Electronic Commerce Hossein Bidgoli, 2002 This four part overview of electronic commerce offers a more thorough and technical view of the subject than many recent books on the subject The book provides a balance of theories applications and hands on material Electronic Commerce is divided into four parts Electronic Commerce Basics Electronic Commerce Supporting Activities Implementation and Management Issues in Electronic Commerce and Appendix and Glossary The book s chapters begin with introductions of leading companies with significant e commerce expertise and at least two small case studies They include 10 or more hands on exercises encouraging readers to explore and analyze sites and a list of key terms and bibliographic citations They conclude with 25 30 review questions and 6 10 projects for further investigation Offers a generalist s overview of the field and its major players for people with little or no technical background Every chapter starts with an industry profile and two information boxes which serve as case studies and point to practical applications Projects and hands on exercises conclude each chapter Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce II Alexandros Moukas, Carles Sierra, Fredrik Ygge, 2000-07-26 The Internet is spawning many new markets and electronic commerce is changing many market conventions Not only are old commercial practices being adapted to the new conditions of immediacy brought forth by the global networks but new products and services as well as new practices are beginning to appear. There is already ample evidence that agent based technologies will be crucial for these developments. However many theoretical, technological, sociological and legal aspects will need to be addressed before such opportunities become a significant reality. In addition to streamlining traditional transactions, agents enable new types of transactions. For example, the elusive one to one marketing becomes more of a reality when consumer agents capture and share or sell consumer demographics. Prices and other transaction dimensions need no longer to be fixed; selling agents can dynamically tailor merchant offerings to each consumer. Economies of scale become feasible in new markets when agents negotiate on special arbitration contracts. Dynamic business relationships will give rise to more competitively agile organizations. It is these new opportunities combined with substantial reduction in transaction costs that will revolutionize electronic commerce.
