Practical Reason in Historical and Systematic Perspective James Conant, Dawa Ometto, 2023-11-20 The idea that there is a distinctively practical use of reason and correspondingly a distinctively practical form of knowledge unites many otherwise diverse voices in the history of practical philosophy from Aristotle to Kant from Rousseau to Marx from Hegel to G. E. M. Anscombe and many others This volume gathers works by scholars who take inspiration from these and many other historical figures in order to deepen our systematic understanding of questions raised by their work that still are or ought to be at the center of contemporary philosophical debate the form and nature of practical reasoning agential self-consciousness or practical knowledge how knowledge of the good relates to our motivational capacity and the shape of philosophical thinking about sound forms of living together Accordingly the volume is divided into three parts action theory meta ethics and political philosophy This fusion of perspectives delivers novel possibilities not only for answering the systematic questions outlined above but also for understanding both what unifies and distinguishes those historical voices that have sought to articulate the concept of practical reason This fascinating volume brings out the richness and profundity of an oft neglected approach to understanding human agency one that foregrounds action as itself an exercise of reason Essays on ethics mind action and political philosophy explore the history substance and implications of this idea cutting across while also revealing the unity underlying various parts of philosophy that are typically treated separately Eric Marcus Auburn University

Constructing Practical Reasons Andreas Müller, 2020 Our actions are informed by the consideration of reasons reasons which constructivism suggests are not simply discovered but made by us This book examines this view elaborating its basic idea into a fully fledged account of practical reasons making its theoretical commitments explicit and defending it against well known objections

When Minds Converse Philip Pettit, 2025-02-11 When Minds Converse argues that we do not speak because our human minds are special our minds are special because we can speak It maintains that six capacities characteristic of our species emerge as social skills in conversing with one another and that we internalize those skills in mentally communing with ourselves in thought Philip Pettit defends a society first view of the human mind and more broadly the human soul gesturing at how this philosophical anthropology can support universal ideals of equality respect and freedom Three of the abilities the book targets involve informational processing Our capacity to update our beliefs and other attitudes intentionally seeking out the judgments that we ought to make and the attitudes we ought to hold Our capacity to rely on intentional reasoning looking for the grounds on which to support judgments and looking at what our judgments in turn support And our ability to direct perception intentionally as we recruit it to the service of those capacities and learn to distinguish between appearance and reality The other three capacities addressed have a relational character Our ability to establish and uphold standards and values for one another and for ourselves making tacit commitments to live by them Our ability to ascribe and assume accountability holding one another and ourselves responsible to those norms and values And our ability to assume the status of persons embracing the implications of those commitments in the persona we hold out to others and indeed to ourselves Pettit offers an empirically informed but philosophical defence of his view In an extended thought experiment a conceptual genealogy he explores the likely unplanned effects that the first appearance of language would have on the minds of humanoid creatures otherwise like us The argument is that they would evolve a range of conversive practices and that the skills elicited by those practices are good models of the capacities targeted here The genealogy does not try to explain how those practices and skills evolved among our forebears but relying on the lessons of the thought experiment seeks to shed light on their nature and role in our social and mental life Cognitive Carpentry John L. Pollock,1995 A sequel to the author's How to Build a Person this work builds upon that theoretical groundwork for the implementation of rationality through artificial intelligence It argues that progress in AI has stalled because of its creators reliance upon unformulated intuitions about rationality Instead the author bases the OSCAR architecture upon an explicit philosophical theory of rationality encompassing principles of practical cognition epistemic cognition and defeasible reasoning One of the results is the first automated defeasible reasoner capable of reasoning in a rich logical environment Evidence and Agency Berislav Marusic,2015-10-01 Evidence and Agency is concerned with the question of how as agents we should take evidence into account when thinking about our future actions Suppose you are promising or resolving to do something that you have evidence is difficult for you to do For example suppose you are promising to be faithful for the rest of your life or you are resolving to quit smoking Should you believe that you will follow through or should you believe that there is a good chance that you won't If you believe the former you seem to be irrational since you believe against the evidence Yet if you believe the latter you seem to be insincere since you can't sincerely say that you will follow through Hence it seems your promise or resolution must be improper Nonetheless we make such promises and resolutions all the time Indeed as the examples illustrate such promises and resolutions are very important to us The challenge is to explain this apparent inconsistency in our practice of promising and resolving To meet this challenge Berislav Marusic considers a number of possible responses including an appeal to trying an appeal to non cognitivism about practical reason an appeal to practical knowledge and an appeal to evidential constraints on practical reasoning He rejects all these and defends a solution inspired by the Kantian tradition and by Sartre in particular as agents we have a distinct view of what we will do If something is up to us we can decide what to do rather than predict what we will do But the reasons in light of which a decision is rational are not the same as the reasons in light of which a prediction is rational That is why provided it is important to us to do something we can rationally believe that we will do it even if our belief goes against the evidence Contemporary Epistemology Ernest Sosa,Jeremy Fantl,Matthew McGrath,2019-03-12 A rigorous authoritative new anthology which brings together some of the most significant contemporary scholarship on the theory of knowledge Carefully calibrated and judiciously curated this strong and contemporary new anthology builds upon Epistemology An Anthology Second Edition Wiley Blackwell 2008 by drawing a concise and well balanced selection of higher level readings from a large diverse and evolving body of research Includes 17 readings that represent a broad and vital part of contemporary epistemology including articles by female philosophers and emerging thought leaders Organized into seven thoughtful and distinct sections including virtue epistemology practical reasons for belief and epistemic dysfunctions among others Designed to sit alongside the highly successful anthology of canonical essays Epistemology An Anthology Second Edition Wiley Blackwell 2008 Edited by a distinguished editorial team including Ernie Sosa one of the most influential active epistemologists Highlights cutting edge methodologies and contemporary topics for advanced students instructors and researchers

Handbook of Semantic Web Technologies John Domingue, Dieter Fensel, James A. Hendler, 2011-06-19 After years of mostly theoretical research Semantic Web Technologies are now reaching out into application areas like bioinformatics eCommerce eGovernment or Social Webs Applications like genomic ontologies semantic web services automated catalogue alignment ontology matching or blogs and social networks are constantly increasing often driven or at least backed up by companies like Google Amazon YouTube Facebook LinkedIn and others The need to leverage the potential of combining information in a meaningful way in order to be able to benefit from the Web will create further demand for and interest in Semantic Web research This movement based on the growing maturity of related research results necessitates a reliable reference source from which beginners to the field can draw a first basic knowledge of the main underlying technologies as well as state of the art application areas This handbook put together by three leading authorities in the field and supported by an advisory board of highly reputed researchers fulfils exactly this need It is the first dedicated reference work in this field collecting contributions about both the technical foundations of the Semantic Web as well as their main usage in other scientific fields like life sciences engineering business or education

The Politics of Practical Reason Mark Ryan, 2011-06-09 Ought we conceive of theological ethics as an activity that draws from a community's vision of human goodness and that has implications for the kind of person each of us is to be Or can students of the discipline map the ethical implications of what Christians confess about God themselves and the world while remaining indifferent to these claims. Habituated by modern moral theories such as consequentialism and deontology Mark Ryan argues we too often assume that Christian ethics makes no claim on the character of its students and teachers. It is rather like yet another department store within the shopping mall of ideas and ideologies to which advanced education provides access. By arguing that theological ethics is an activity by nature political the author endeavors to show us that to do Christian ethics is to be habituated into ways of talking and seeing that put us on a path toward the good. The author thus affirms the claim that theological ethics is a life changing practice. But why is it so? This book endeavors to display a philosophical basis for this claim by articulating the political character of practical reason. Through rigorous conversation with G. E. M. Anscombe, Charles Taylor, Stanley Hauerwas, Alasdair MacIntyre, and Jeffrey Stout, Ryan provides an account of practical reasoning that enables us to rightly conceive theological ethics as a discipline that ought to change our lives.

Political Discourse Analysis Isabela Fairclough, Norman Fairclough, 2013-06-17 In this accessible new textbook Isabela and Norman Fairclough present their innovative approach to analysing political discourse. Political Discourse Analysis integrates analysis of arguments into critical discourse analysis and political discourse analysis. The book is grounded in a view of politics in which deliberation, decision, and action are crucial concepts. Politics is about arriving cooperatively at decisions about what to do in the context of disagreement, conflict of interests, and values, power inequalities, uncertainty, and risk. The first half of the book introduces the authors' new approach to the analysis and evaluation of practical arguments, while the second half explores how it can be applied by looking at examples such as government reports, parliamentary debates, political speeches, and online discussion forums on political issues. Through the analysis of current events, including a particular focus on the economic crisis and political responses to it, the authors provide a systematic and rigorous analytical framework that can be adopted and used for students' own research. This exciting new text, co-written by bestselling author Norman Fairclough, is essential reading for researchers, upper undergraduate and postgraduate students of discourse analysis within English language, linguistics, communication studies, politics, and other social sciences.

Assessing Competence in Professional Performance across Disciplines and Professions Paul F. Wimmers, Marcia Mentkowski, 2016-04-19 This book examines the challenges of cross professional comparisons and proposes new forms of performance assessment to be used in professions education. It addresses how complex issues are learned and assessed across and within different disciplines and professions in order to move the process of performance assessment for learning to the next level. In order to be better equipped to cope with increasing complexity, change, and diversity in professional education and performance assessment, administrators and educators will engage in crucial systems thinking. The main question discussed by the book is how the required competence in the performance of students can be assessed during their professional education at both undergraduate and graduate levels. To answer this question, the book identifies unresolved issues and clarifies conceptual elements for performance assessment It reviews the development of constructs that cross disciplines and professions such as critical thinking clinical reasoning and problem solving It discusses what it means to instruct and assess students within their own domain of study and across various roles in multiple contexts but also what it means to instruct and assess students across domains of study in order to judge integration and transfer of learning outcomes Finally the book examines what it takes for administrators and educators to develop competence in assessment such as reliably judging student work in relation to criteria from multiple sources the co editors of this volume Marcia Mentkowski and Paul F Wimmers are associated with two institutions whose characters are so intimately associated with the insight that assessment must be integrated with curriculum and instructional program if it is to become a powerful influence on the educational process Lee Shulman Stanford University
