The Gardner, 1878      Gardens of the Mind Michael Spens, 1992 Born in 1900 Geoffrey Jellicoe's working life spans virtually all the main developments in landscape and garden design of the 20th century this thoughtful study of his contributions to these disciplines reveals the origins and forms of his genius Influences on his work have ranged from the writings of ancient Greeks to those of Carl Jung and from classical art to Jackson Pollock and these together with his own particular vision have given Jellicoe's work an individuality and style that is internationally recognised While the significance of the worlds of art and ideas concerning the way man handles landscape can never be underestimated in the work of Geoffrey Jellicoe we can see such interaction heightened to a thought provoking level where we not only appreciate his work but also question our own attitudes to our surroundings The author himself an architect records Jellicoe's education at the Architectural Association and his early days in Italy with fellow architectural student Jock Shepherd which resulted in 1925 in the seminal work Italian Gardens of the Renaissance Spens then traces architecture to landscape design as illustrated by his work first at Cheddar Gorge and then at Ditchley Park Through discussion of private garden commissions such as those at Shute House and Sutton Place and public projects like the renowned Kennedy Memorial at Runnymede the Cheltenham and Turin sports complexes and the monumental plans for the Moody Historical Gardens at Galveston Texas the author assesses Jellicoe's approach to the individual project and its existing landscape and examines the symbolism and varied influences behind his thinking This book is unique as the first detailed study to explore the genius of a world famous master in this field It is essential reading for those interested in the history of landscape architecture in the 20th century and for all students of the theory and practice of landscape and garden design 94 colour 155 b w illustrations      Pleasure Gardens of the Mind Pratapaditya Pal, Stephen Markel, Janice Leoshko, 1993 Indian paintings often depict a complete world a world constructed rather than depicted realistically and sometimes a completely imaginary one Divided thematically into religious romantic musical and courtly subjects the paintings in this book provide glimpses into some of the many worlds painted by Rajput and Mughal artists in the sixteenth to nineteenth centuries Pleasure Gardens of the Mind documents an exhibition at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art chosen from the collection of Jane Greenough Green to demonstrate some of the richness and stylistic variety of the Indian pictorial tradition The book begins with a brief overview of Indian painting followed by the four thematic groupings Sectional introductions discuss the nature of religious paintings pictures of human and divine lovers musical modes given visible form and the painted worlds of courtiers and kings Individual entries describe the subject and style and discuss the dates and locations of each painting's production Rather than merely presenting a chronology of styles or schools the book's thematic organization assists in understanding subjects unique in Indian art as well as how subjects found in many painting traditions such as pictures of animals were expressed in various Indian schools BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved      The French Mind on the Landscape juxtaposition by the contrast but also the connection between logic and feeling between the real and the transcendent between our outer and inner selves Jane Austen slides her manuscript under her blotter bewildered young mothers chat politely on the playground the simple lines of a Chinese bowl in a thrift store remind the poet of the only apparent simplicities of her childhood The title poem hilariously and ruefully depicts the friction between passion and repression Perhaps my body would have liked to make some of our dates to come home at four in the morning and answer my scowl with None of your business In a sequence of nine poems Pollitt turns to the Bible for inspiration transforming some of the oldest tales of Western civilization into subversive modern parables What if Adam and Eve couldn't wait to leave Eden What if God needs us more than we need him With these moving vivid and utterly distinctive poems Katha Pollitt reminds us that poetry can be both profound and accessible and reconfirms her standing in the first rank of modern American poets Gardens and Gardening in the Chesapeake, 1700-1805 Barbara Wells Sarudy, 1998-06-05 In Gardens and Gardening in the Chesapeake Barbara Wells Sarudy recovers this lost world using a remarkable variety of sources historic maps travelers accounts diaries paintings some on the back of Baltimore painted chairs account ledgers catalogues and newspaper advertisements She offers an engaging account of the region's earliest gardens introducing us to the people who designed and tended these often elaborate landscapes and explaining the forces and finances behind their creation From the favorite books of early gardeners to the republican balance between table and ornamental gardens Sarudy includes details that give us an understanding of Chesapeake gardening from settlement through the early national period The Poem, the Garden, and the World Jim Ellis, 2023-02-15 How an early modern understanding of place and movement are embedded in a performative theory of literature How is a garden like a poem Early modern writers frequently compared the two and as Jim Ellis shows the metaphor gained strength with the arrival of a spectacular new art form the Renaissance pleasure garden which immersed visitors in a political allegory to be read by their bodies movements The Poem, the Garden, and the World traces the Renaissance era relationship of place and movement from garden to poetry to a confluence of both Starting with the Earl of Leicester's pleasure garden for Queen Elizabeth's 1575 progress visit Ellis explores the political function of the entertainment landscape that plunged visitors into a fully realized golden world a mythical new form to represent the nation Next he turns to one of that garden's visitors Philip Sidney who would later contend that literature's golden worlds work to move us as we move through them reorienting readers toward a belief in English empire This idea would later be illustrated by Edmund Spenser's Faerie Queen as with the pleasure garden both characters and readers are refashioned as they traverse the poem's dreamlike space Exploring the artistic creations of three of the era's major figures Ellis argues for a performative understanding of literature in which readers are transformed as they navigate poetic worlds Chāchājī, 2000 Iran: Empire of the Mind Michael Axworthy, 2008-11-06 FULLY UPDATED SECOND EDITION NOW WITH NEW POSTSCRIPT BY ALI ANSARI Iran often appears in the media as a hostile and difficult country But beneath the headlines there is a fascinating story of a nation of great intellectual variety and depth and enormous cultural importance A nation whose impact has been tremendous not only on its neighbours in the Middle East but on the world as a whole and through ideas and creativity rather than by the sword From the time of the prophet Zoroaster to the powerful ancient Persian Empires to the revolution of 1979 the hostage crisis and current president Mahmud Ahmadinejad a controversial figure within as well as outside the country Michael Axworthy traces a vivid integrated account of Iran s past He explains clearly and carefully both the complex succession of dynasties that ruled ancient Iran and the surprising ethnic diversity of the modern country held together by a common culture With Iran again the focus of the world s attention and questions about the country s disposition and intentions pressing Iran Empire of the Mind is an essential guide to understanding a complicated land
