exist in their abstract principles Ben Ami Scharfstein argues that Western students of philosophy will profit considerably if they study Indian and Chinese philosophy from the very beginning along with their own. Written with clarity and infused with an engaging narrative voice this book is organized thematically presenting in virtually every chapter characteristic views from each tradition that represent similar positions in the core areas of metaphysics and epistemology. At the same time Scharfstein develops each tradition historically as the chapters unfold. He presents a great variety of philosophical positions fairly avoiding the relativism and ethnocentrism that could easily plague a comparative presentation of Western and non-Western philosophies.

The Columbia History of Western Philosophy Richard Henry Popkin, 1999. Richard Popkin has assembled 63 leading scholars to forge a chronological account of the development of Western philosophical traditions. From Plato to Wittgenstein and from Aquinas to Heidegger this volume provides lively in depth and up to date historical analyses of all the key figures, schools and movements of Western philosophy. Each chapter includes an introductory essay and Popkin provides notes that draw connections among the separate articles. The rich bibliographic information and the indexes of names and terms make the volume an invaluable resource.

Volume I focuses on the importance of anti monarchism in Europe and analyses the relationship between citizenship and civic humanism concluding with studies of the relationship between constitutionalism and republicanism in the period between 1500 and 1800. Volume II first published in 2002 is devoted to the study of key republican values such as liberty, virtue, politeness and toleration. This volume also addresses the role of women in European republican traditions and contains a number of in depth studies of the relationship between republicanism and the rise of a commercial society in early modern Europe.

Scala Christus est Giovanni Tortoriello, 2023-05-09 Since the nineteenth century scholars have debated the controversial relationships between humanism the Renaissance and the Reformation Challenging the dominant narrative on the subject Giovanni Tortoriello reconstructs the debates that characterized the early Reformation movements. He shows that Martin Luther's theology of the cross developed in reaction to the irenic tendencies of the Renaissance. With the spread of Platonism, Hermeticism, and Kabbalah in the fifteenth century, the identity of Christianity shifted and the boundaries between the different religions thinned. In response to this attempt to minimize the differences among the various religions, Luther reiterated the centrality and uniqueness of the salvific event of the cross. Confessional biases and theological prejudices have obliterated the role that Platonism, Hermeticism, and Christian Kabbalah played in the early Reformation debates. The author reconstructs these controversies and situates Luther's theology of the cross in this historical context.
