines how the conference and Fayyad s rhetoric represented a wider shift in economic and political practice in ways that oriented state scale Palestinian politics toward neoliberal globalization rather than a diplomatic two state solution Rabie demonstrates that private firms international aid organizations and the Palestinian government in the West Bank focused on large scale private housing development in an effort toward state scale economic stability and market building This approach reflected the belief that a thriving private economy would lead to a free and functioning Palestinian state Yet as Rabie contends these investment based policies have maintained the status quo of occupation and Palestine s subordinate and suspended political and economic relationship with Israel
