Exploring Inclusive Educational Practices Through Professional Inquiry Gordon L. Porter, Déirdre Smith, 2012-01-01 Practitioners scholars and teacher education students alike can celebrate reading Exploring Inclusive Educational Practices through Professional Inquiry This rich array of case scenarios both illuminates and elaborates the meaning of inclusion in today's schools and tomorrow's visions Twenty five stories from parents teachers school principals and specialists highlight the kind of experiential knowledge that won't be found in typical research reports and district documents about inclusive education What happens to real people students and their families doesn't always resemble policies that can look so good on paper. This book makes a wonderful contribution to better understandings of the challenges of inclusion as well as the commitments positioned alongside values in order to meet those challenges. There are brave and spirited people in these pages, not the least of whom are the children themselves. Professor Luanna H. Meyer, PhD, Director, Jessie Hetherington Centre for Educational Research, Victoria University, New Zealand. This is a book on inclusive education that leaves you with hope and ideas for action. It takes a very difficult and highly charged topic and demonstrates that it is possible to see both the trees and the forest. Michael Fullan, Professor Emeritus, OISE, University of Toronto. We are reminded in the commentaries parents share in this book of how their passionate commitment to good education and their ideas make inclusion work. The case study approach reveals the critical importance of their and many other perspectives in finding solutions to what are so often dismissed as irresolvable dilemmas. They aren't, and this book models exactly the kinds of conversations we need in schools across the country to challenge all of us to stay the course. It's a must read for anyone who wants to make diversity and inclusion a reality in public education today. Michael Bach, Executive Vice President, Canadian Association for Community Living.

Teaching Literature in the World Language Classroom Kelly Comfort, Abigail Scharf, 2025-05-07. Teaching Literature in the World Language Classroom presents a five-stage methodology for teaching literature in language curriculum that repurposes Bloom's original and revised taxonomy to promote the language acquisition process and spark other types of learning. The first step of text selection, preparation, and initiation asks students to recognize familiar words, structures, and concepts, contextualize the reading, and remember the main details of the text. The second stage of beginning literary analysis gets target language learners to describe, identify, and understand the basic elements of plot, character, setting, and narration. The third phase of intermediate literary analysis prompts students to interpret, analyze, and examine major themes, key passages, and the overall commentary. The fourth step of advanced literary analysis teaches students to synthesize multiple and conflicting interpretations, compare assigned texts across units or themes, and evaluate works through essay writing. The fifth stage of reflective and creative engagement challenges students to relate the assigned texts to themselves through personal and intercultural reflection create new artistic works and produce unique texts in the target language The concluding chapter showcases all five stages of the methodology by applying them to a sample text thereby inviting world language educators to assess the potential usefulness of Comfort and Scharf's approach to their own language courses This is an ideal resource for world language educators teaching literature as well as undergraduate and graduate education students focusing on target language literature instruction and its role in the language acquisition process Helping Students who Struggle with Math and Science Dennis Adams, Mary Hamm, 2008 This book provides teachers with research based and standards driven techniques that are especially useful for reaching all students in the classroom Understanding Motor Skills in Children with Dyspraxia, ADHD, Autism, and Other Learning Disabilities Lisa A.
