Reading The Earth New Directions In The Study Of Literature And Environment:

Reading the Earth Michael P. Branch, 1998 Distributed by the University of Nebraska Press for the University of Idaho Press Ecocriticism is a scholarly approach to literature that is rapidly building momentum and legitimacy because of its usefulness as a means of inquiry into the relationship between human culture and the nonhuman world This collection demonstrates promising new directions in the study of literature and environment and suggests the importance and passion of this scholarly enterprise American Literary Environmentalism David Mazel, 2000 Through these literary studies Maze demonstrates how broadly American culture is saturated with the wilderness mystique and how the construction of the environment is an exercise of cultural power BOOK JACKET Getting Over the Color Green Scott Slovic, 2001 Desert vistas are often deemed vacant inhospitable wastelands Don't suggest that to Joy Harjo Pat Mora or other contemporary southwestern writers In these arid stretches often devoid of green today's southwestern writers see pyrotechnic colors and Gothic shapes that excite and often overwhelm the imagination And they capture this excitement in words that fix these desert images in the minds of readers who may too often look at the world through green colored glasses This anthology of contemporary nature writing from the Greater Southwest brings together a host of writers including peers of Edward Abbey such as Charles Bowden and Ann Zwinger and representatives of a new generation of writers such as Rick Bass and Terry Tempest Williams The book is an eclectic blend of nonfiction and fiction field notes and poetry through which artists of diverse backgrounds both celebrate and illuminate the unique vitality and complexity of southwestern literature proving that green is only one of many colors on their palette The selections included here range all across the southwestern landscape and explore adventures in the wild topics in natural history living close to the land and efforts at conservation and restoration They clearly demonstrate that there is grace and beauty in this often maligned part of the world both in the human traditions that have developed in the region and in the natural features of the desert itself Environment, Society, and The Compleat Angler Marjorie Swann, 2023-08-31 First published in 1653 The Compleat Angler is one of the most influential environmental texts ever written Addressing a politically and religiously polarized nation devastated by warfare disease ecological degradation and climate change Izaak Walton's famous fishing treatise stages a radical thought experiment how might humanity's enhanced relationship with the natural world generate a new kind of sustaining and sustainable social order beyond the traditional boundaries of the church the state and the biological family Challenging the current scholarly consensus that reads Walton's how to manual as a conservative polemic camouflaged by fishlore Marjorie Swann examines this richly complicated portrayal of the natural world through an ecocritical lens and explores other neglected aspects of Walton's writings including his depictions of social hierarchy gender and sexuality In the process Swann analyzes a host of noncanonical environmental texts and provides a groundbreaking reappraisal of Charles Cotton's Part II of The Compleat Angler This study extends the hydrological turn in early modern ecocriticism and demonstrates how as a genre angling manuals provide new insights into the environmental cultural social and literary history of early modern England Taking its place alongside landmark works of ecocriticism such as Green Shakespeare and Milton and Ecology this fresh and timely reassessment of The Compleat Angler rightly ranks Izaak Walton among the most important environmental writers of the early modern era

Words for a Small Planet Nanette Norris, 2013 Ecocriticism has matured beyond nature writing beyond writing about nature The essays in this volume look at the broader cultural historical sociological and psychological implications of ecology in written visual and sound culture In keeping with our sense of a global community these essays are representative of international scholarship on ecology and the environment and display the range of insight of which this criticism is capable Focusing on popular culture this volume is in the vanguard of our collective reflections on the directions in which our various societies are going

Encyclopedia of Life Writing Margaretta Jolly, 2013-12-04 First published in 2001 This is the first substantial reference work in English on the various forms that constitute life writing As this term suggests the Encyclopedia explores not only autobiography and biography proper but also letters diaries memoirs family histories case histories and other ways in which individual lives have been recorded and structured It includes entries on genres and subgenres national and regional traditions from around the world and important auto biographical writers as well as articles on related areas such as oral history anthropology testimonies and the representation of life stories in non verbal art forms

Alice Walker Gerri Bates, 2005-10-30 Alice Walker born in Eatonton Georgia in 1944 overcame a disadvantaged sharecropping background blindness in one eye and the tense times of the Civil Rights Movement to become one of the world's most respected African American writers While attending both Spelman and Sarah Lawrence Colleges Walker began to draw on both her personal tragedies and those of her community to write poetry essays short stories and novels that would tell the virtually untold stories of oppressed African and African American women providing readers with hope and inspiring activism Perhaps best known for her novel The Color Purple 1982 which won the Pulitzer Prize in 1983 and became a controversial film three years later Walker has introduced and developed womanist theory criticism and practice and continues to champion the causes of women of color by encouraging their strength and liberation in her life and her writings

Literary works analyzed in this volume The Third Life of Grange Copeland Meridian The Color Purple The Temple of My Familiar Possessing the Secret of Joy By the Light of My Father's Smile The Way Forward Is With a Broken Heart Now is the Time to Open Your Heart

Sustainable Poetry Leonard M. Scigaj, 2021-12-15 Focusing on the work of A R Ammons Wendell Berry W S Merwin and Gary Snyder author Leonard Scigaj shows that just as a sustainable society does not deprecate its resource base so a sustainable poetry does not restrict interest to language Over the past thirty years many poets have shown an increasing sensitivity to ecological thinking But critics trained in poststructuralist language theory often fail to explore the substance of ecopoetry Scigaj is the first to define ecopoetry as separate and distinct from nature or environmental poetry marked by its concern with balancing the interests of human beings with the needs of nature Just as science learned that the earth was not the center of the universe ecopoetry insists on the recognition that humans are not at the center of the natural world Walt Whitman and the Earth M. Jimmie Killingsworth, 2009-11 Now I am terrified at the Earth it is that calm and patient It grows such sweet things out of such corruptions It turns harmless and stainless on its axis with such endless successions of diseases and corpses It distills such exquisite winds out of such infused fetor It renews with such unwitting looks its prodigal annual sumptuous crops It gives such divine materials to men and accepts such leavings from them at last Walt Whitman from This Compost How did Whitman use language to figure out his relationship to the earth and how can we interpret his language to reconstruct the interplay between the poet and his sociopolitical and environmental world In this first book length study of Whitman's poetry from an ecocritical perspective Jimmie Killingsworth takes ecocriticism one step further into ecopoetics to reconsider both Whitman's language in light of an ecological understanding of the world and the world through a close study of Whitman's language Killingsworth contends that Whitman's poetry embodies the kinds of conflicted experience and language that continually crop up in the discourse of political ecology and that an ecopoetic perspective can explicate Whitman's feelings about his aging body his war torn nation and the increasing stress on the American environment both inside and outside the urban world He begins with a close reading of This Compost Whitman's greatest contribution to the literature of ecology from the 1856 edition of Leaves of Grass He then explores personification and nature as object as resource and as spirit and examines manifest destiny and the globalizing impulse behind Leaves of Grass then moves the other way toward Whitman's regional even local appeal demonstrating that he remained an island poet even as he became America's first urban poet After considering Whitman as an urbanizing poet he shows how in his final writings Whitman tried to renew his earlier connection to nature Walt Whitman and the Earth reveals Whitman as a powerfully creative experimental poet and a representative figure in American culture whose struggles and impulses previewed our lives today Louise Erdrich Deborah L. Madsen, 2011-09-01 Leading scholars critically explore three leading novels by Louise Erdrich one of the most important and popular Native American writers working today Louise Erdrich has shaped the possibilities for Native American women's and popular fiction in the United States during the late twentieth century Louise Erdrich collects new essays by noted scholars of Native American Literature on three important novels that chart the trajectory of Erdrich's novelistic career Tracks 1988 The Last Report on the Miracles At Little No Horse 2001 and The Plague of Doves 2007 This book illuminates Erdrich's multiperspectival representation of Native American culture and history Focusing on such topics as humor religion ethnicity gender race sexuality trauma history and narrative form the essays collected here offer fresh readings of Erdrich's explorations of Native American identities through her innovative fictions This series offers up to date guides to the recent work of major contemporary North American authors Written by leading scholars in the field each book presents a range of original interpretations of three key texts published since 1990 showing how the same novel may be interpreted in a number of different ways These informative accessible volumes will appeal to advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students facilitating discussion and supporting close analysis of the most important contemporary American and Canadian fiction
