Chinese Transnational Migration in the Age of Global Modernity Liangni Sally Liu, 2018-01-17 The term circulatory transnational migration best describes the unconventional migratory route of many contemporary Chinese migrants that is an unfinished set of circulatory movements that these migrants engage in between the homeland and various host countries Return migration step migration to a third destination and the astronauting strategy are all included within this circulatory migration movement wherein returning to the country of origin does not always mean to settle back to the homeland permanently while step migration also does not necessarily mean to re migrate to a third destination country for a permanent purpose Liu takes a longitudinal perspective to study Chinese migrants transnational movements and looks at their transnational migratory movements as a family matter and progressive and dynamic process using New Zealand as a primary case study She examines Chinese migrants initial motives for immigrating to New Zealand the driving forces behind their adoption of a transnational lifestyle which includes leaving New Zealand to return to China moving to a third country typically Australia or commuting across borders family related considerations inter generational dynamics in transnational migration as well as their future movement intentions Liu also discusses Chinese migrants conceptualisation of home citizenship identity and sense of belonging to provide a deeper understanding of their transnational migratory experiences

China's Millions, 1881 Japanese War Orphans Jiaxin Zhong, 2021-11-25 After Japan's defeat in August 1945 some Japanese children were abandoned in China and raised by Chinese foster parents. They were unable to return to Japan even during the mass repatriation carried out by the Japanese government in the 1950s. Most of them returned to Japan in the 1980s. They are called Japanese war orphans. They are victims of the Sino Japanese War and have been exploited and abandoned by the Japanese government. They are also border people who have lived in the interstices between two nations, China and Japan, and are migrants who have exploited the gap in economic development between Japan and China to seek individual happiness. Modern East Asia underwent drastic social change. These drastic social changes affected the lives of the Japanese war orphans and their families in a variety of ways. Over the years Zhong has interviewed Japanese war orphans, their Chinese foster parents, and Japanese volunteers. The title is an interview-based sociological study of the issue of Japanese war orphans. The first half of the Japanese war orphans' lives were spent in China, and the latter half in Japan. It brings to the fore the dramatic personal histories of the Japanese war orphans surviving in the interstices between two nation-states. Through analyzing the issue of Japanese war orphans, the research on the subject makes the following three points: 1. the powerlessness of civilians caught up in modern warfare and the long-lasting effects of modern warfare on the life histories of individuals and their families; 2. the nature of the modern nation state which exploits and abandons its citizens as though they were expendable; and 3. immigration as a product of modernization gaps. Scholars pursuing studies in both Japanese society, Chinese society, and historians of the Sino Japanese war would find this an ideal read.

China's High-Tech Repression Against Uyghurs: Novel Theoretical Insights Lacin Idil Oztig, Abdurresit Celil Karluk, 2025-02-14 This book explores the socio-spatial impacts of China's high-tech repression against Uyghurs both within and beyond its borders. The study is built on surveys, in-depth interviews, and focus group discussions with the members of Uyghur diaspora in Turkey. Findings indicate that high-tech repression minimizes the social life in East Turkestan. This type of governance aims to achieve a complete erasure of privacy and individual agency by strategically leveraging technology. While Uyghurs who escaped to Turkey appear to gain relative freedom, our findings indicate that with China's transnational repression mostly applied through Information and Communication Technologies (ICTs), they live in a social space which functions as a quasi-spatial extension of East Turkestan.

Chinese Heart-throbs Jennie V. Hughes, 1920 Flowing with the Pearl River: Memoir of a Red China Girl Amy Chan Zhou, 2022-03-15 Amy Chan Zhou's searing memoir about growing up in rural Communist China features descriptions of pastoral beauty and tales of the simple joys of raising farm animals or catching fish in a local river. However, her childhood is scarred by the primitive conditions, her family's everyday struggle to obtain food, and the horror of witnessing relatives being tortured on a stage during public denouncing meetings. As the Communists take control of China in 1949, we follow the harrowing experiences of Chan Zhou's great grandparents.

grandparents father and mother during the 1950s 60s and 70s when landlords business owners artists and scholars were branded as bad elements and class enemies As a teenager in the 1970s while selling vegetables on the black market Chan Zhou is accused of being a little capitalist trader The death of Mao ultimately saves Chan Zhou from being sent to a detention center and her family s destiny is forever altered by Deng Xiaoping s reform that allows her family to reunite in Hong Kong and subsequently emigrate to the United States A blend of Wild Swans and The Red Scarf Girl Flowing with the Pearl River is a vividly accurate portrayal of one family s painful experiences during Communism and the Cultural Revolution in China and their eventual escape to freedom

New Narratives of Urban Space in Republican Chinese Cities, 2013-03-27 The nine empirical studies in New Narratives of Urban Space in Republican Chinese Cities organized under the general framework of urban space examine three critical dimensions of the great urban transformation in Republican China social legal and governance orders Together these narratives suggest a new perception of this historical urbanism While modern economic development was a major drive for Chinese urban transformation this volume highlights the dimension of the multilayered forces that shape urban space by looking into that less quantifiable but equally important cultural realm and by exposing the ways in which these forces created new urban narratives which became themselves shapers of urban space and of our perception of the Republican urbanity

China Dog Judy Fong Bates, 2002-06-13 A chorus of immigrant voices populates Judy Fong Bates s graceful and poignant first collection Denizens of the ubiquitous small towns around Ontario as far from their native land as can be imagined yet united by their proximity to the local Chinese laundry her characters have in common their driving desire to assimilate to fit in to belong to a majority culture But they are also people trapped by a certain cultural pride in confronting a world that may feign acceptance while at the same time reminding them that they are other In the words of the Toronto Globe and Mail Judy Fong Bates s deceptively simple narratives expose the hopes and hardships that define her characters lives Her graceful writing is full of compassion insight and honesty it opens our eyes to the commonality of what it is to be human

Culture, Cognition, and Emotion in China's Religious Ethnic Minorities Rachel Sing-Kiat Ting, Louise Sundararajan, 2017-10-20 This study examines the suffering narratives of the Bimo and Christian religious communities of the Yi minority who reside in the remote mountains of Sichuan and Yunnan China respectively It is informed by the theoretical framework of ecological rationality which posits that religions influence and are influenced by cognitive styles that have co evolved with the ecological niche of a culture It was predicted and found that in times of adversity traditional religious communities differ in emotion expression causal attribution and help seeking behavior with far reaching ramifications for how they are uniquely vulnerable to the ravages of modernization The authors hope that the voices of the study participants heard through their harrowing narratives may inspire a deepened sensitivity to the plight of rural Chinese communities as China races to become a superpower in the global economy

The Modernist Response to Chinese Art Zhaoming Qian, 2003 The Modernist Response to Chinese Art is a work of both erudition and sympathy that reveals the root of modernist poets otherwise baffling interest in and use of Chinese art Most impressive perhaps is the depth of their embrace of it as Qian has so convincingly documented Patricia C Williams Chinese Women Traversing Diaspora Sharon K.
