My Life And Work1922:

The People's Tycoon Steven Watts,2009-03-04 How a Michigan farm boy became the richest man in America is a classic almost mythic tale but never before has Henry Ford's outsized genius been brought to life so vividly as it is in this engaging and superbly researched biography The real Henry Ford was a tangle of contradictions He set off the consumer revolution by producing a car affordable to the masses all the while lamenting the moral toll exacted by consumerism He believed in giving his workers a living wage though he was entirely opposed to union labor He had a warm and loving relationship with his wife but sired a son with another woman A rabid anti Semite he nonetheless embraced African American workers in the era of Jim Crow Uncovering the man behind the myth situating his achievements and their attendant controversies firmly within the context of early twentieth century America Watts has given us a comprehensive illuminating and fascinating biography of one of America's first mass culture celebrities The Visual Focus of American Media Culture in the Twentieth Century Wiley

Lee Umphlett,2004 This is a sociocultural history of the visually oriented mass media forms that beguiled American society from the 1890s to the end of World War II The purpose of the work is to show how revolutionary technological advances during these years were instrumental in helping create a unique culture of media made origins By focusing on the communal appeal of both traditional and new modes of visual expression as welcome diversions from the harsh realities of life this book also attends to the American people's affinity for those special individuals whose talent vision and lifestyle introduced daring new ways to avoid the ordinariness of life by fantasizing it Also examined is the sociocultural impact of an ongoing democratization process that through its nurturing of a responsive media culture gradually eroded the polar postures of the elite and mass cultures so that by the mid 1940s signs of a coming postmodern alliance were in the air Illustrated Before his retirement Wiley Lee Umphlett served as an administrator professor at the University of West Florida for more than twenty five years

Unfinished Business Judith Hamera,2017-10-02 How does structural economic change look and feel How are such changes normalized Who represents hope Who are the cautionary tales Unfinished Business argues that U S deindustrialization cannot be understood apart from issues of race and specifically apart from images of and works by and about African Americans that represent or resist normative or aberrant relationships to work and capital in transitional times It insists that Michael Jackson's performances and coverage of his life plays featuring Detroit plans for the city's postindustrial revitalization and Detroit installations The Heidelberg Project and Mobile Homestead have something valuable to teach us about three decades of structural economic transition in the U S particularly about the changing nature of work and capitalism between the mid 1980s and 2016 Jackson and Detroit offer examples of the racialization of deindustrialization how it operates as a structure of feeling and as representations as well as a shift in the dominant mode of production and how industrialization's successor mode financialization uses imagery both very similar to and very different from its predecessor World Wars and the Modern Age David C. When Memory Speaks Jill Ker Conway,2011-06-08 J ill Ker Conway one of our most admired autobiographers author of The Road from Coorain and True North looks astutely and with feeling into the modern memoir the forms and styles it assumes and the strikingly different ways in which men and women respectively tend to understand and present their lives In a narrative rich with evocations of memoirists over the centuries from Jean Jacques Rousseau and George Sand to W E B Du Bois Virginia Woolf Frank McCourt and Katharine Graham the author suggests why it is that we are so drawn to the reading of autobiography and she illuminates the cultural assumptions behind the ways in which we talk about ourselves Conway traces the narrative patterns typically found in autobiographies by men to the tale of the classical Greek hero and his epic journey of adventure She shows how this configuration evolved in memoirs into the passionate romantic struggling against the conventions of society into the frontier hero battling the wilderness into self made men overcoming economic obstacles to create an invention or a fortune or more recently into a quest for meaning for an understandable past for an ethnic identity In contrast she sees the designs that women commonly employ for their memoirs as evolving from the writings of the mystics such as Dame Julian of Norwich or St Teresa of Avila about their relationship with an all powerful God As against the male autobiographer s expectation of power over his fate we see the woman memoirist again and again believing that she lacks command of her destiny and tending to censor her own story Throughout Conway underlines the memoir s magic quality of allowing us to enter another human being s life and mind and how this experience enlarges and instructs our own lives
