Reproduction The Reproductive System Body Talk:

Body Talk Mary M. Lay, 2000 This text explores the rhetoric of reproductive technology throughout the 20th century examining the ways discourse about these technologies has shaped thinking about reproduction and women's bodies framed public policy and empowered or marginalized points of view Bodytalk E. Jane Burns, 1993-03 In Bodytalk E Jane Burns contends that female protagonists in medieval texts authored by men can be heard to talk back against the stereotyped and codified roles that their fictive anatomy is designed to convey Body Talk Jane M. Ussher, 1997 Psychology has traditionally examined human experience from a realist perspective focusing on observable facts This is especially so in areas of psychology which focus on the body such as sexuality madness or reproduction In contrast many sociologists anthropologists and feminists have focused exclusively on the cultural and communicative aspects of the body treating it purely as an object constructed within socio cultural discourse This new collection of sophisticated discursive analyses explores this divide from a variety of theoretical standpoints including psychoanalysis social representations theory feminist theory critical realism post structuralism and social constructionism Body Talk reconciles the divide by putting forward a new materialist discursive approach It also provides an introduction to social constructionist and discursive approaches which is accessible to those with limited previous knowledge of socio linguistic theory and showcases the distinctive contribution that psychologists can make to the field Body Talk Jane Ussher, 2002-01-04 Psychology has traditionally examined human experience from a realist perspective focusing on observable facts This is especially so in areas of psychology which focus on the body such as sexuality madness or reproduction In contrast many sociologists anthropologists and feminists have focused exclusively on the cultural and communicative aspects of the body treating it purely as an object constructed within socio cultural discourse This new collection of sophisticated discursive analyses explores this divide from a variety of theoretical standpoints including psychoanalysis social representations theory feminist theory critical realism post structuralism and social constructionism Body Talk reconciles the divide by putting forward a new materialist discursive approach It also provides an introduction to social constructionist and discursive approaches which is accessible to those with limited previous knowledge of socio linguistic theory and showcases the distinctive contribution that psychologists can make to the field The Body Language of Dating Tonya Reiman, 2012-01-03 Nationally renowned body language expert Tonya Reiman turns her attention to romance explaining how to read the signals of your date your mate or that cutie across the bar and never get rejected again Are you willing to leave your romantic future to fate or luck or the stars Take the wheel THE BODY LANGUAGE OF DATING will teach you all the skills you need to drive your love life home Uncover the secrets of attraction Find out what your nonverbal communication is saying about you Bridge the gap between casual fling and long term thing Avoid rejection Figure out what your guy is thinking Save yourself time and heartache in your search for love or at least your next perfect date Anatomy & Physiology for Speech, Language, and Hearing, Seventh Edition J. Body Language Mark J. Rowlands, 2011-08-19 An argument that activity provides a useful template for thinking about representation and that deeds are themselves representational our representing of the world consists in part in certain sorts of deeds that we perform in the world In Body Language Mark Rowlands argues that the problem of representation how it is possible for one item to represent another has been exacerbated by the assimilation of representation to the category of the word That is the problem is traditionally understood as one of relating inner to outer relating an inner representing item to something extrinsic or exterior to it Rowlands argues that at least some cases of representation need to be understood not in terms of the word but of the deed Activity he claims is a useful template for thinking about representation our representing the world consists in part in certain sorts of actions that we perform in that world This is not to say simply that these forms of acting can facilitate representation but that they are themselves representational These sorts of actions which Rowlands calls deeds do not merely express or re present prior intentional states They have an independent representational status After introducing the notion of the deed as a preintentional act Rowlands argues that deeds can satisfy informational teleological combinatorial misrepresentational and decouplability constraints and so qualify as representational He puts these principles of representation into practice by examining the deeds involved in visual perception Representing Rowlands argues is something we do in the world as much as in the head Representing does not stop at the skin at the border between the representing subject and the world representing is representational all the way out
