ABSTRACT

It is well-established that suicide is associated with grief that is complex. However, there is very limited research examining the grief experiences and long-term outcomes for a particularly vulnerable group, namely, children who have lost a parent through suicide. This review aims to critically examine the small body of available quantitative and qualitative research on the impact of parental suicide and examines factors associated with the children's adjustment. Children's adjustment is shown to be influenced by the age of the child at time of parent suicide, their personal attributes, level of family support, social environment, economic and environmental factors, and the process of 'meaning making' engaged in by the child. Some recent intervention studies are reviewed, suggesting that children's needs following parental suicide are not well understood nor are support services readily available or accessed. Processes of resilience related to children bereaved by parental suicide are outlined and future research needs are highlighted.

Keywords: parental suicide; bereavement; grief; support services; children and adolescent

Over 1000 suicide deaths are identified annually in Australia, although the actual number is likely to be much higher due to under-reporting (Australian Bureau of Statistics [ABS] 2006). While suicide prevention is a high priority, national health issue (ABS 2006), less attention has been paid to the outcomes of suicide for family members dealing with the loss. This paper reviews research on the impact of suicide on family members, with a particular focus on the impact of parental suicide on children and adolescents. It examines potentially contributing factors present in the family, especially those relevant to a child's coping with the loss of their parent.

The paper reviews the limited quantitative and qualitative research available on parental suicide and its effects on children, and methodological issues in this research area are critically discussed. The review also examines factors which influence children's capacity to comprehend and adjust to the loss, and those factors associated with more resilient outcomes. Studies of supportive interventions with the bereaved children are examined, and evidence of their effectiveness is reviewed. Finally, recommendations for the fostering of resilience in the bereaved children and their families is made, together with suggestions for future research.

The studies included in this review were iden-

Dark Clouds Gather Katy Sara Culling,2011-06-01 Description This book includes a true story about reaching the very edge the very depths and heights of bipolar illness but almost always with a sense of humour Much like a car crash people cannot help but look when they spy on these sort of black events It is a new perspective on manic depression as in Prof K R Jamison s autobiography about her illness in An Unquiet Mind but mixed explosively with S Kaysen s immersion into madness in Girl Interrupted except this book feels like it s been written whilst on crack cocaine and directed by Quentin Tarantino on a blood thirsty day This book may be dark but its underlying message is one of hope Sometimes you have to see the depths of Hades before you can really appreciate life and health Being a manic depressive from just 5 then adding in anorexia bulimia self harm and hundreds of suicide attempts typical student substance misuse on the heavy end of normal culminating in a long hospitalisation when I was an Oxford doctoral student in clinical medicine I ended up totally mad in a long term psychotic mixed episode being both manic and depressed concurrently and suffering from delusions and hallucinations and several actual deaths that I was revived from This had a massive impact on the lives of my friends and family who have been dragged through 25 years of serious illness whilst feeling helpless and scared I also experienced a lot of unhelpful medical treatment and misdiagnoses all detailed here which should teach those in the profession what not to do This book will also answer the questions of friends and family and give some pointers of ways to help and not help I lost many friends as I withdrew into my illness but I made many friends with people similarly ill Some have died some have recovered and some remain ill All agree that such a complete and honest book like mine is needed This is my autobiographical tale a girl who came from nowhere up North to study medicine at Oxford University and spent the majority of her life quite literally mad but never stopped laughing about it This suits a wide audience for personal and professional reasons I want to reach sufferers carers and professionals I am proof that anything can be overcome what should not be survived can be and that nothing is more important in these diseases than hope About the Author Katy Sara Culling was born in Liverpool North England in 1975 Daughter of Sue and Paul Culling her family moved back to its roots in Derbyshire where she grew up along with her younger sister Beth in the village of Castle Donington on the Derbyshire Leicestershire border However even as young as 5 she exhibited symptoms of bipolar disorder She attended a private school for girls Loughborough High School where she was a high achieving student Unfortunately due to bullying and also to numb her mania and depression she developed anorexia nervosa and began to self harm Katy Sara then went to The University of Nottingham where she studied Biochemistry and Nutrition She did her 1st class thesis on alcohol and metabolism interested in the psychology of Alcoholism All this was done despite considerable illness including over 60 suicide attempts and purging type anorexia and yet more bullying Her good work at Nottingham lead to an offer of a place at The University of Oxford where she studied for a PhD DPhil in Clinical Medicine In her final year she became so ill with bipolar disorder that she was in hospital first as a day patient then an inpatient and eventually a sectioned inpatient During that year and a half she attempted suicide over 300 times dying twice only to be revived She finally at the age of 28 got a diagnosis of bipolar disorder and the correct medication and has been mostly fine ever since She later wrote up her PhD thesis and published her results Now Katy Sara is mostly well and has become a writer wanting to prevent othe

Remember Me Margaret Mitchell, 2011-03-17 Remember Me brings together contributors from around the world with unique insight on the ways in which one s relationship with loved ones continues endures and perhaps even grows after death Much of the available literature speaks of healthy bereavement as letting go of the deceased and moving forward with life This new text challenges that notion discussing the meaning attributed to death and to the anticipation of death The living as presented in these innovative chapters construct social entities of those who have died via the carrying out of wishes in the Will pursuing legal claims or simply attributing certain desires emotions or choices to the deceased reconstitutes them as active even vital voices even after biological death Just as life itself the end of life and death is an interdisciplinary matter A clear psychological theme and focus ties together these perspectives under three conceptual areas the anticipation of death the social life of the deceased and the legal embodiment of the deceased Universalist Union ,1839 The Catholic Weekly Instructor ,1844 How Survivors of Abuse Relate to God Susan Shooter, 2016-04-29 Grappling with theological issues raised by abuse this book argues that the Church should be challenged and ministered to by survivors Paying careful attention to her interviews with Christian women survivors Shooter finds that through painful experiences of transformation they have surprisingly become potential agents of transformation for others Shooter brings the survivors narratives into dialogue with the story of Job and with medieval mystic Marguerite Porete s spirituality of annihilation Culminating in an engagement with contemporary feminist theology concerning power and powerlessness there emerges a set of principles for authentic community spirituality which crosses boundaries with God supports appropriate human boundaries and crucially listens attentively Appealing to Church leaders students practitioners and practical theologians this book offers a creative and ethical theological enquiry as well as some spiritual anchor points for survivors     The Catholic Weekly Instructor, Or, Miscellany of Religious, Instructive and Entertaining Knowledge ,1844     National Children's Day United States.
