Making Math Learning Fun for Inner City School Students Glendolyn Duhon-Jeanlouis, Alice Duhon-Ross
McCallum, Ashraf Esmail, 2010-10-28 Making Math Learning Fun for Inner City School Students is an effective tool for educators and a textbook for professors of higher education The concepts discussed in the book provide a body of knowledge that will enable leaders to understand the critical issues surrounding inner city school students in their ability to learn mathematical concepts Research shows that three to five teachers of mathematics leave the school system within the first two years of teaching because of frustration experienced while helping inner city school students comprehend and master mathematical skills Students are often discouraged by inappropriate teaching strategies that favor learning math concepts in isolation rather than making them relevant to daily life or cultural experiences Teachers of math must clearly understand inner city school students learning styles when they are implementing a process for the student to learn Classroom teachers in the twenty first century must have valid knowledge of how the brains of inner city school children work For students to master and comprehend math skills learning activities must be both fun and relevant to their present body of knowledge about life and living Meaningful Math in Preschool Polly Neill, Suzanne Gainsley, 2014-08 Math Memories You Can Count on Jo-Anne Lake, 2009 Organized around the five math strands number sense and numeration measurement geometry and spatial sense patterning and algebra and data management and probability Includes activity ideas rooted in children s literature and encourages links with relevant manipulatives Included also are book lists reproducible activities and assessment strategies Making Mathematics Meaningful ? For Students in the Primary Grades Werner W. Liedtke, 2010-02-04 Mathematics Counts Great Britain. Committee of Inquiry into the Teaching of Mathematics in Schools, Wilfred Halliday Cockcroft, 1982 SUMMARY Recommendations on the teaching of mathematics in primary secondary schools in England Wales with particular regard to the mathematics required in further higher education employment adult life generally Arithmetic Counts! Paul Shoecraft, 2025-01-24 Dr Shoecraft may be the only mathematician since the New Math in the 1960s to seriously analyze the lowly subject of arithmetic and how to teach it His breakthrough came when he experimented with teaching what needs to be understood instead of known memorized like teaching why addition problems until the algorithm they are using supposedly becomes cemented in their brains By teaching the essence of arithmetic in sensible ways and appealing to children s love of games songs and movement he s proven that virtually ALL children can learn arithmetic the foundation of algebra higher mathematics science technology and more even music When children understand arithmetic they own it It s no lonver just their teacher s math It s their math America s children are being held back in math because of how arithmetic is drug out in elementary school Virtually every textbook based elementary school math program in use today is mind numbing in its repetitiveness from grade to grade The reason for the redundancy is to slow down the teaching of arithmetic so it can be memorized Research shows that the human brain is not designed to remember things learned by rote when no longer practiced That s acknowledged in the use it or lose it aphorism that states the obvious that we remember what we use and forget what we don t You know that to be true if you ve ever forgotten things you once knew as well as your own name things like an old address or a license plate number Every child can understand base ten numeration when taught hands on with arithmetic blocks Thereby every child can understand base ten arithmetic And every child can learn how to count out the number facts like $5 \times 7 = 12$, $17 \times 8 = 96$, $X \times 7 = 42$ and $56 \times 7 = 8$ and if they forget one never have to guess and risk ridicule and bad grades if they guess wrong What matters in teaching arithmetic is not how much a child can remember but how much they can figure out if when they forget
