My House My Paradise Construction Of The Ideal Domestic Universe:

My House, My Paradise Gustau Gili Galfetti,1999 My House, My Paradise Gustau Gili Galfetti,1999 Home is that intimate closed secret space where we impose our own laws and give shape to our own particular concept of the world My House My Paradise is a collection of houses in which the residents cum creators have devoted all of their ingenuity energy and determination into constructing what they perceive to be the ideal domestic universe They include Ludwig II of Bavaria's Linderhof the Cesar Manrique Villa in Lanzarote Salvador Dali's villa in Spain Edward James villa in Mexico Grandma Prishrey's Bottle Village Ian Hamilton Finlay's Little Sparta Alex Jordan's house on the rock and William Randolph Hearst's Xanadu The Architecture of Luxury Annette Condello,2016-03-16 Over the past century luxury has been increasingly celebrated in the sense that it is no longer a privilege or attitude of the European elite or America's leisure class It has become more ubiquitous and now practically everyone can experience luxury even luxury in architecture Focusing on various contexts within Western Europe Latin America and the United States this book traces the myths and application of luxury within architecture interiors and designed landscapes Spanning from antiquity to the modern era it sets out six historical categories of luxury Sybaritic Lucullan architectural excess rustic neoEuropean and modern and relates these to the built and unbuilt environment taking different cultural contexts and historical periods into consideration It studies some of the ethical questions raised by the nature of luxury in architecture and discusses whether architectural luxury is an unqualified benefit or something which should only be present within strict limits The author argues how the ideas of permissible and impermissible luxury have informed architecture and how these notions of ethical approval have changed from one context to another Providing voluptuous settings for the nobles and the leisure class luxury took the form of not only grand palaces but also follies country and suburban houses private or public entertainment venues and ornate skyscrapers with fast lifts The Architecture of Luxury proposes that in Western societies the growth of the leisure classes and their desire for various settings for pleasure resulted in a constantly increasing level of luxury sought within everyday architecture Dwell,2000-10 At Dwell we're staging a minor revolution We think that it's possible to live in a house or apartment by a bold modern architect to own furniture and products that are exceptionally well designed and still be a regular human being We think that good design is an integral part of real life And that real life has been conspicuous by its absence in most design and architecture magazines lost in space Eckhard Feddersen,Insa Lüdtko,2014-09-05 Dementia presents immense challenges both for individuals as well as for society as a whole More than 35 million people all over the world currently live with dementia a number that is expected to double by 2050 This also has implications for architecture and urban planning because dementia often affects people's sense of orientation and their ability to perceive space How can homes apartments public buildings outdoor spaces neighbourhoods and cities as well as environments and infrastructure be designed to meet the needs of people with dementia as well as those of their caregivers And can a consideration of the problems of dementia lead to a better understanding of space that can improve architecture and the built environment for us all This book addresses these and other questions in a series of professional essays that examine the specific requirements for different disciplines In addition international case study projects illustrate the breadth of current actual solutions The book is intended as a guide for all those involved in the design and planning process architects interior designers engineers town planners local authorities and clients and as a reader for the users themselves for people with dementia their family and friends and all those in their social environment Dwell ,2000 Designing America's Waste Landscapes Mira Engler,2004-05-31
