Dolan, Sue D. Royals, 1999-09-01 Engaging stories covering current personalities popular sports figures and events mysteries disasters legends and mythology and amazing facts in science and nature hold students interest and capture their imaginations A controlled vocabulary averaging two readability levels below content ensures understanding and promotes confidence      Tomorrow on Cassette Benjamin Duester, 2025-05-15 Growing sales numbers for cassette tapes in the Global North since the early 2010s have led mass media outlets to repeatedly proclaim a tape revival Yet the grassroots projects of devotees in niche punk noise and hip hop DIY music scenes have continuously upheld the unique material benefits of cassettes while wider society considered them a relic of bygone times. Contrasting the popular notion of current cassette use being a mere side effect of the blazing interest in the vinyl record, this book argues that the lasting embrace of tapes is based on complex cultural, economic, and material factors that shape cassettes as hybrid artefacts of music in the new media age. Drawing on interviews with 85 experts active in DIY music cultures as independent record shop operators, musicians, event promoters, fans, and collectors across Japan, Australia, and the United States, Tomorrow on Cassette presents a seminal exploration of how the cassette tape's significance as a tool for material expression, creativity, and sociality perseveres in the 21st century.

The Report: Indonesia 2008, 2008      The Political Economy of Megaprojects in Asia Hyun Bang Shin, Dong-Wan Gimm, 2025-02-18. This book offers a comprehensive analysis of how the developmental goals of Asian states are reflected in large scale projects and how various actors both realize and challenge these goals. The rise of Asian economies has spurred the proliferation of megaprojects through large scale resource mobilization, necessitating varying degrees of state intervention. Despite neoliberal pressures, these projects remain linked to national developmental aspirations driven by domestic, transnational, or combined pro-growth interests and serve multiple political purposes. The book advances the argument that megaprojects embody the dynamics of multiscale strategic relations that determine the process and outcome of urbanization. These projects create iconic landmarks: new towns, central business districts, and infrastructure showcasing intertwined political and economic interests. By examining contemporary megaprojects in China, South Korea, Taiwan, India, Malaysia, and Turkey, the contributing authors reveal the complexity of urbanizing forces and their multiscale nature in shaping the built environment and shed light on the intricate interplay of state strategies, economic needs, and sociopolitical forces that influence urban landscapes. This interdisciplinary work provides a nuanced understanding of the political economy underpinning Asian urbanization and contributes to ongoing debates on urban development, state-society relations, and the production of space in the context of globalization.
