Recovery from Disaster Ian Davis,David Alexander,2015-08-20

Disasters can dominate newspaper headlines and fill our TV screens with relief appeals but the complex long term challenge of recovery providing shelter rebuilding safe dwellings restoring livelihoods and shattered lives generally fails to attract the attention of the public and most agencies On average 650 disasters occur each year They affect more than 200 million people and cause 166 trillion of damage Climate change population growth and urbanisation are likely to intensify further the impact of natural disasters and add to reconstruction needs Recovery from Disaster explores the field and provides a concise comprehensive source of knowledge for academics planners architects engineers construction managers relief and development officials and reconstruction planners involved with all sectors of recovery including shelter and rebuilding With almost 80 years of first hand experience of disaster recovery between them Ian Davis an architect and David Alexander a geographer draw substantially from first hand experiences in a variety of recovery situations in China Haiti Italy Japan New Zealand Pakistan the Philippines and the USA The volume is further enriched by two important and unique features 21 models of disaster recovery are presented seven of which were specifically developed for the book The second feature is a survey of expert opinion about the nature of effective disaster recovery the first of its kind More than 50 responses are provided in full along with an analysis that integrates them with the theories that underpin them By providing a framework and models for future study and applications Davis and Alexander seek both to advance the field and to provide a much needed reference work for decision makers With a broad perspective derived from the authors roles held as university professors researchers trainers consultants NGO directors and advisors to governments and UN agencies this comprehensive guide will be invaluable for practitioners and students of disaster management

Chaos Organization and Disaster Management Alan Kirschenbaum, 2019-02-13 Chaos Organization and Disaster Management offers a scholarly survey of disaster response behavior and management in the face of natural and manmade catastrophe The author provides a methodological and empirical platform from which to initiate a critical analysis of disaster management Sparked by a unique field study of the Israeli experience during the Gulf War this book demonstrates the massive divide between individual responses to disaster and the actual functioning of disaster management organizations It exposes the fundamental flaws of disaster management agencies analyzing disasters from the perspectives of both agencies and potential victims Formulating an alternative approach to disaster management that draws upon the advantages of privatization this volume appraises methods of measuring disaster agency effectiveness emphasizing the citizen vantage point and stakeholder evaluations It outlines the intrinsic bureaucratic constraints that impede the efficacy of government agencies and reveals the disconnect between organizational and victim perceptions of disaster By highlighting a new empirically based understanding of disaster behavior the book recommends moving the focus of disaster management to a social process model that will save lives

What is a Disaster? E.L. Quarantelli, 2005-06-27 Are conflict situations such as the ethnic clashes in Yugoslavia or Rwanda terrorist attacks and riots the same kind of social crises as those generated by natural and technological happenings such as earthquakes and chemical explosions In What is a Disaster social science disaster researchers from six different disciplines advance their views on what a disaster is Clashes in conceptions are highlighted through the book s unique juxtaposition of the authors separately advanced views A reaction paper to each set of views is presented by an experienced disaster researcher in turn the original authors provide a response to what has been said about their views What is a Disaster sets out the huge conceptual differences that exist concerning what a disaster is and presents important implications for both theory study and practice Standing in the Need Katherine E. Browne, 2015-09-01 Standing in the Need presents an intimate account of an African American family's ordeal after Hurricane Katrina. Before the storm struck, this family of one hundred fifty members lived in the bayou communities of St Bernard Parish just outside New Orleans. Rooted there like the wild red iris of the coastal wetlands, the family had gathered for generations to cook and share homemade seafood meals, savor conversation and refresh their interconnected lives. In this lively narrative, Katherine Browne weaves together voices and experiences from eight years of post Katrina research. Her story documents the heartbreaking struggles to remake life after everyone in the family faced ruin. Cast against a recovery landscape managed by outsiders, the efforts of family members to help themselves could get no traction; outsiders undermined any sense of their control over the process. In the end, the insights of the story offer hope. Written for a broad audience and supported by an array of photographs and graphics, Standing in the Need offers readers an inside view of life at its most vulnerable.

Recovering from Earthquakes Shirish Patel, Aromar Revi, 2012-07-26 Earthquakes come without warning and often cause massive devastation, resulting not only in the loss of property but also of lives. Many of the survivors suffer from intense and lasting psychological trauma. This book covers the experience of recent earthquakes in India and what has been learnt and what we have failed to learn in the process of managing the aftermath in each case. This includes immediate medical attention, long term mental health care and the reconstruction of housing and infrastructure in both rural and urban areas. The experiences of the contributors, many of whom have actively contributed their expertise to disaster management and recovery, help us understand what problems require a swift response and which aspects should be based on detailed analyses keeping in mind local conditions. Reconstruction is seen as offering an opportunity to rebuild society such that all sections of the population are empowered and brought into the community's decision making process. It is also an opportunity to develop construction techniques that are suited to local materials and skills but are also more earthquake resistant than the old. And finally, there is the realisation that the best first responders are local community groups which need to be nurtured and trained in crisis management and risk mitigation.
