My Picture Of The Planets:

Women from Another Planet? Jean Kearns Miller, 2003-08-06 Mention the word autism and the room suddenly turns silent. It's the dreaded A word. People's attention turns to late night TV public service ads declaring that autistic children are imprisoned by autism and need curing at all cost. Recent autobiographies have helped dispel this dire description by suggesting that autism is not a prison and that the door is unlocked and you're free to come in. Women from Another Planet moves beyond these autistic life stories in important ways. It's a collection of stories and conversations all of them by women on the autism spectrum who speak candidly insightfully and often engagingly about both their gender in terms of their autism and their autism in terms of their gender. It is written not just for parents and professionals like the other works but also to those women still searching for ways to understand the unnamed difference they live with as well as the wider audience of discerning readers. If you enter the unlocked door of these Women from Another Planet you may end up with a question mark or two about your planet. Is normalcy really all it's cracked up to be? Planet Panic Pam Pastor, 2017-11-01 Crazy things keep happening to Pam Pastor and she is left with no choice but to chronicle them. In this second collection of stories she tells us How Pong Pagong ended her shot at stardom Why her grandma burned all her trolls when she was in sixth grade How she terrorized her brother on Facebook Why she became a flower girl at 31 How a New York socialite almost kidnapped her How she learned survival skills from Bear Grylls and Why taxi drivers think she's the white lady of Balet Drive There are also tales about dead rabbits Potato Corner thirty bras hospitals a missing terrarium New Kids on the Block beer and balikbayan boxes Fun for the whole family Haven Jacobs Saves the Planet Barbara Dee, 2022-09-27 From critically acclaimed author Barbara Dee comes a thought provoking wonderful School Library Journal middle grade novel about a young girl who channels her anxiety about the climate crisis into rallying her community to save a local river. Twelve year old Haven Jacobs can't stop thinking about the climate crisis. In fact her anxiety about the state of the planet is starting to interfere with her schoolwork her friendships even her sleep. She can't stop wondering why grownups aren't even trying to solve the earth's problem and if there's anything meaningful that she as a seventh grader can contribute. When Haven's social studies teacher urges her to find a specific manageable way to make a difference to the planet Haven focuses on the annual science class project at the local Belmont River where her class will take samples of the water to analyze. Students have been doing the project for years and her older brother tells her that his favorite part was studying and catching frogs. But when Haven and her classmates get to the river there's no sign of frogs or other wildlife but there is ample evidence of pollution. The only thing that's changed by the river is the opening of Gemba the new factory where Haven's dad works. It doesn't take much investigation before Haven is convinced Gemba is behind the slow pollution of the river. She's determined to expose Gemba and force them to clean up their act. But when it becomes clear taking action might put her dad's job and some friendships in jeopardy Haven must decide how far she's willing to go. A Swiftly Tilting Planet Madeleine
