Parkland Living Landscapes:

The Living Landscape Patrick Whitefield, 2009 Being able to read the landscape whilst on a walk makes a huge difference It is like suddenly seeing the world in colour after being used to a lifetime of black and white The Living Landscape looks in detail at landscape formation from rocks through soil to vegetation and the intricate web of interactions between plants animals climate and the people that makes the landscape around us Each chapter is interspersed with diagrams sketches and notes that Patrick has taken over two decades of living and working in the countryside Patrick will inspire you to reconnect with the land as a living entity not a collection of different scenery and develop an active relationship with nature and the countryside This book invites you to actively engage with nature and experience it first hand Understanding how landscapes evolve is a useful skill for landscape designers farmers gardeners and smallholders but it is also a life enhancing skill all of us can enjoy Patrick offers us the enduring pleasure that costs nothing and yet offers everything Publisher s description Europe's Living Landscapes Bas Pedroli, Anne van Doorn, Geert de Blust, 2014-12-22 This book is the result of three symposia of the Dutch Society for Landscape Ecology The first symposium in 2005 was about the National Ecological Network in the Netherlands The reason was that the implementation of the NEN decided upon in 1990 was halfway The second symposium in 2006 was about urban ecology and the third one to be held in 2007 will be about civil infrastructure This book does not cover the conferences completely and new contributions are added The three themes are important contexts in which landscape ecologists do their research and apply their knowledge and skills Of course there are many more subjects to hold conferences about for example climate change urbanisation agriculture landscape ecology itself etc The focus of the conferences is on the Netherlands with its urbanisation intensive land use and water management as characteristic features Although many WLO members do their work abroad or in an international context these conferences offer a window on what happens in the Dutch context The experiences may be of value for other contexts and that is why we present the results in English The selected themes and the focus on the Dutch context are serious demarcations of what landscape ecology in the Netherlands is all about The book does not represent all research and applications of landscape ecology Living Landscape Laura McCreery, 2010 Living Landscape traces the East Bay Regional Park District s 75 year history from its beginnings in the depths of the Great Depression when voters approved a tax hike to its establishment as the largest and most innovative regional park agency in the United States The agency s unwavering focus and sophisticated methods have allowed it to preserve 100 000 acres of public parklands in 65 parks throughout San Francisco Bay Area s Alameda and Contra Costa counties the East Bay The book explores the politically charged annexation of new territory in 1964 board members whose controversial tactics nearly brought the agency to its knees the clashes of pure open space advocates with those favoring increased public access to parks and many more pivotal moments Set against the coming of age of the environmental movement the book reveals how these extraordinary events unfolded through the eyes and words of people behind the scenes Living Landscape informs and surprises readers interested in the environment California history politics law or simply a good story Ancient Trees, Living Landscapes Richard Muir,2006 Over the last 25 years archaeologists and historians have been increasingly aware of the importance of woodland in the developing British landscape No one has devoted more research to this subject then Richard Muir In this magisterial study matched by numerous informative and evocative illustrations the author begins by disposing of the myth that in prehistoric times Britain was swathed in a virtually impenetrable wildwood In fact from the earliest times woodland has been manipulated and transformed The author looks at landmark trees then examines ancient trees and hedgerows before charting the early development of trees in the park and then later parkland and forestry Parkland Graham Harvey,2002 Parkland is a familiar and enduring landscape From its origins in the cleared areas of the wildwood to the contemporary interpretation of the recreation ground with children s swings the concept of the park is deeply rooted in the history and culture of the UK A decidedly pastoral environment it is one which has been repeatedly reinvented through the centuries Perhaps because of the chord that parks strike within us they have been the focus of concerted human activity since their very creation As places in which to live work seek food and materials rear livestock enjoy leisure time and appreciate both landscape and wildlife they are unrivalled Against this complex backdrop Parkland considers the origins and development of parks by looking at their social and natural history Graham Harvey traces the evolution of parkland from its earliest guise as a wood pasture through royal forests and deer parks to the 18th century landscape park and finally to the metropolitan creations of the Victorian philanthropists The book is fully illustrated with both contemporary and historical photographs as well as specially commissioned wildlife watercolors by artist Dan Cole Managing Cultural Landscapes Ken Taylor,Jane Lennon,2012-02-13 One of our deepest needs is for a sense of identity and belonging A common feature in this is human attachment to landscape and how we find identity in landscape and place The late 1980s and early 1990s saw a remarkable flowering of interest in and understanding of cultural landscapes With these came a challenge to the 1960s and 1970s concept of heritage concentrating on great monuments and archaeological locations famous architectural ensembles or historic sites with connections to the rich and famous Managing Cultural Landscapes explores the latest thought in landscape and place by airing critical discussion of key issues in cultural landscapes through accessible accounts of how the concept of cultural landscape applies in diverse contexts across the globe and is inextricably tied to notions of living history where landscape itself is a rich social history record widening the notion that landscape only involves rural settings to embrace historic urban landscapes townscapes examining critical issues of identity maintenance of traditional skills and knowledge bases in the face of globalization and new technologies fostering international debate with interdisciplinary appeal to provide a critical text for academics students practitioners and informed community organizations discussing how the cultural landscape concept can be a useful management tool relative to current issues and challenges With contributions from an international group of authors Managing Cultural Landscapes provides an examination of the management of heritage values of cultural landscapes from Australia Japan China USA Canada Thailand Indonesia Pacific Islands India and the Philippines it reviews critically the factors behind the removal of Dresden and its cultural landscape from World Heritage listing and gives an overview of Historic Urban Landscape thinking

The 1972 World Heritage Convention, 2023-10-02 Almost fifty years have passed since the adoption of the Convention Concerning the Protection of the World Cultural and Natural Heritage the UNESCO World Heritage Convention With its 194 States Parties it is the most widely ratified convention within the family of UNESCO treaties on the protection of cultural heritage The success of this Convention and its almost universal acceptance by the international community of states is due to the great appeal that recognising certain properties as world heritage has for national governments Since the publication of the first Commentary new problems have arisen in the management of world heritage sites It has become increasingly difficult to properly monitor the conservation of the ever growing mass of sites inscribed in the World Heritage List and to resolve disputes over the formal designation of contested world heritage properties a problem that has led to the withdrawal of the United States and Israel from UNESCO New frontiers are now being explored for the expansion of the world heritage idea over marine areas beyond national jurisdiction and the monopoly of the State in the identification delineation and presentation of world heritage properties is being increasingly challenged in the name of indigenous peoples rights and by local communities claiming ownership over contested cultural sites At the same time the regime of world heritage protection has infiltrated other areas of international law especially international economic law investment arbitration and the area of international criminal law This second edition critically examines the World Heritage Convention against this dynamic evolution of international heritage law to help academics lawyers diplomats and officials interpret and apply the norms of the Convention after half a century of uninterrupted implementing practice by State Parties and Treaty Bodies

Nature Marie Addyman, 2021 A journey through texts on about or reflecting our experience of the natural world

The Living Landscape Frederick R. Steiner, 1991 This third year postgraduate text for courses in Landscape or Environmental Architecture covers the entire planning process from an ecological perspective It is organized around a series of conventional planning steps beginning with why to plan including the identification of problems and opportunities continuing through the various stages of inventory and analysis and arriving at the adoption of a plan complete with community involvement design implementation and administration The ecological perspective of the book stresses the interrelationships between people and nature Case studies are used to illustrate how planning has been used to address environmental issues

Integrated Landscapes in Policy, Practice and Everyday Life Kathryn Moore, Anastasia Nikologianni, Alex Albans, Paul Cureton, 2025-06-27 Exploring the ways in which an integrated landscape vision can help deliver regional national and international agendas this book investigates how a new idea of landscape can reimagine governance policy economics culture identity health transport and development priorities by connecting in a more powerful and meaningful way with local aspirations and demands Developed in fieldwork undertaken over the last decade the capacity of a landscape led approach to deal with problems such as rapid urbanisation water and food security climate change air pollution and health is both timely and topical Divided into three main sections it includes illustrated case studies from the UK Europe East Asia South Asia and more As part of a strategy to capture build and disseminate expertise in this approach the book aims to develop an interdisciplinary body of work that will appeal to academics and professionals by bringing together a number of contributors who are operating at the cutting edge of landscape led large scale transformation This book is essential for practitioners and academics of landscape architecture as well as students in the architecture and design fields Landscape Perspectives Marc Antrop,Veerle Van

Eetvelde,2017-12-19 Climb a mountain and experience the landscape Try to grasp its holistic nature Do not climb alone but with others and share your experience Be sure the ways of seeing the landscape will be very different We experience the landscape with all senses as a complex dynamic and hierarchically structured whole The landscape is tangible out there and simultaneously a mental reality Several perspectives are obvious because of language culture and background Many disciplines developed to study the landscape focussing on specific interest groups and applications Gradually the holistic way of seeing became lost This book explores the different perspectives on the landscape in relation to its holistic nature We start from its multiple linguistic meanings and a comprehensive overview of the development of landscape research from its geographical origins to the wide variety of today s specialised disciplines and interest groups Understanding the different perspectives on the landscapes and bringing them together is essential in transdisciplinary approaches where the landscape is the integrating concept Green Fields, Brown Fields, New Fields David Nichols,Anna Hurlimann,Clare

Mouat,Stephen Pascoe,2010 The conference explores past and future approaches to managing and designing for growth development and decline This goes beyond debates over density frontier development and renewal It includes new fields of historical policy and social research which inform discussion of heritage growth environmental economic and other issues of urban life and urban form Page iii BBC Wildlife ,2003 The Routledge Handbook of Cultural Landscape Heritage in The Asia-Pacific Kapila D. Silva,Ken Taylor,David S. Jones,2022-07-29 The Routledge Handbook of Cultural Landscape Heritage in the Asia Pacific revisits the use growth and potential of the cultural landscape methodology in the conservation and management of culture nature heritage in the Asia Pacific region Taking both a retrospective and prospective view of the management of cultural heritage in the region this volume argues that the plurality and complexity of heritage in the region cannot be comprehensively understood and effectively managed without a broader conceptual framework like the cultural landscape approach The book also demonstrates that such an approach facilitates the development of a flexible strategy for heritage conservation Acknowledging the effects of rapid socio economic development globalization and climate change contributors examine the pressure these issues place on the sustenance of cultural heritage Including chapters from more than 20 countries across the Asia Pacific region the volume reviews the effectiveness of theoretical and practical potentials afforded by the cultural landscape approach and examines how they have been utilized in the Asia Pacific context for the last three decades The Routledge Handbook of Cultural Landscape Heritage in the Asia Pacific provides a comprehensive analysis of the processes of cultural landscape heritage conservation and management As a result it will be of interest to academics students and professionals who are based in the fields of cultural heritage management architecture urban planning landscape architecture and landscape management

Trees Beyond the Wood (colour) Ian D. Rotherham, Christine Handley, Mauro Agnoletti, Tomasz Samojlik, 2013-07-05 Trees Beyond the Wood was written for a conference organised to celebrate twenty years of work since the first major conference on the theme of ancient trees and woodlands held in Sheffield UK It was held almost ten years after the landmark 2003 Working and Walking in the Footsteps of Ghosts event which started to raise issues and challenge assumptions about what is ancient or natural and what is meant by the terms wood or woodland Since then on going work in a range of disciplines across ecology biology landscape history archaeology forestry and nature conservation has continued the process of research and evaluation across the subject area The collection of papers by contributors from across Europe reflects this broad range of interests and disciplines

Quarterly Journal of Forestry, 2004 Vol 1 includes the Transactions of the Irish Forestry Society

Trees and Woodland in the British Landscape Oliver Rackham, 2020-03-19 A beautifully written classic of nature writing A masterly account of supreme interest a classic Country Life Long accepted as the best work on the subject Oliver Rackham's book is both a comprehensive history of Britain's woodland and a field work guide that presents trees individually and as part of the landscape From prehistoric times through the Roman period and into the Middle Ages Oliver Rackham describes the changing character role and history of trees and woodland He concludes this definitive study with a section on the conservation and future of Britain's trees woodlands and hedgerows

The Company of Trees Thomas Pakenham, 2015-09-10 The master Puts all other modern tree writers in the shade John Lewis Stempel author of Meadowland Thomas Pakenham is an indefatigable champion of trees In The Company of Trees he recounts his personal quest to establish a large arboretum on the family estate Tullynally in Ireland his forays to other tree filled parks and plantations his often hazardous seed hunting expeditions and his efforts to preserve magnificent old trees and historic woodlands Whether writing about the terrible storms breaking the backs of hundred year old trees or a fire in the peat bog on Tullynally which threatens to spread to the main commercial spruce woods his fear of climate change and disease or the sturdy young saplings giving him hope for the future his book is never less than enthralling

The Naturalist, 2003

Urban Wildscapes Anna Jorgensen, Richard Keenan, 2012-03-12 Evolved rather than designed or planned these derelict abandoned and marginal spaces or wildernesses are frequently overgrown with vegetation and host to a wide range of human activities They include former industrial sites landfill allotments cemeteries woods infrastructural corridors vacant lots and a whole array of urban waste lands at a variety of different scales Frequently maligned in the media these landscapes have recently been re evaluated and this collection combines these fresh perspectives in one volume Includes around 100 colour images
