Renewing Social and Economic Progress in Africa Dharam P. Ghai, 2000 This text analyzes critical political social and economic problems in sub-Saharan Africa and proposes strategies and policies for revival and progress. The major themes discussed are civil wars, political instability and repression, economic crisis, unemployment, poverty, urbanization, social development, environmental degradation, regional co-operation and globalization. The book puts forward policy approaches for reconstruction of war-torn societies, strengthening of democratic institutions and processes, health improvements, promotion of economic growth and employment, environmental regeneration and integration of African economies at regional and global levels.

Overcoming the Persistence of Inequality and Poverty Valpy FitzGerald, Judith Heyer, 2011-03-24 International experts evaluate new policy directions in economic development and poverty reduction, building on the ideas of a pioneer in the new discipline of Development Studies. Frances Stewart Combining ideas and evidence on technological change, human development and conflict prevention to address the issue of the persistence of inequality.

Neoliberalism, Civil Society and Security in Africa P. Carmody, 2007-10-17 Free market policies have been in operation across Africa for the past 25 years yet they have failed to reverse deepening poverty. This book explores with case studies why such policies continue to be implemented and the ways in which they have been reinvented by socialization, depoliticization, regionalization and securitization.

The Policy Paradox in Africa Elias Ayuk, Mohamed Ali Marouani, 2007 It provided technical and financial support to economic research centres in sub-Saharan Africa (SSA) so that they can undertake policy relevant research with the goal of influencing economic policy making. In January 2005 the Secretariat organized an international conference in Dakar, Senegal during which participants from key economic think tanks presented their experiences in the policy development process in Africa. Of particular interest was the role of economic research and economic researchers in policy making. The authors examine the extent to which economic policies that are formulated in the sub-continent draw from research based on local realities and undertaken by local researchers and research networks in Africa.

Tanzania Revisited Ulf Engel, Gero Erdmann, Andreas Mehler, 2000 International Development Co-operation H. Singer, 2001-06-26 As one of the most pioneering development economists Hans Singer has stimulated many of the ideas that have engaged the attention of the world.

community for several decades Not only has he helped to form an understanding of the problems of developing countries but he has also shown what might be done to solve them This collection brings together for the first time key essays on the issues underlying food aid and the development of the UN These are grouped into five areas postwar development experience reform of the United Nations debt and debt servicing structural adjustment and stabilization and food aid

Civic Service Worldwide Amanda Moore McBride, Michael Sherraden, 2016-07-01 This comprehensive collection of the latest research and policy developments in civic service worldwide provides an informed assessment of what works and what doesn't work in the field With contributions from some of the discipline's best known global leaders it presents a conceptualization and operational definition of civic service that allows for variations across nations and cultures Civic Service Worldwide offers a perspective on the history and potential for civic service from its roots in military service It summarizes the effects of national service in diverse countries and identifies important developments in service including service across the lifespan and transnational service The editors and contributors also address key questions and promising theoretical and methodological approaches for advancing knowledge in the field

Stuck Marc Sommers, 2012 Young people are transforming the global landscape As the human population today is younger and more urban than ever before prospects for achieving adulthood dwindle while urban migration soars Devastated by genocide hailed as a spectacular success and critiqued for its human rights record the Central African nation of Rwanda provides a compelling setting for grasping new challenges to the world's youth Spotighting failed masculinity urban desperation and forceful governance Marc Sommers tells the dramatic story of young Rwandans who are stuck striving against near impossible odds to become adults In Rwandan culture female youth must wait often in vain for male youth to build a house before they can marry Only then can male and female youth gain acceptance as adults However Rwanda's severe housing crisis means that most male youth are on a treadmill toward failure unable to build their house yet having no choice but to try What follows is too often tragic Rural youth face a future as failed adults while many who migrate to the capital fail to secure a stable life and turn fatalistic about contracting HIV AIDS Featuring insightful interviews with youth adults and government officials Stuck tells the story of an ambitious controlling government trying to govern an exceptionally young and poor population in a densely populated and rapidly urbanizing country This pioneering book sheds new light on the struggle to come of age and suggests new pathways toward the attainment of security development and coexistence in Africa and beyond Published in association with the United States Institute of Peace
