Making Of Britain 2 Life Work Between:

Anglo-Chinese Encounters Before the Opium War Xin Liu, 2022-08-12 Anglo Chinese Encounters Before the Opium War A Tale of Two Empires Over Two Centuries studies the fascinating encounters between the two historic empires from Queen Elizabeth I's first letter to the Ming Emperor Wanli in 1583 to Lord Palmerston's letter to the Minister of China in 1840. Starting with Queen Elizabeth I's letter to the Chinese Emperor and ending with the letter from Lord Palmerston to the Minister of China just before the Opium War, this book explores the long journey in between from cultural diplomacy to gunboat diplomacy. It interweaves the most known diplomatic efforts at the official level with the much unknown intellectual interactions at the people-to-people level from missionaries to scholars from merchants to travelers and from artists to scientists. This book adopts a novel mirror approach by pairing and comparing people, texts, commodities, artworks, architecture, ideologies, operating systems, and world views of the two empires. Using letters, gifts, and traded goods as fulcrums and by adopting these unique lenses, it puts China into the world history narratives to contextualise Anglo-Chinese relations, thus providing a fresh analysis of the surviving evidence. Xin Liu casts a new light on understanding the Sino-centric and Anglo-centric world views in driving the complex relations between the two empires and the reversals of power shifts that are still unfolding today. The book is not intended for specialists in history but a general audience wishing to learn more about China's historical engagement with the world.

Decision-Making and Judgment in Child Welfare and Protection John D. Fluke, Mónica López López, Rami Benbenishty, Erik J. Knorth, Donald J. Baumann, 2020-07-17 Professionals in child welfare and protection are often required to make decisions fraught with many difficulties and shortcomings that have crucial implications for children and families. There are many indications that these decisions are frequently unreliable and involve unavoidable errors in judgement due to the uncertainties. Despite the central role of judgements in the field, child welfare and protection training and research programs pay limited attention to leveraging the human factors aspect of practice. Although extensive research exists in relevant areas such as medicine, psychology, business administration, and economics, little has been done to help develop, transfer, and translate scientific knowledge to the child welfare arena. Decision Making and Judgment in Child Welfare and Protection pulls together the best internationally sourced expertise and makes it accessibly available and applicable to scholars, educators, practitioners, students, and policymakers, the key stakeholders in child protective services and child welfare.

Navigating the Return-to-Work Experience for New Parents Maria Karanika-Murray, Cary Cooper, 2020-02-18 Parenthood can be one of the most fulfilling, altering, and challenging life events. This book is set within the background of the reality of many parents' return to work experience, the task of re-engaging with work and maintaining a job or a career, and the difficulties that parenthood poses for balancing the demands of a new family with the demands of work. It helps us understand this reality, give voice to new parents, and offer relief in the knowledge that we know a lot about these challenges and most importantly, how we can start to address them. The book brings together a number of internationally recognized experts from research practice and policy to explore the issues and offer evidence based solutions around return to work after having children It takes a balanced approach to theory and practice to cover topics such as equality stereotypes work family conflict training and development and workplace culture among others whilst integrating research and policy and illustrating learnings with case studies from parents and examples from countries that lead the way It will appeal to parents researchers and employers in any sector or economy across the world Ultimately it will help develop ways for new parents to re engage with work successfully while maintaining their work family well being

The Crisis of the Meritocracy Peter Mandler, 2020-09-11 Before the Second

World War only about 20% of the population went to secondary school and barely 2% to university today everyone goes to secondary school and half of all young people go to university How did we get here from there The Crisis of the Meritocracy answers this question not by looking to politicians and educational reforms but to the revolution in attitudes and expectations amongst the post war British public the rights guaranteed by the welfare state the hope of a better life for one's children widespread upward mobility from manual to non manual occupations confidence in the importance of education in a learning society and a knowledge economy As a result of these transformations meritocracy the idea that a few should be selected to succeed has been challenged by democracy and its wider understandings of equal opportunity across the life course At a time when doubts have arisen about whether we need so many students and amidst calls for a return to grammar school selection at 11 the tension between meritocracy and democracy remains vital to understanding why our grandparents our parents ourselves and our children have sought and got more and more education and to what end
