Sex and Gender in Medieval and Renaissance Texts Barbara K. Gold, Paul Allen Miller, Charles Platter, 1997-03-13 This collection reclaims a vast body of long neglected Latin texts from the Middle Ages and the Renaissance and examines how they represent the feminine and the female body The authors explore the ideological values explicitly encoded by the feminine in these texts other less articulated values implied by the feminine and the role of the classical tradition in communicating those values The examination of women both as subjects and as rhetorical constructions in Medieval and Renaissance Latin literature sheds light on the larger dialogue about feminism occurring throughout the humanities In addition the inclusion of a new body of texts and the rescue of others from their present isolation will expand the reach of classical and humanist scholarship Traditional studies of Latin literature end around the beginning of the fifth century C E despite the fact that Latin continued to be the dominant literary and intellectual language until at least the latter half of the sixteenth century Thus most classicists ignore over one thousand years of the Latin literary tradition Few non classicists read Latin comfortably and fewer still have a detailed understanding of the history of classical Latin literature Nevertheless a knowledge of this history was assumed by most Neo Latin writers as well as their contemporaries who wrote in the vernacular This collection supplies tools to examine more completely the construction and application of gender in both Latin and vernacular texts of the Middle Ages and the Renaissance

Heart of the Cross Wonhee Anne Joh, 2006-01-01 Theologies have often pointed to the cross as a place of suffering and sacrifice while feminist critiques have frequently argued against interpretations of the cross as patriarchal valorizing of suffering Wonhee Anne Joh points toward a new interpretation of the cross as a place of love where God and humanity come together in a surprising way Interpreting the cross as performing a double gesture that has a subversive effect Joh argues that the cross works simultaneously to pay homage to and to menace complex oppressive powers Utilizing the Korean concept of jeong Joh constructs a theology that is feminist political and love centered while acknowledging the cross as source of pain and suffering Joh's innovative vision is a call for political love that is stronger than powers of oppression
