Representations Of Blackness And The Performance Of Identities:

Representations of Blackness and the Performance of Identities Jean Rahier, 1999-05-30 This anthology offers a comparative approach for the study of performances of African diaspora identities in various locales of the Black Atlantic. Articles discuss the spatial dimensions of blackness, the relations between blackness, gender, constructs, and social classes. Native American views on blackness and the use of obscenity as a tool of black resistance. Black Studies in Europe Nicole Grégoire, Sarah Fila-Bakabadio, Jacinthe Mazzocchi, 2025-08-15 Reflecting on contemporary epistemologies of European Blackness. Long absent from research in the humanities and social sciences, Black people in continental Europe have become the focus of a growing body of literature in the past two decades that addresses their unique history and social positioning. Black Studies in Europe: An Anthology of Soil and Seeds brings together essays and case studies by a collective of scholars, writers, and activists to offer a critical overview of the emerging field of Black European studies and a vital reflection on contemporary epistemologies of European Blackness. This collection addresses key questions: What is Blackness from a European standpoint? Which epistemologies and theoretical tools have been used to offer a better understanding of Black experiences in Europe? How is this knowledge being produced and by whom? Can we define a common European conceptual framework for Black studies? Related to this work is an even more urgent enterprise: forging an epistemological distinction between the study of Black people and Black studies as an emancipatory project. Kings for Three Days Jean Muteba Rahier, 2013-05-01 With its rich mix of cultures, European influences, colonial tensions, and migration from bordering nations, Ecuador has long drawn the interest of ethnographers, historians, and political scientists. In this book, Jean Muteba Rahier delivers a highly detailed, thought-provoking examination of the racial, sexual, and social complexities of Afro-Ecuadorian culture as revealed through the annual Festival of the Kings. During the Festival, the people of various villages and towns of Esmeraldas, Ecuador's province most associated with blackness, engage in celebratory and parodic portrayals, often donning masks, cross-dressing, and disguising themselves as blacks, indigenous people, and whites in an obvious critique of local provincial and national white, white mestizo, and light mulatto elites. Rahier shows that this festival, as performed in different locations, reveals each time a specific location's perspective on the larger struggles over identity, class, and gender relations in the racial/spacial order of Esmeraldas and of the Ecuadorian nation in general. Music, Race, and Nation Peter Wade, 2000-08 Long a favorite on dance floors in Latin America, the porro, cumbia, and vallenato styles that make up Colombia's mestizo tropical are now enjoying international success. How did this music, which has its roots in a black marginal region of the country, manage from the 1940s onward to become so popular in a nation that had prided itself on its white heritage? Peter Wade explores the history of mestizo tropical, analyzing its rise in the context of the development of the broadcast media, rapid urbanization, and regional struggles for power. Using archival sources and oral histories, Wade shows how big band renditions of cumbia and porro in the 1940s and 1950s suggested both old traditions and new liberties, especially for women.

speaking to a deeply rooted image of black music as sensuous Recently nostalgic whitened versions of m sica tropical have gained popularity as part of government sponsored multiculturalism Wade s fresh look at the way music transforms and is transformed by ideologies of race nation sexuality tradition and modernity is the first book length study of Colombian popular music

The Pursuit of Happiness Bianca C. Williams, 2018-02-08 In The Pursuit of Happiness Bianca C Williams traces the experiences of African American women as they travel to Jamaica where they address the perils and disappointments of American racism by looking for intimacy happiness and a connection to their racial identities Through their encounters with Jamaican online communities and their participation in trips organized by Girlfriend Tours International the women construct notions of racial sexual and emotional belonging by forming relationships with Jamaican men and other girlfriends These relationships allow the women to exercise agency and find happiness in ways that resist the damaging intersections of racism and patriarchy in the United States However while the women require a spiritual and virtual connection to Jamaica in order to live happily in the United States their notion of happiness relies on travel which requires leveraging their national privilege as American citizens Williams s theorization of emotional transnationalism and the construction of affect across diasporic distance attends to the connections between race gender and affect while highlighting how affective relationships mark nationalized and gendered power differentials within the African diaspora

Degrees of Mixture, Degrees of Freedom Peter Wade, 2017-05-04 Race mixture or mestizaje has played a critical role in the history culture and politics of Latin America In Degrees of Mixture Degrees of Freedom Peter Wade draws on a multidisciplinary research study in Mexico Brazil and Colombia He shows how Latin American elites and outside observers have emphasized mixture s democratizing potential depicting it as a useful resource for addressing problems of racism claiming that race mixture undoes racial difference and hierarchy while Latin American scientists participate in this narrative with claims that genetic studies of mestizos can help isolate genetic contributors to diabetes and obesity and improve health for all Wade argues that in the process genomics produces biologized versions of racialized difference within the nation and the region but a comparative approach nuances the simple idea that highly racialized societies give rise to highly racialized genomics Wade examines the tensions between mixture and purity and between equality and hierarchy in liberal political orders exploring how ideas and scientific data about genetic mixture are produced and circulate through complex networks

Bourdieu: The Next Generation Jenny Thatcher, Nicola Ingram, Ciaran Burke, Jessie Abrahams, 2015-12-22 This book will give unique insight into how a new generation of Bourdieusian researchers apply Bourdieu to contemporary issues It will provide a discussion of the working mechanisms of thinking through and or with Bourdieu when analysing data In each chapter individual authors discuss and reflect upon their own research and the ways in which they put Bourdieu to work The aim of this book is not to just to provide examples of the development of Bourdieusian research but for each author to reflect on the ways in which they came across Bourdieu s work why it speaks to them including a reflexive consideration of their own background and the way in which it is thus useful in their thinking Many of the authors were introduced to Bourdieu s works after his death The research problems which the individual authors tackle are contextualised in a different time and space to the one Bourdieu occupied when he was developing his conceptual framework This book will demonstrate how his concepts can be applied as thinking tools to understand contemporary social reality Throughout Bourdieu s career he argued that sociologists need to create an epistemological break to abandon our common sense or as much as we can and to formulate findings from our results In essence we are putting Bourdieu to work to provide a structural constructivist approach to social reality anchored through empirical reflexivity

Mapping Diaspora Patricia de Santana Pinho,2018-10-26 Brazil like some countries in Africa has become a major destination for African American tourists seeking the cultural roots of the black Atlantic diaspora Drawing on over a decade of ethnographic research as well as textual visual and archival sources Patricia de Santana Pinho investigates African American roots tourism a complex poignant kind of travel that provides profound personal and collective meaning for those searching for black identity and heritage It also provides as Pinho s interviews with Brazilian tour guides state officials and Afro Brazilian activists reveal economic and political rewards that support a structured industry Pinho traces the origins of roots tourism to the late 1970s when groups of black intellectuals artists and activists found themselves drawn especially to Bahia the state that in previous centuries had absorbed the largest number of enslaved Africans African Americans have become frequent travelers across what Pinho calls the map of Africanness that connects diasporic communities and stimulates transnational solidarities while simultaneously exposing the unevenness of the black diaspora Roots tourism Pinho finds is a fertile site to examine the tensions between racial and national identities as well as the gendered dimensions of travel particularly when women are the major roots seekers
