

Why is reading at home so important?

Children with access to 25 books at home complete an average of 2 more years of school than children from homes without any books.

Kids 4-5 years old gain 6 months of reading ability by being read to 3 to 5 times per week.

Reading is a critical skill for succeeding in most school subjects.

A child spends 900 hours a year in school and 7800 hours at home.

Research shows that just 20 minutes a day spent reading with a child helps them develop critical reading skills.

Reading Matters:

Reading Matters Joseph Tabbi, Michael Wutz, 1997 The convergence of twentieth century narrative and technology is one of the most important developments in current literary study Roughly a decade after the founding of the Society for Literature and Science and after the appearance of such influential books as Kathleen Woodward's Culture of Information and William Paulson's Noise of Culture Joseph Tabbi and Michael Wutz have edited a landmark volume that seeks to summarize this still emerging field Through the essays and the wide ranging overview provided by the editors introduction Reading Matters shows how these theoretical concerns can contribute to the practical study of narrative and it helps to make the field far more accessible to students and other serious readers of fiction The twelve original essays published here for the first time are the work of distinguished scholar critics on both sides of the Atlantic They cover the range of contemporary literature from the canonical novels of high modernism and postmodernism through subjects only recently put on the academic agenda such as cyberpunk and hypertext fiction In an age that has proclaimed the death of the novel many times over the editors and contributors argue persuasively for the continued vitality of literary narrative By responding in ingenious ways to the capabilities of other media they assert the novel has enlarged and redefined its territory of representation and its range of techniques and play while maintaining its viability in the new media assemblage Reading Matters Catherine Sheldrick Ross, Lynne (E.F.) McKechnie, Paulette M. Rothbauer, 2006 Drawing upon data published in a variety of scholarly journals and monographs as well as their own research findings the authors shatter some of the popular myths about reading and offer a cogent case for the library's vital role in the life of a reader Reading Matters 3 Nadia Henein, Mary Lee Wholey, 2001 The Reading Matters series uses a communicative integrated skills approach to developing fluency and accuracy in academic reading through writing and speaking practice Organized into thematic units these texts feature stimulating high interest readings combined with intensive practice Reading Matters 4 Mary Lee Wholey, Nadia Henein, 2001-07 Appropriate for high intermediate students Reading Matters 4 uses a communicative integrated skills approach to develop fluency and accuracy in academic reading through writing and speaking practice Each unit of the text is divided into three chapters of stimulating readings on topics that relate to a main unit theme such as Health Privacy Creativity and Business Textbooks for Diverse Learners Carolyn McKinney, 2005 Child Youth and Family Development Research Programme The Reading Lives of Teens Chin Ee Loh, 2024-11-04 In these changing times of global flows of media and technologies and reports of declining reading enjoyment researchers policymakers and educators need to engage anew with essential issues of what counts as reading what kinds of reading matter and how to support teen reading engagement in school and out of school settings Bringing together contributions from well known and emerging adolescent literacy researchers from different disciplinary perspectives this edited collection consolidates contemporary research on teens volitional print and digital reading whether in school or out of school contexts The first part of the book offers overviews of what teens are reading followed by chapters on community support on reading and new ways of researching teen reading With chapters from North America Europe Australia Asia and the Middle East the collection will offer multifaceted and complex insights into what how and why teens read in different contexts Reflection questions at the end of each chapter encourage readers to consider how the research can be applied in their own research policy and practice contexts This book will be of interest to researchers policymakers and educators who are invested in supporting adolescent engaged reading with evidence based policies and strategies

Community-Based Transformational Learning Christian Winterbottom, Jody S. Nicholson, F. Dan Richard, 2020-05-14 Rooted in the work of community school collaborations this text focuses on connecting the rigors of the classroom with the ambiguity of lived community experience Community Based Transformational Learning CBTL draws on the increasing evidence that course learning conducted in an applied community setting can positively transform students professional and personal identity and creates new ways of thinking and working in university courses and pre professional experiences To illustrate the different ways to successfully implement community based learning examples are provided of experiences integrated in courses across multiple disciplines across an American university whose mission is focused on teaching Topics covered include refugee and immigration transition issues incarceration and health needs with international examples of community experiences from Jamaica Korea and Belize Qualitative and quantitative data depict how these experiences impact students and each chapter presents how community engagement has been established as an effective approach in the different disciplines including computer science and sports management The authors demonstrate how CBTL experiences can be transformative when students are provided a chance to connect the academic commitment to community aims but also provides suggestions for overcoming challenges and pit falls in developing these experiences

Reading as a Philosophical Practice Robert Piercey, 2020-12-15 Reading as a Philosophical Practice asks why reading everyday reading for pleasure matters so profoundly to so many people Its answer is that reading is an implicitly philosophical activity To passionate readers it is a way of working through and taking a stand on certain fundamental questions about who and what we are how we should live and how we relate to other things The book examines the lessons that the activity of reading seems to teach about selfhood morality and ontology and it tries to clarify the sometimes paradoxical claims that serious readers have made about it To do so it proposes an original theoretical framework based on Virginia Woolf s notion of the common reader and Alasdair MacIntyre s conception of practice It also asks whether reading can continue to play this role as paper is replaced by electronic screens

Closing the Reading Gap Alex Quigley, 2020-03-31 Our pupils' success will be defined by their ability to read fluently and skilfully. But despite universal acceptance of reading's vital importance, the reading gap in our classroom remains, and it is linked to an array of factors such as parental wealth, education and book ownership, as well as classroom practice. To close this gap, we need to ensure that every teacher has the knowledge and skill to teach reading with confidence. In Closing the Reading Gap, Alex Quigley explores the intriguing history and science of reading, synthesising the debates and presenting a wealth of usable evidence about how children develop most efficiently as successful readers. Offering practical strategies for teachers at every phase of their teaching career, as well as tackling issues such as dyslexia and the role of technology, the book helps teachers to be an expert in how pupils learn to read, as well as how they read to learn, and explores how reading is vital for unlocking a challenging academic curriculum for every student. With a focus on nurturing pupils' will and skill to read for pleasure and purpose, this essential volume provides practical solutions to help all teachers create a rich reading culture that will enable every student to thrive in school and far beyond the school gates.

Equity, Equality and Diversity in the Nordic Model of Education Tove Stjern Frønes, Andreas Pettersen, Jelena Radišić, Nils Buchholtz, 2021-01-21 Does the Nordic model of education still stand by its original principles and safeguard education for all? This Open Access volume is a carefully crafted collection of chapters that investigate the different aspects of equity, equality and diversity across the education systems in the Nordic countries. Based on data from various national and international large scale assessments, the volume provides a better understanding of both the functions and foundations of the Nordic model, along with how the concepts mentioned above are enacted in practice. Across the chapters, data from different national and international large scale assessment studies are used for cross and single country analyses on a variety of issues related to equity, equality and inequality in diverse educational settings. The investigations address different subject domains, i.e. mathematics, science, reading, age and grade groups, but also issues related to teachers and the schools themselves. In addition to these empirical chapters, the book addresses the theoretical and methodological underpinnings of the ideas and tools embedded in the phenomena of equity and equality, and how they have met in the Nordic model of education.
